PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S neighbors at Hyde Park called at midnight after the election to congratulate him. He talked to them on the porch of the house where he was born; Roosevelts have lived and voted for more than 100 years.

WITH HIM STOOD his wife and his mother. The latter, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, 82 years old, said to a friend while the crowd was cheering, "Franklin has always been a good boy. I have always thought well of him."

Election day news indicates that many other Americans think well of him. To carry 46 out of 48 states, and get the biggest vote ever cast for anybody in a free election since the world began, is an achievement. This writer expected a landslide for the president and had written three weeks ago to a friend in the White House that the president would carry every state west of the Hudson river and a majority of the states east of the Hudson. He did not quite expect as many as 46 of the 48 states.

A RESPECTABLE inhabitant of Massachusetts, calling on President Coolidge said: "Mr. President, I ought to tell you that I did not vote for you." The president replied, with his best New England accent: "Well, some did." President Roosevelt could borrow that.

WALL STREET stopped shivering Wednesday and dried its eyes to take note of the fact that stocks were going up gaily, all except the "utilities," which means somebody is afraid that someone is going to do something to the light and power companies. It was a regular old-fashioned boom, stocks going up one to six points.

When the trading stopped and brokers homeward wended their weary way, at three p.m., "metals," "industrials," "commercial" and other stocks were selling for a couple of thousand million dollars more than they were worth at ten o'clock the same morning. But don't gamble;—things can go the other way.

ACCORDING to Science Service, if whisky is subjected for seven hours to "intense sound vibrations" which means "a loud noise," the seven noisy hours will age the whisky as much as "four years in the wood."

Think what noise can do to the delicate nervous system of the human being if in 7 hours it can add four years to the age of raw whisky.

Mussolini's order forbidding automobile drivers to blow their horns in Rome, "Use your eyes and your intelligence instead of your horns," should be copied widely.

IT IS GOOD NEWS, for those that like genuine Americans that Senator Borah of Idaho, is re-elected. Senator Borah is 71 years old, but that doesn't prevent his being seventy-one times as young and energetic and 71 times as good an American as some others.

BUDDY ROGERS BEST MAN MANY TIMES

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Charles (Buddy) Rogers, never a bridegroom, has been best man more times than he can remember.

Back in Hollywood today after a week's visit in Olathe, Kas., his home town, he said he acted as best man for at least 18 weddings.

"Dad is known as the 'marrying judge of Kansas,'" the actor laughed. "And it seemed to me that half the people around Olathe waited until I got there to get married. I lost count after the 18th wedding."

His father is Judge H. H. Rogers.

'CHIC' SALE, NOTED COMEDIAN, DIES

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Charles "Chic" Sale, 51, noted comedian and author, died today of lobar pneumonia.

Death occurred at 12:50 p.m. Pacific standard time. Sale's family was at his bedside. The actor had been under an oxygen tent since last Monday.

The crisis in his illness was reached last night, following which Sale lost strength rapidly.

Priest Terms His National Union 'Thoroughly Discredited'

BELIEVES NRA AND AAA TO BE REVIVED BY PRESIDENT

Prophesies That People Of Nation Will Back Roosevelt

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin announced tonight that his National Union for Social Justice, which he said was "thoroughly discredited" as the result of Tuesday's national election, will cease to be active and that he was "hereby withdrawing from all radio activity in the best interests of all the people."

His National Union, he said in a farewell broadcast, "is not dead; it merely sleeps. It will live as long as truth lives, because the sixteen principles of the union are immortal."

Recounting his views of the presidential election, the Royal Oak (Mich.) priest announced the union will adopt a "policy of silence" toward the New Deal administration."

His withdrawal from the radio field is a fulfillment of a promise made at the Cleveland convention of the National Union last summer when, after the union endorsed the Union party presidential candidacy of William Lemke, the priest said he would abandon the air if Lemke failed to poll nine million votes.

LOUISIANA LIFE TERMER CAUGHT

Capture Of J. Pleasant Harris, Fugitive, in Cincinnati, Announced

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—State police today announced the capture of J. Pleasant Harris, convicted murderer, in Cincinnati, O., as a fugitive from the Louisiana penitentiary.

Harris was convicted of murdering Katherine Wilson, a young woman companion, in New Orleans in 1923. The Wilson woman was shot to death on Tulane avenue a stone's throw from police headquarters.

A search extending over a period of years followed and he was finally caught in Montreal, Canada, and brought back.

Harris was convicted and sentenced to hang February 24, 1928, but the late Huey P. Long commuted his sentence to life imprisonment while governor December 8, 1928. He was sent to the penitentiary December 19, 1928.

The late Governor O. K. Allen released him from the state penal farm at Angola on furlough October 31, 1935, and additional furloughs issued from the executive office permitted him to remain free.

When the last furlough expired last August 6, Governor Richard W. Leche did not renew it, and when Harris did not return to the penitentiary, he was listed as a fugitive.

His reported capture followed the spreading of a nation-wide peace officer net for him by the state police and the penitentiary.

CLARKSDALE NAMED BY METHODISTS

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, presided over two sessions of the Methodist conference here today, delivered the charge to the class received into full connection and met his cabinet this afternoon, giving courteous consideration to every individual and item before him.

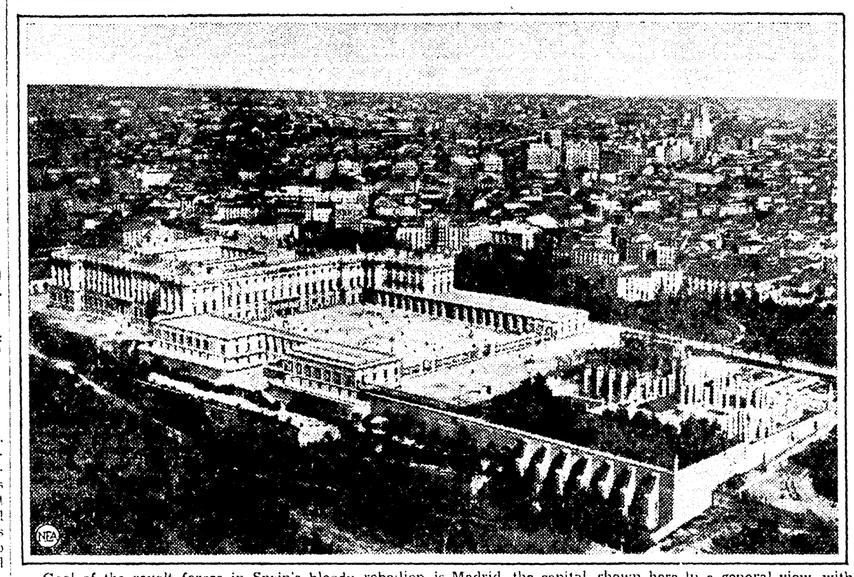

The following young ministers were admitted into the conference, Grover Robert Meaders, George Dupree York, Basil Ellis Moore.

Received into full connection and advanced to class of the next year respectively were the following: W. S. McAlily, H. C. Lewis, M. H. Twitchell, H. J. N. Henson, Walter Dickens Smith, Kenneth I. Tucker, M. E. Armstrong, George W. Curtis, J. W. Holiday, T. G. Lowrey.

Added to the superannuate list today were the following: J. H. Felts, J. T. Lockhart, J. J. Garner, W. C. Galceran, Sr.

Clarksdale, upon invitation of the pastor Dr. J. E. Stephens, was chosen as the city for the 1937 session of the conference.

REBEL FORCES CENTER THREAT ON OLD MADRID

Goal of the revolt forces in Spain's bloody rebellion is Madrid, the capital, shown here in a general view, with the old royal palace in the foreground. Marching over mountain ranges, traversing roads resembling quagmires, the northern rebel army, headed by General Francisco Mola, was slowly advancing on the city, without waiting for assistance from the south.

ROOMS FOR STATE TEACHERS NEEDED

Accommodations In Private Homes Necessary During Convention Here.

An appeal for rooms in private homes to accommodate delegates to the Louisiana teachers' convention the end of next week was made Saturday by Jack Boyer, chairman of special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, named for the purpose of working out plans to care for the 4,000 teachers who are expected to gather here for the three-day meeting.

A check-up made by officials of the Chamber of Commerce revealed that virtually all the rooms at the principal hotels will be filled by other guests at the time of the teachers' convention, and in order to meet the situation, accommodations would have to be found in private homes for the greatest proportion of the delegates.

Householders throughout the city who have rooms available are asked by the committee to register them at the Chamber of Commerce immediately, indicating how many teachers they are in a position to accommodate. The information can be given over telephones 315 and 1430.

"Without doubt this will be the largest convention ever held in Monroe," Mr. Boyer said, "and if we are to properly take care of the delegates who will be here for the three days it will be necessary to throw open a great many private homes for their accommodation."

Mr. Boyer announced that the committee chosen to work with him on the project will be the following: J. S. Cage, Jaul J. Newman, A. V. Miller, R. S. Stokes, Jack Masur, Walter Rohr, A. B. Clarkson, Willis Anders.

This committee will arrange for transportation to and from the convention headquarters at the Virginia

100 AMERICANS IN BESIEGED MADRID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The state department said today its latest advices indicated approximately 100 American citizens, including Filipinos and Puerto Ricans, were still in beleaguered Madrid.

They remained in the Spanish capital on their own responsibility, chiefly for business or family reasons, in spite of repeated urgent warnings by American diplomatic and consular representatives that they leave the city while there still were facilities for their evacuation.

It was estimated that almost 1,500 American citizens were taken out of the country to safety during the weeks succeeding the outbreak of the revolution in July.

BODY TAKEN FROM MISSISSIPPI RIVER

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified man about 30 years of age was found in the Mississippi river at Stacks island near here.

The coroner said the man had been dead several days.

Officers said they believed the body was that of a Mr. Barney, fireman on the steamer Mississippi, who fell from the boat October 28 at a point between Duncanville and Greenville, Miss.

Lemke 655,312.

Until the official canvas in made in all states the complete vote will not be available.

WARNING AGAINST FIREARMS ISSUED

Police To Seize Children's Weapons Used In Destroying Property

A stern campaign against the use of firearms by children within the city limits was inaugurated Saturday in an announcement by Superintendent of Police C. R. Tidwell that unless the practice is stopped the firearms will be confiscated by the police department.

A few weeks ago an appeal was made by the city electric light department asking parents to caution their children against using air rifles, .BB rifles and other toy weapons, which were blamed for the destruction of street lamps and other city property.

The request of the department has had little effect Superintendent Tidwell, said. Instead, numbers of complaints have been received by the police department from both the north and south sides of the city regarding the practice of shooting at street lamps, glass insulators, and at migratory birds. The head of the police department placed the responsibility on the shoulders of the parents.

In his statement, Superintendent Tidwell said:

"This department is in constant receipt of complains from residents on both the north and south sides of Monroe regarding the practice of children using air rifles, .BB rifles and other firearms, usually classed as toys. It is clearly against the city ordinances for the shooting of any firearms within the city limits, whether for mere pastime, killing birds or committing other destructive acts.

"The police department has been extremely lenient in treating this practice, believing that a warning to parents would be sufficient. That,

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO START

Campaign Will Be Initiated Here Wednesday, Armistice Day

The 1936 Red Cross roll call will be initiated in Monroe and West Monroe on Armistice day. E. C. Gibson has been named general roll call chairman; C. E. Faulk, chairman for the big gifts campaign; Mrs. James A. Noe, chairman of the house-to-house solicitation, and H. A. McDonald, chairman in West Monroe.

Sub-chairman for the north side are Mrs. Wharton Brown and Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, while sub-chairman for the south side are Mrs. Marion Underwood and Mrs. Clifford Johnson.

Mrs. Noe has called a meeting at roll call headquarters, in the former store of the A. and P. on Catalpa street, Wednesday at 3 p.m. All who are to serve with Mrs. Noe's subchairmen are urged to attend this meeting, when final instructions will be given. Supplies will be handed out. Light refreshments will also be served.

The work of the Red Cross is well known and does not require emphasis. Twice in the past ten years, the Red Cross has rendered Ouachita parish aid in time of trouble. The more notable case was that in connection with the flood of 1927. Aid also is rendered at all times in many ways by the Red Cross and this parish has received far more financially than it has donated to aid the organization.

In the last year, fully half a million people have received aid in 105 disasters in 39 states. Cases of disastrous tornadoes in Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Mississippi rendered 6,000 families homeless. The two major disasters were those of Gainesville and Tupelo, in Georgia and Mississippi respectively. In these and all other big disasters, the Red Cross was quickly on the scene to lend aid.

During 55 years the Red Cross has expended for disaster relief more than $110,000,000. Home service aid for ex-service men to the number of $256,988 has the past year been given. The past year 167 cases have received aid in Ouachita parish by the Red Cross. There is a civilian home service. Food, medicine, fuel and hospitalization have been provided in the parish in many cases.

First aid, life saving and the Junior Red Cross play an important role. Highway first aid is another objec-

Associated Press Reporter Scores Big Scoop At Madrid

(By Associated Press)

A gay-eyed young man in his mid-twenties sent out Saturday the camouflaged "flash" that told the world Madrid was falling and that Premier Francisco Caballero's Socialist government had resolved to abandon the capital.

He is James C. Oldfield, staff correspondent of the Associated Press foreign service, attached to the London bureau but sent to bolster the Madrid staff shortly after the outbreak of hostilities.

Under the cold scrutiny of a revolver-armed Madrid government censor, standing at his elbow, Oldfield picked up the long-distance telephone and called London.

He had his dispatch all written—passed by the censor after scores of words had been obliterated in accordance with the stifling censorship rules of the Socialist government.

No word, he had been strictly warned, must go over the wire to London, for cabled transmission to the United States, beyond what was written in the approved dispatch.

But at the back of his head, Oldfield carried secret code instructions—imparted to him before he left London, many weeks ago, by Frank H. King, chief of the London Associated Press bureau.

A simple phrase—a homely conversation interjecture which the censor likely would not suspect—and in a matter of seconds the cable wires from London to New York crackled with

ROOSEVELT BUSY WITH PLANS TO BALANCE BUDGET

Confers With Acting Director On Problem Of Federal Finances

MORE DEMANDS LIKELY TO BE MADE ON FUNDS

Some Departments Known To Have Expanded Activities In Mind

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget, put their heads together today over the intricate problem of federal finances, as the chief executive began framing his budget recommendations to congress.

Next year's budget—and the knotty question of whether it will be balanced—will claim Mr. Roosevelt's attention through most of next week in a series of conferences with government fiscal experts and department heads.

The president's recent statement that he would "try to balance the budget" sharpened interest in his fiscal conferences and centered attention on the divergent influences which may be brought to bear on federal spending policies in the next congress.

There was widespread conjecture over whether liberals might push for a broadened—and more costly—New Deal program, while conservatives countered with a demand for substantial scaling down of present expenditures.

Well-informed treasury sources indicated there may be increases in budget estimates for regular departments,

TWO MORE KILBY CONVICTS CAUGHT

Only Three Fugitives Remain At Large Of 10 Who Escaped

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Capture of two more of the ten long-term convicts who broke from Kilby prison Thursday night by overpowering a guard and throwing the prison into darkness, was reported today by Hamp Draper, chief of the state convict department.

Only three fugitives remained at large, he said.

Dismissal of the guard who was overpowered and of another stationed at the prison wall at the time of the break, was announced by Draper.

Frank Carter, whom Draper described as one of the ringleaders in the break, and Lum Hale, serving a life term for murder in Escambia county, were apprehended in Lower Montgomery county today by Deputy Sheriffs Hayden Sellers and Ray Guice, Draper said.

The deputies reported they were close on the trail of another fugitive. One of the ten escapes was captured Thursday night a few hours after the break, and four others were run down Friday.

Draper named the convicts still at large as F. E. Schooley, of Jefferson county; T. A. Hamrick, Jefferson; and Olin Raburn, Mobile.

Installation of emergency power switches outside the prison walls will make impossible a repetition of Thursday's break, Draper said today.

LITIGATION BLAME IN DOUBLE DEATH

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Detective Herbert Akers said today he was convinced that litigation in Florida caused the fatal shooting of a millionaire sportsman and a former business associate in a fashionable hotel which he and Coroner J. P. Randolph described as murder and suicide.

The officers said Robert Alexander, 65, of Detroit, Mich., shot Ed Ballard, 63, of French Lick, Ind., once interested in the ownership of a number of American circuses, and then ended his own life with the same weapon last night.

The shooting occurred in Alexander's apartment in the hotel. Hundreds of delegates were attending the annual convention of the Arkansas Education association in the hotel at the time.

"Friends of the two told me that they were former business partners, but had quarreled recently," Chief Akers said. "They advised me that Alexander sued Ballard for $250,000 in Miami, Fla., alleging breach of contract, but that the suit was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction."

AVIATOR KILLED IN AUTO-TRUCK CRASH

CROWLEY, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Roger Wendell Christie, 23, of Hollis, Long Island, N. Y., was instantly killed and his companion, Charles Daniel, of the same address, was lacerated and bruised in an automobile accident a mile north of Crowley last night.

Their automobile crashed with a Shreveport truck officers said was driven by James Sykes of Shreveport. Sykes was uninjured and no action was taken against him.

The coroner's jury held an inquest at midnight and reported that Christie died "in a car-truck" accident. The verdict did not attempt to fix the blame.

Christie's body was badly mangled. It was sent to New York today. Christie was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wendell Christie. He was a licensed airplane pilot. Daniels is an airplane mechanic.

Daniels said they were in search of employment.

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS COMPLETE

All Of Vets' Groups And Auxiliaries To Take Part In Ceremonies

All of the war veterans organizations and women's auxiliaries of Ouachita parish will participate in the annual Armistice day ceremonies to be held in the Paramount theater Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Although a general holiday will not be observed in the business district for the entire day, all business houses are expected to be closed from 10 o'clock until noon, to permit employes to attend the ceremonies. All public offices will be closed for the day.

Prior to the exercises in the Paramount theater the drum corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will parade in the downtown district and will occupy a place on the theater stage during the ceremonies.

Rev. Ernest Holloway, past department chaplain of the American Legion, will deliver the memorial address and Colonel Leonard J. Daniels will give the Armistice day address.

The services will open with appropriate organ music by Leon Hammonds, followed by the invocation by Rev. S. S. Holladay, department chaplain of the V. F. W. Rabbi F. K. Hirsch will give a five-minute talk on the purpose of the Red Cross roll call campaign, which begins Armistice day.

The musical program will include a solo, "In Flanders Fields," by Mrs. S. A. Trousdale, Jr., and a solo by Mrs. Kate Smith Allison. The memorial service will include a moment of

WOMEN'S CLUBS IN ANNUAL MEET

Organization Refuses To Recommend Leche As Hospital Name

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Following their policy of maintaining a non-partisan and non-political organization, the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, in annual convention here today, refused to act on a resolution providing for naming the new charity hospital at New Orleans the "Richard W. Leche hospital" after the governor and omitting the word "charity" from the name.

Club members were engaging in a debate over the resolution when Mrs. Joseph E. Friend, of New Orleans, offered a motion that the resolution be tabled and the motion was adopted.

The motion carried by a large majority. It was offered immediately after Mrs. Samuel Levy of Natchitoches told the convention that the consutution and by-laws of the federation held the organization to be non-political and non-partisan.

The convention passed a number of other resolutions, among which were resolutions endorsing the Louisiana

JAP CHAMP'S BEARD OVER 5 FEET LONG

TOKYO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Maojiro Kato's beard, so long he has to be careful not to trip over it, won the national championship today as the longest in Japan.

Kato, a 72-year-old Patriarchal hardware dealer, is only five feet, one inch tall. His beard is five feet, six inches long. And it causes him plenty of bother.

When Kato goes walking he stuffs the ends of his flowing white whiskers in a specially made handbag to keep them from dragging on the ground.

Terrified Residents Wonder If Insurgents Will Kill Them All

(By Associated Press)

The fall of Madrid, capital of the Spanish Socialist government which fled to leave a military committee in command, appeared near today (Sunday).

Spanish Fascists smashing toward the seat of government to set up their own military dictatorship commanded approaches to four key bridges leading into the city.

Just across the Manzanares river were the capital's city limits.

Insurgents planned to drive across the Princesa, Toledo, Segovia and Vallescas bridges and into the city of Dawn—if the Socialist defenders did not dynamite the structures to delay the advance.

The latest dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent with the Fascist army related the approach to the bridges. It was filed at 1 p.m., eastern standard time Saturday.

The latest dispatch from Madrid, filed at 12:55 p.m., Saturday, made no reference to Fascist troops within the city but said the military defense

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE AILING

Justice Stone's Illness May Have Effect Upon Decisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—With important New Deal cases scheduled for argument before the supreme court in the next fortnight, it developed today that a protracted illness was keeping Associate Justice Harlan Stone off the bench with a possible effect upon the outcome of the cases in question.

Court attaches said that unless his illness was unexpectedly prolonged, he would participate in the decisions. With the court closely divided on apparently fundamental issues affecting New Deal legislation his absence might be decisive.

For him to participate in the ensuing decisions would require the consent of counsel for both sides. This consent, it was said, however, is generally given as a matter of course.

In several previous split-court decisions on New Deal laws, Stone has lined up with the liberal element of the court—Associate Justices Brandeis and Cardozo, and occasionally Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Roberts—in support of the constitutionality of the statutes under attack.

No intimation was given as to the probable duration of the illness. It was said that was impossible to tell now.

The New Deal cases about to be argued involve:

The government's effort to postpone action by lower courts on cases challenging the consutitutionality of the public utility holding company act; the validity of PWA loans for publicly owned hydro-electric plants; a 50 per cent tax on silver speculation profits made before the silver purchase act became effective; the embargo on arms shipments to Bolivia and Paraguay for the Chaco war; and the Ashurst-Summers measure to require labelling of prison-made goods.

GIRL FINDS MOTHER LONG THOUGHT DEAD

ROME, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A pretty 18-year-old girl and the mother she grew up believing dead today were "both so happy we don't know what to do" after reuniting at the home of the girl's grandparents near here.

Brown-eyed Virginia Park, in the midst of numerous relatives she never had seen before, was a bit bewildered by the events of the past few days, but she made friends with a newly found cousin while getting ready to meet more of her kin tomorrow at a family re-union.

The meeting of Virginia and her mother, Mrs. Eva Knight, came yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hogan at Kingston, 12 miles north of here.

"We grabbed each other and hugged and kissed," the girl said. "I don't know what she said. It all happened so quickly."

Capture Of J. Pleasant Harris, Fugitive, In Cincinnati, Announced

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—State police today announced the capture of J. Pleasant Harris, convicted murderer, in Cincinnati, O., as a fugitive from the Louisiana penitentiary.

Harris was convicted of murdering Katherine Wilson, a young woman companion, in New Orleans in 1923. The Wilson woman was shot to death on Tulane avenue a stone's throw from police headquarters.

A search extending over a period of years followed and he was finally caught in Montreal, Canada, and brought back.

Harris was convicted and sentenced to hang February 24, 1928, but the late Huey P. Long commuted his sentence to life imprisonment while governor December 8, 1928. He was sent to the penitentiary December 19, 1928.

The late Governor O. K. Allen released him from the state penal farm at Angola on furlough October 31, 1935, and additional furloughs issued from the executive office permitted him to remain free.

When the last furlough expired last August 6, Governor Richard W. Leche did not renew it, and when Harris did not return to the penitentiary, he was listed as a fugitive.

His reported capture followed the spreading of a nation-wide peace officer net for him by the state police and the penitentiary.

REBEL FORCES CENTER THREAT ON OLD MADRID

Goal of the revolt forces in Spain's bloody rebellion is Madrid, the capital, shown here in a general view, with the old royal palace in the foreground. Marching over mountain ranges, traversing roads resembling quagmires, the northern rebel army, headed by General Francisco Mola, was slowly advancing on the city, without waiting for assistance from the south.

Accommodations In Private Homes Necessary During Convention Here

An appeal for rooms in private homes to accommodate delegates to the Louisiana teachers' convention the end of next week was made Saturday by Jack Boyer, chairman of special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, named for the purpose of working out plans to care for the 4,000 teachers who are expected to gather here for the three-day meeting.

A check-up made by officials of the Chamber of Commerce revealed that virtually all the rooms at the principal hotels will be filled by other guests at the time of the teachers' convention, and in order to meet the situation, accommodations would have to be found in private homes for the greatest proportion of the delegates.

Householders throughout the city who have rooms available are asked by the committee to register them at the Chamber of Commerce immediately, indicating how many teachers they are in a position to accommodate. The information can be given over telephones 315 and 1430.

"Without doubt this will be the largest convention ever held in Monroe," Mr. Boyer said, "and if we are to properly take care of the delegates who will be here for the three days it will be necessary to throw open a great many private homes for their accommodation."

Mr. Boyer announced that the committee chosen to work with him on the project will be the following: J. S. Cage, Jaul J. Newman, A. V. Miller, R. S. Stokes, Jack Masur, Walter Rohr, A. B. Clarkson, Willis Anders.

100 AMERICANS IN BESIEGED MADRID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The state department said today its latest advices indicated approximately 100 American citizens, including Filipinos and Puerto Ricans, were still in beleaguered Madrid.

They remained in the Spanish capital on their own responsibility, chiefly for business or family reasons, in spite of repeated urgent warnings by American diplomatic and consular representatives that they leave the city while there still were facilities for their evacuation.

It was estimated that almost 1,500 American citizens were taken out of the country to safety during the weeks succeeding the outbreak of the revolution in July.

BODY TAKEN FROM MISSISSIPPI RIVER

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified man about 30 years of age was found in the Mississippi river at Stacks island near here.

The coroner said the man had been dead several days.

Officers said they believed the body was that of a Mr. Barney, fireman on the steamer Mississippi, who fell from the boat October 28 at a point between Duncanville and Greenville, Miss.

WARNING AGAINST FIREARMS ISSUED

Police To Seize Children's Weapons Used In Destroying Property

A stern campaign against the use of firearms by children within the city limits was inaugurated Saturday in an announcement by Superintendent of Police C. R. Tidwell that unless the practice is stopped the firearms will be confiscated by the police department.

A few weeks ago an appeal was made by the city electric light department asking parents to caution their children against using air rifles, .BB rifles and other toy weapons, which were blamed for the destruction of street lamps and other city property.

The request of the department has had little effect Superintendent Tidwell, said. Instead, numbers of complaints have been received by the police department from both the north and south sides of the city regarding the practice of shooting at street lamps, glass insulators, and at migratory birds. The head of the police department placed the responsibility on the shoulders of the parents.

In his statement, Superintendent Tidwell said:

"This department is in constant receipt of complains from residents on both the north and south sides of Monroe regarding the practice of children using air rifles, .BB rifles and other firearms, usually classed as toys. It is clearly against the city ordinances for the shooting of any firearms within the city limits, whether for mere pastime, killing birds or committing other destructive acts.

"The police department has been extremely lenient in treating this practice, believing that a warning to parents would be sufficient. That,

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO START

Campaign Will Be Initiated Here Wednesday, Armistice Day

The 1936 Red Cross roll call will be initiated in Monroe and West Monroe on Armistice day. E. C. Gibson has been named general roll call chairman; C. E. Faulk, chairman for the big gifts campaign; Mrs. James A. Noe, chairman of the house-to-house solicitation, and H. A. McDonald, chairman in West Monroe.

Sub-chairman for the north side are Mrs. Wharton Brown and Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, while sub-chairman for the south side are Mrs. Marion Underwood and Mrs. Clifford Johnson.

Mrs. Noe has called a meeting at roll call headquarters, in the former store of the A. and P. on Catalpa street, Wednesday at 3 p.m. All who are to serve with Mrs. Noe's subchairmen are urged to attend this meeting, when final instructions will be given. Supplies will be handed out. Light refreshments will also be served.

The work of the Red Cross is well known and does not require emphasis. Twice in the past ten years, the Red Cross has rendered Ouachita parish aid in time of trouble. The more notable case was that in connection with the flood of 1927. Aid also is rendered at all times in many ways by the Red Cross and this parish has received far more financially than it has donated to aid the organization.

In the last year, fully half a million people have received aid in 105 disasters in 39 states. Cases of disastrous tornadoes in Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Mississippi rendered 6,000 families homeless. The two major disasters were those of Gainesville and Tupelo, in Georgia and Mississippi respectively. In these and all other big disasters, the Red Cross was quickly on the scene to lend aid.

During 55 years, the Red Cross has expended for disaster relief more than $110,000,000. Home service aid for ex-service men to the number of $256,988 has the past year been given. The past year 167 cases have received aid in Ouachita parish by the Red Cross. There is a civilian home service. Food, medicine, fuel and hospitalization have been provided in the parish in many cases.

First aid, life saving and the Junior Red Cross play an important role. Highway first aid is another objec-

Associated Press Reporter Scores Big Scoop At Madrid

(By Associated Press)

A gay-eyed young man in his mid-twenties sent out Saturday the camouflaged "flash" that told the world Madrid was falling and that Premier Francisco Caballero's Socialist government had resolved to abandon the capital.

He is James C. Oldfield, staff correspondent of the Associated Press foreign service, attached to the London bureau but sent to bolster the Madrid staff shortly after the outbreak of hostilities.

Under the cold scrutiny of a revolver-armed Madrid government censor, standing at his elbow, Oldfield picked up the long-distance telephone and called London.

He had his dispatch all written—passed by the censor after scores of words had been obliterated in accordance with the stifling censorship rules of the Socialist government.

No word, he had been strictly warned, must go over the wire to London, for cabled transmission to the United States, beyond what was written in the approved dispatch.

But at the back of his head, Oldfield carried secret code instructions—imparted to him before he left London, many weeks ago, by Frank H. King, chief of the London Associated Press bureau.

A simple phrase—a homely conversation interjecture which the censor likely would not suspect—and in a matter of seconds the cable wires from London to New York crackled with

ROOSEVELT BUSY WITH PLANS TO BALANCE BUDGET

MORE DEMANDS LIKELY TO BE MADE ON FUNDS

Some Departments Known To Have Expanded Activities In Mind

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget, put their heads together today over the intricate problem of federal finances, as the chief executive began framing his budget recommendations to congress.

Next year's budget—and the knotty question of whether it will be balanced—will claim Mr. Roosevelt's attention through most of next week in a series of conferences with government fiscal experts and department heads.

The president's recent statement that he would "try to balance the budget" sharpened interest in his fiscal conferences and centered attention on the divergent influences which may be brought to bear on federal spending policies in the next congress.

There was widespread conjecture over whether liberals might push for a broadened—and more costly—New Deal program, while conservatives countered with a demand for substantial scaling down of present expenditures.

Well-informed treasury sources indicated there may be increases in budget estimates for regular departments.

Only Three Fugitives Remain At Large Of 10 Who Escaped

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Capture of two more of the ten long-term convicts who broke from Kilby prison Thursday night by overpowering a guard and throwing the prison into darkness, was reported today by Hamp Draper, chief of the state convict department.

Only three fugitives remained at large, he said.

Dismissal of the guard who was overpowered and of another stationed at the prison wall at the time of the break, was announced by Draper.

Frank Carter, whom Draper described as one of the ringleaders in the break, and Lum Hale, serving a life term for murder in Escambia county, were apprehended in lower Montgomery county today by Deputy Sheriffs Hayden Sellers and Ray Guice, Draper said.

The deputies reported they were close on the trail of another fugitive. One of the ten escapes was captured Thursday night a few hours after the break, and four others were run down Friday.

Draper named the convicts still at large as F. E. Schooley, of Jefferson county; T. A. Hamrick, Jefferson; and Olin Raburn, Mobile.

Installation of emergency power switches outside the prison walls will make impossible a repetition of Thursday's break, Draper said today.

LITIGATION BLAME IN DOUBLE DEATH

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Detective Herbert Akers said today he was convinced that litigation in Florida caused the fatal shooting of a millionaire sportsman and a former business associate in a fashionable hotel which he and Coroner J. P. Randolph described as murder and suicide.

The officers said Robert Alexander, 65, of Detroit, Mich., shot Ed Ballard, 63, of French Lick, Ind., once interested in the ownership of a number of American circuses, and then ended his own life with the same weapon last night.

The shooting occurred in Alexander's apartment in the hotel. Hundreds of delegates were attending the annual convention of the Arkansas Education association in the hotel at the time.

"Friends of the two told me that they were former business partners, but had quarreled recently," Chief Akers said. "They advised me that Alexander sued Ballard for $250,000 in Miami, Fla., alleging breach of contract, but that the suit was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction."

AVIATOR KILLED IN AUTO-TRUCK CRASH

CROWLEY, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Roger Wendell Christie, 23, of Hollis, Long Island, N. Y., was instantly killed and his companion, Charles Daniel, of the same address, was lacerated and bruised in an automobile accident a mile north of Crowley last night.

Their automobile crashed with a Shreveport truck officers said was driven by James Sykes of Shreveport. Sykes was uninjured and no action was taken against him.

The coroner's jury held an inquest at midnight and reported that Christie died "in a car-truck" accident. The verdict did not attempt to fix the blame.

Christie's body was badly mangled. It was sent to New York today. Christie was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wendell Christie. He was a licensed airplane pilot. Daniels is an airplane mechanic.

Daniels said they were in search of employment.

All Of Vets' Groups And Auxiliaries To Take Part In Ceremonies

All of the war veterans organizations and women's auxiliaries of Ouachita parish will participate in the annual Armistice day ceremonies to be held in the Paramount theater Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Although a general holiday will not be observed in the business district for the entire day, all business houses are expected to be closed from 10 o'clock until noon, to permit employes to attend the ceremonies. All public offices will be closed for the day.

Prior to the exercises in the Paramount theater the drum corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will parade in the downtown district and will occupy a place on the theater stage during the ceremonies.

Rev. Ernest Holloway, past department chaplain of the American Legion, will deliver the memorial address and Colonel Leonard J. Daniels will give the Armistice day address.

The services will open with appropriate organ music by Leon Hammonds, followed by the invocation by Rev. S. S. Holladay, department chaplain of the V. F. W. Rabbi F. K. Hirsch will give a five-minute talk on the purpose of the Red Cross roll call campaign, which begins Armistice day.

Organization Refuses To Recommend Leche As Hospital Name

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Following their policy of maintaining a non-partisan and non-political organization, the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs, in annual convention here today, refused to act on a resolution providing for naming the new charity hospital at New Orleans the "Richard W. Leche hospital" after the governor and omitting the word "charity" from the name.

Club members were engaging in a debate over the resolution when Mrs. Joseph E. Friend, of New Orleans, offered a motion that the resolution be tabled and the motion was adopted.

The motion carried by a large majority. It was offered immediately after Mrs. Samuel Levy of Natchitoches told the convention that the constitution and by-laws of the federation held the organization to be non-political and non-partisan.

The convention passed a number of other resolutions, among which were resolutions endorsing the Louisiana

JAP CHAMP'S BEARD OVER 5 FEET LONG

TOKYO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Maojiro Kato's beard, so long he has to be careful not to trip over it, won the national championship today as the longest in Japan.

Kato, a 72-year-old Patriarchal hardware dealer, is only five feet, one inch tall. His beard is five feet, six inches long. And it causes him plenty of bother.

Diplomatic Sources Express Hope Of Surrender Of Capital

Terrified Residents Wonder If Insurgents Will Kill Them All

(By Associated Press)

The fall of Madrid, capital of the Spanish Socialist government which fled to leave a military committee in command, appeared near today (Sunday).

Spanish Fascists smashing toward the seat of government to set up their own military dictatorship commanded approaches to four key bridges leading into the city.

Just across the Manzanares river were the capital's city limits.

Insurgents planned to drive across the Princesa, Toledo, Segovia and Vallescas bridges and into the city of Dawn—if the Socialist defenders did not dynamite the structures to delay the advance.

The latest dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent with the Fascist army related the approach to the bridges. It was filed at 1 p.m., eastern standard time Saturday.

The latest dispatch from Madrid, filed at 12:55 p.m., Saturday, made no reference to Fascist troops within the city but said the military defense

Justice Stone's Illness May Have Effect Upon Decisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—With important New Deal cases scheduled for argument before the supreme court in the next fortnight, it developed today that a protracted illness was keeping Associate Justice Harlan Stone off the bench with a possible effect upon the outcome of the cases in question.

Court attaches said that unless his illness was unexpectedly prolonged, he would participate in the decisions. With the court closely divided on apparently fundamental issues affecting New Deal legislation his absence might be decisive.

For him to participate in the ensuing decisions would require the consent of counsel for both sides. This consent, it was said, however, is generally given as a matter of course.

In several previous split-court decisions on New Deal laws, Stone has lined up with the liberal element of the court—Associate Justices Brandeis and Cardozo, and occasionally Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Roberts—in support of the constitutionality of the statutes under attack.

No intimation was given as to the probable duration of the illness. It was said that was impossible to tell now.

The New Deal cases about to be argued involve:

The government's effort to postpone action by lower courts on cases challenging the constitutionality of the public utility holding company act; the validity of PWA loans for publicly owned hydro-electric plants; a 50 per cent tax on silver speculation profits made before the silver purchase act became effective; the embargo on arms shipments to Bolivia and Paraguay for the Chaco war; and the Ashurst-Summers measure to require labelling of prison-made goods.

GIRL FINDS MOTHER LONG THOUGHT DEAD

ROME, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A pretty 18-year-old girl and the mother she grew up believing dead today were "both so happy we don't know what to do" after reuniting at the home of the girl's grandparents near here.

Brown-eyed Virginia Park, in the midst of numerous relatives she never had seen before, was a bit bewildered by the events of the past few days, but she made friends with a newly found cousin while getting ready to meet more of her kin tomorrow at a family re-union.

The meeting of Virginia and her mother, Mrs. Eva Knight, came yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hogan at Kingston, 13 miles north of here.

"We grabbed each other and hugged and kissed," the girl said. "I don't know what she said. It all happened so quickly."

The supreme chancellor has stated that he has a message for everyone who has been a member of the order and delinquent and suspended members are specially invited to attend.

Fred H. Jones of Los Angeles, Calif., supreme chancellor of the order, will deliver the principal address. He is making a tour of the outstanding lodges of the order and Monroe was chosen as one of the two places in the state where he will visit.

Besides the supreme chancellor, Grand Chancellor I. C. Underwood of Texas and Grand Chancellor Dr. A. A. Garrison of Louisiana, will be present as well as other high officials of the order from north Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

Grand Chancellor Underwood is from Marshall, Tex., and expects to bring a large delegation from his local lodge. Dr. Garrison will head a delegation from Shreveport, and another delegation is expected from El Dorado, Ark.

Officials of the Minden lodge announce that they expect to bring 50 Pythians and 40 are expected from Bastrop. Other lodges that will be represented are Homer, Rayville, Lake Providence, Waterproof, Alexandria and others. It is estimated that between 150 and 200 visitors will come to Monroe for the meeting.

An interesting feature of the meeting is that delinquent and suspended members are privileged to attend, as there will be no semi-annual password taken up. The supreme chancellor has stated that he has a message for everyone who has been a member of the order and delinquent and suspended members are specially invited to attend.

Huge Creature To Be Seen Here At Illinois Central Station

Conquered after one of the most thrilling battles in the history of whaling, the whale of San Clemente will arrive in Monroe on Monday and will be on exhibition on a specially built railroad car at the I. C. passenger station for three days.

The huge creature, of a species whose habits and origin are largely a closed book to scientists, was captured several months ago near San Clemente island, off the coast of Southern California. It is more than 55-feet in length and weighs more than 68 tons. When the heart was removed it was found to weight nearly 1286 pounds, while the tongue tipped the scales at 600 pounds.

The whale is of the finback variety and its huge carcass has been perfectly preserved by the embalming process. Incidentally, it required more than 3,000 gallons of embalming fluid to do the work.

When the gigantic creature was lifted from the sea at Long Beach after a battle of several hours with a whaling crew, it was found to be such a perfect type that plans were decided upon to take it on a transcontinental tour.

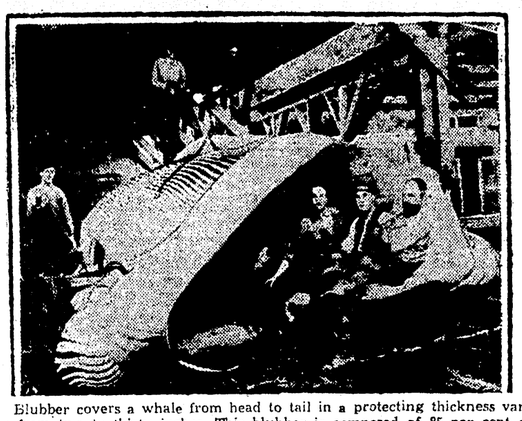

Details of the whale's capture indicate that he was not subdued until he had given his captors one of the hardest fights in their whaling careers. The first harpoon fired at the whale struck home and he would have died at once, but for the fact that the bomb attached to the missile failed to explode.

For several hours the whale plunged and ran, forcing the crew to maneuver their boat with the utmost skill in order not to break the rope attached to the harpoon buried in the whale's side. Eventually the whale was brought within range again. This time the bomb exploded and the whale's career was ended instantaneously.

Sharing interest with the whale on tour is Captain Mike Dolan, a picturesque sailor who divides his duties between chaperoning the big animal from town to town and telling spectators exciting tales from his own experiences as a whaler half a century ago.

In keeping with its policy of presenting educational features the whaling company has purchased Lone Star, the world's largest cow. It is alive, stands 6 feet 2 inches high at the shoulders and weighs over 3,100 pounds. This should be great news for all boys and girls that are members of 4-H clubs, or in fact, anybody interested in dairy or farm life. Just think of a cow nine feet high from the prong of her horns. It is really a living, breathing, walking mountain of beef. It will be seen only from now on with the Big Whale Marine Exhibit, as a special added feature. Professor W. E. Alexander's famous educated fleas are also shown with this same big Marine Exhibition. They and the largest cow in the world, were featured at the World's Fair during 1933-34.

J. Sarre, state director of the NYA.

The change was made incident to the appointment of DeWitt G. Robinson as district supervisor for the eighth and fourth districts under the NYA.

WALTER RASBURY BADLY INJURED

Salesman, However, Able To Be Removed To Home On Saturday

Walter T. Rasbury, salesman for the Monroe Wholesale Grocer company, who was badly injured in an automobile wreck near Baskin Wednesday, was sufficiently improved to permit his removal from Riverside sanitarium to his home on the Swartz road, Saturday afternoon. It will be some time, however, before he will be sufficiently recovered to permit his return to duties with his company.

The accident occurred when a car ahead of that driven by Mr. Rasbury was evidently about to pull out of his path when he mistook the signal given and when the car ahead came to a dead stop, the Rasbury car plunged into a ditch where it overturned.

Mr. Rasbury sustained the fracture of the right cheek bone, injury to both the right and left shoulders, his right eye and nose were injured, and all of his front teeth were loosened. The Rasbury automobile was a complete wreck.

An ambulance was summoned and the injured man conveyed to Riverside sanitarium. Physicians stated that it was almost miraculous that Mr. Rasbury escaped much more serious injuries owing to the circumstances surrounding the accident.

Rasbury, salesman for the Monroe Wholesale Grocer company, who was badly injured in an automobile wreck near Baskin Wednesday, was sufficiently improved to permit his removal from Riverside sanitarium to his home on the Swartz road, Saturday afternoon. It will be some time, however, before he will be sufficiently recovered to permit his return to duties with his company.

The accident occurred when a car ahead of that driven by Mr. Rasbury was evidently about to pull out of his path when he mistook the signal given and when the car ahead came to a dead stop, the Rasbury car plunged into a ditch where it overturned.

Mr. Rasbury sustained the fracture of the right cheek bone, injury to both the right and left shoulders, his right eye and nose were injured, and all of his front teeth were loosened. The Rasbury automobile was a complete wreck.

An ambulance was summoned and the injured man conveyed to Riverside sanitarium. Physicians stated that it was almost miraculous that Mr. Rasbury escaped much more serious injuries owing to the circumstances surrounding the accident.

Men Are 'Little Boys,' And Women—

It has been said many times that grown men are still just little boys, and no excuses must be made for them. They must be pampered, petted and managed. That's where that tolerant "certain look" comes from, which most women wear regarding them. It seems to be true in the main, and yet it may be wondered why the brawny of the species alone may be thus justified and forgiven. In many ways women, too, are just little girls needing the same sort of patience to be "managed" with equal comfort and success.

A woman is a strange mixture of childish impulses and old, old wisdom. When she is wise she is of the wisest, with the instinctive wisdom of mothering through centuries. But when she lets go and is just a little girl, she is a little girl with a vengeance. All she needs then is a few words of love and praise and reassurance. To expect her to be a sturdy, grown-up person all the time, free from childish hang-overs, is to expect the impossible of human nature, and to try to reason with her at such times, with cold, grown-up reasoning, is the last thing she needs. For just then she isn't reasonable.

She is just a little girl who wants to be loved and who will respond readily to this because love is so large a part in her life, and her tender heart rules her, making her much less ruthless and stubborn than men, and much more easily played upon and comforted. A chilly "you ought to know better" attitude only makes her world a howling wilderness for her just then, and therefore reckless about what she says and does.

Men are apt to set women aside to be petted and worshipped. They often make of them playthings to be pleased. They make excuses for them in courtship and early marriage, forgive them their shortcomings, put up with their whims, pamper and baby them until they grow to lean upon the wonderful love, and count upon it. Some deserve this spoiling, some don't. But most of them get it, one way or another. Then, when it is suddenly withdrawn, they aren't prepared for the matter-of-factness men seem to expect of them all at once. They miss the things which made their love blossom.

Love and attention mean more than almost anything else to most women. If this is childish, wouldn't it be easier to remember that this belongs partly to the little girl still in the woman—the little girl who is yearning to be comforted and cared for by the man she has set her heart upon. Often the simple gratifying of this one natural instinct will bolster her up to be a woman again, childish as it may appear to the lordly male, who, perhaps without knowing it, demands so much for himself on the grounds that he is still "just a little boy."

HEALTH, GOOD AND BAD

Readers of obituaries these days often find the same story—years of strain while battling with the depression, then another good man gone. We all recall the accounts during flush years of more good men gone, broken by indulgences and the fast pace. How do the ravages of these opposite corrosions of health balance?

The medical men often list worry and over-eating, over-drinking or too tense living as causes of physical collapses. Any logic concludes that if worry be absent or subdued, and hard times enforce less hectic daily existences, then the depression should pay dividends in improved average health. The more exact measure lies in statistics furnished by boards of health and life insurance companies, comparing the prevalence of particular diseases, or causes of deaths, over periods including both hard and good times.

Such figures agree strikingly and indicate an improved level of health. Let us understand clearly that good reasoning and good evidence, after putting the contrasting health factors in the two trays of a scale, find the one markedly outweighing the other. It brightens the outlook.

AVENUES OF SAFETY

Educational influences were held forth before the Safety Congress in Atlantic City as the most promising means of curbing highway casualties, and it will be generally conceded that the notion is valid.

Without the constant efforts of motor vehicle departments and municipal authorities to bring before drivers of automobiles the hazards of recklessness, lists of deaths and injuries doubtless would be far more extensive than they are at the present time.

It remains true, however, that painstaking examination of applicants for drivers' licenses and rigorous enforcement of the traffic code are supplemental factors that must not be ignored.

Safety education plus licensing care and official pressure will continue to offer hope for the attainment of roads and streets free from the blemish of unnecessary accidents.

Rhyme And Reason

By ANNE CAMPBELL

DADDY'S BOY

If Mother had not gone away,
The baby would not know the joy
Of rising with the joyful day,
Declaring: "I'm Daddy's boy!"

He patters in to Daddy's bed,
And rests upon his loving arm.
To nestle close to Daddy's head
Is to be warm and safe from harm.

It's Daddy who must comb his hair,
And tie his shoes and scrub his hands.
On Daddy's shoulder, down the stair,
He rides with bantering demands.

His high chair is a painted throne.
Our baby is a little king.
He claims his Daddy as his own,
And turns to him for everything.

Mother, home now, agrees with him
That Daddy really is too kind,
And thinks (although the chance is slim!)
That babies should be taught to mind!

But Daddy, driving off to town,
Has memories he can enjoy.
A smile will always chase a frown
When one has thoughts of "Daddy's boy!"

Values Of 'Golden Age'

By BRUCE CATTON

A great many words have been written to explain what the "good old days" in America were like—the days when rugged individualism and private initiative were prized realities and not campaign phrases.

Most of these words fail of their effect. They cannot recreate the golden age (if that is what it really was), because its essence was a spirit, a state of mind, rather than a set of concrete facts.

But now and then we find in one man's life an exposition of that vanished era which is more eloquent than many pages of type.

There died in Ohio not long ago, for example, a 92-year-old man named Gustav Schaefer. He was born in Germany and he came to the United States as a young man, without resources except for a lot of determination, a strong body and a handy knack with tools.

Schaefer started out by working in a small blacksmith and carriage shop. The job carried no pay at all; he slept in a drafty attic over the shop, under a roof so flimsy that snow used to cover his bed on winter mornings.

He lived on pumpernickel and water for a long time, while he was learning his trade. And at last, his apprenticeship completed, he opened his own little shop and began the manufacture of wagons.

For the next half century he ran this shop. His wagons were famous, locally, for their durability and good workmanship. Schaefer used to boast that he would pay $100 to anyone who could produce a Schaefer wagon that had worn out. He never had to make good on it.

Almost to the end of his long life, the head of this firm used to go down to the shop and personally supervise things—taking a hand himself with the tools, as like as not.

He delegated to no one the responsibility for seeing that the Schaefer name continued to stand for solid and enduring craftsmanship.

Now there is nothing especially unusual about this old gentleman's story. But it does set forth the great virtues of the golden age of the small shop in America—the age when a business institution was the shadow of an individual and not the shadow of a miscellany of stockholders.

The man who ran such a business was not worrying about stock setups, Wall street backing or the money that could be made by a judicious manipulation of his company's shares.

His one aim was to do his job as well as it could possibly be done. His reputation for workmanship was his most-prized possession.

We assume that those days are gone now. But their values are still good. We still pay off, in the long run, on dependability and craftsmanship.

The corporation may replace the individual owner—the traits that brought a man success and independence in the days of Gus Schaefer will bring them, today, to the man who demonstrates that he possesses them.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

CHAUFFEUR MEANS BANDIT.—The first "chauffeurs" were a brand of brigands infesting the French highways in the 17th and 18th centuries. They were so called because of their habit of burning (chaffer) the feet of their victims to compel them to divulge the hiding places of their valuables. They were finally exterminated through the vigorous action of Napoleon I, who instituted a regular martial campaign against them, resulting in their capture and the execution of their leaders.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O. O. McIntyre

Nothing, showing such bravery, is so received with yawns as ocean flying. It strikes me. Anything after Lindbergh appears anti-climax. Intrepid men and women fly the ocean today and people cannot recall their names tomorrow.

The truth is: The progress of commercial aviation—the constant and quick flights of the Hindenburg, for instance—has made solo ocean flying as hazardous as it is, a bit of commonplace so-so.

Too, a feeling nothing is accomplished in risking one's neck these days when the ocean may be safely crossed in the air by expert guidance. It was all right during pioneering days. But today it is regarded as a "stunt."

Even Harry Richman, because he happened to be a public entertainer, suffered a few contemptuous sniffs as a publicity seeker. Richman, according to those who know, went on his voyage solely because existence dipped and he sought a super-thrill. He was too sensible, too publicity surfeited to throw away his life for an eight-column banner.

Cross country air races also appeal less and less to popular imagination. Flying has become too standardized to longer be a novelty. Watching air races is to many a deal like watching an express train roar by.

Air experts say three and four ships will be leaving for and departing from Europe daily in the next two years. The thing that interests aviation experts and followers these days is an increase in speed. To fly 350 miles in an hour is a new goal which many believe will be accomplished within a few years. And that, as somebody has said, is some flying.

"Old Observer" in Los Angeles credits it to Lou Marsh, famous sports editor of the Toronto Star. Marsh passed away recently and was given probably the greatest funeral tribute ever tendered a member of The Fourth Estate. He coined many original phrases.

Many believe, however, the success of the original establishment is due to the fact that he is usually at the entrance greeting folk at meal time and evening menus. That cannot be done in scattered localities.

Family Health

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

(Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

A tissue which lines the eyelids and runs out onto the eyeball is called the conjunctiva. Inflammation of this tissue is known as conjunctivitis. Various types of germs may attack the eye and cause this kind of inflammation.

When the conjunctiva becomes inflamed, there is a formation of pus, and the eyelids burn, smart, and turn red. This infection may spread to the eyeball. The eye, when inflamed, usually becomes exceedingly sensitive to light, and tears flood it constantly.

In the morning the eyelids will be found crusted together. Doctors treat this condition according to the type of germ that causes the inflammation and to severity of the infection.

Pink eye is a common type of conjunctivitis. Shortly after this special type of germ gets into the eyes, they become reddened. The lids are swollen and puffy, and usually are glued together in the morning. Pink eye ordinarily is spread by the use of a common towel or by soiled hands.

If the eyelids itch and smart, if they feel hot and heavy as though sand were underneath, the condition is probably conjunctivitis. Most patients get rid of this ailment within a week, provided proper attention is given to the eyes.

Occasionally symptoms are produced by over-exposure to ultraviolet rays, to the electric arc used in welding, or to the arc lights employed in motion picture studios. The two last-named are also forms of the ultraviolet.

The condition is caused by action of the rays on the eyes and disappears if the exposure is stopped. In such cases, cold compresses will soothe the eye, and the infection can be kept well under control by use of boric acid solutions.

It is not well to take these ailments lightly, because they may progress and seriously threaten sight itself. The only way to be certain of the exact character of such condition is to have the eyes examined by a competent doctor, who understands not only the anatomy of the eye, but also the various effects upon it of infections of different kinds.

In some instances, eyes become infected by germs from the water in contaminated swimming pools. Germs which affect the eye may include not only the ordinary germ, the Koch-Weeks bacillus, which causes pink eye, or a certain form of pneumococcus, but also various kinds of pus-forming germs and some of those which cause venereal infections.

Physicians are able to prescribe much more powerful germicides than boric acid and, in that way, to bring the dangerous infections under control.

Remember that it is easy for such germs to pass from one person to another. Persons with infected eyes should use individual towels, and make certain that the hands are always thoroughly washed with soap and water before touching the eye.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON — Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, whose celebrated pink whiskers will soon be white if he doesn't do something about them, is one of the wiser old birds in American politics.

After extended travel about the country and in his own state of Illinois, the senator gave voice to what many other politicians have been thinking, as follows:

"There are no political parties in America. The country is done with labels.

"There are political organizations, organizations in behalf of candidates. But the people are not influenced by political programs and will vote according to the personal principles enunciated by the candidates.

"All the talk of the country, its welfare and constitution is interesting to intellectuals, but to the ordinary citizen the question is which of the doctrines preached by the president of the United States and the governors of states best serves his business and the personal interests of his family.

"We have entered a new era. The liberal will go in one direction with other liberals. The conservative will join conservatives of his neighborhood.

"Whoever is elected president will find a new political alignment, neither Democratic nor Republican party, but economic and commercial, industrial and financial—everything on a business basis and not political abstracts."

Few who paid any attention to the campaign will dispute Jim Ham.

Already They Talk Of 1940

Already the insders in the administration are asking one another who will be the "crown prince."

They figured all along that if Roosevelt were re-elected, he would be in position to name a candidate to succeed him in 1940, whereas in case he were not elected he would either seek the presidency four years hence or else be in position to exert great influence toward a nomination.

Whether there will be three important parties in the field in 1940 or whether the contest will be confined chiefly to a conservative Republican party and a liberalized Democratic party sufficiently radical to head off a strong new farmer-labor party is good for an evening's argument in Washington any old time.

There are those who feel that the most important progressive politicians and labor leaders are too individualistic to stand together for a new party.

There will be more and more talk about this, but recently the two men who have seemed to command the most 1940 support among those around Roosevelt have been Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Of course the old-line Democratic politicians are for the most part thinking in other directions.

Famous? Not So Very

Young Mrs. Jimmy Roosevelt walked into headquarters of the Democratic national committee women's division in New York and asked how about tickets for the final big Roosevelt show in Madison Square Garden.

"Is that so?" responded a young woman who didn't recognize her. "Well, you can just get a bottle of milk and an apple and stand in line like the rest of us here are going to do."

The president's daughter-n-law then asked to see a certain woman she knew.

"She's right in there," was the reply, "but it won't do you any good."

Young Mrs. Jimmy was given a good seat eventually.

Court Book Stirs Capital

No end of folks in Washington who are always interested in the prospective longevity of members of the United States supreme court are speculating as to possible effects of the book, "Nine Old Men," a critical picture of the court and its history which shows the present justices in very frank detail.

One danger is that some of the conservative justices will suffer apoplectic strokes and another is that one or two of the liberal justices will die laughing.

Justice and Mrs. Owen J. Roberts are reported to be boiling over with wrath. Justice Roberts, however, is in excellent health and presumably can take it.

The more exact measure lies in statistics furnished by boards of health and life insurance companies, comparing the prevalence of particular diseases, or causes of deaths, over periods including both hard and good times.

Such figures agree strikingly and indicate an improved level of health. Let us understand clearly that good reasoning and good evidence, after putting the contrasting health factors in the two trays of a scale, find the one markedly outweighing the other. It brightens the outlook.

AVENUES OF SAFETY

Educational influences were held forth before the Safety Congress in Atlantic City as the most promising means of curbing highway casualties, and it will be generally conceded that the notion is valid.

Without the constant efforts of motor vehicle departments and municipal authorities to bring before drivers of automobiles the hazards of recklessness, lists of deaths and injuries doubtless would be far more extensive than they are at the present time.

It remains true, however, that painstaking examination of applicants for drivers' licenses and rigorous enforcement of the traffic code are supplemental factors that must not be ignored.

Safety education plus licensing care and official pressure will continue to offer hope for the attainment of roads and streets free from the blemish of unnecessary accidents.

Connie Mack's Athletics, as they are lugubriously nicknamed, will "train" next spring in the high altitude of Mexico City, after which they will again sink to the cellar.

How times change. In the old days the crank was given the air. Now the radio people won't let him use it.

Rhyme And Reason

By ANNE CAMPBELL

DADDY'S BOY

If Mother had not gone away,
The baby would not know the joy
Of rising with the joyful day,
Declaring: "I'm Daddy's boy!"

He patters in to Daddy's bed,
And rests upon his loving arm.
To nestle close to Daddy's head
Is to be warm and safe from harm.

It's Daddy who must comb his hair,
And tie his shoes and scrub his hands.
On Daddy's shoulder, down the stair,
He rides with bantering demands.

His high chair is a painted throne.
Our baby is a little king.
He claims his Daddy as his own,
And turns to him for everything.

Mother, home now, agrees with him
That Daddy really is too kind,
And thinks (although the chance is slim!)
That babies should be taught to mind!

But Daddy, driving off to town,
Has memories he can enjoy.
A smile will always chase a frown
When one has thoughts of "Daddy's boy!"

Values Of 'Golden Age'

By BRUCE CATTON

A great many words have been written to explain what the "good old days" in America were like—the days when rugged individualism and private initiative were prized realities and not campaign phrases.

Most of these words fail of their effect. They cannot recreate the golden age (if that is what it really was), because its essence was a spirit, a state of mind, rather than a set of concrete facts.

But now and then we find in one man's life an exposition of that vanished era which is more eloquent than many pages of type.

There died in Ohio not long ago, for example, a 92-year-old man named Gustav Schaefer. He was born in Germany and he came to the United States as a young man, without resources except for a lot of determination, a strong body and a handy knack with tools.

Schaefer started out by working in a small blacksmith and carriage shop. The job carried no pay at all; he slept in a drafty attic over the shop, under a roof so flimsy that snow used to cover his bed on winter mornings.

He lived on pumpernickel and water for a long time, while he was learning his trade. And at last, his apprenticeship completed, he opened his own little shop and began the manufacture of wagons.

For the next half century he ran this shop. His wagons were famous, locally, for their durability and good workmanship. Schaefer used to boast that he would pay $100 to anyone who could produce a Schaefer wagon that had worn out. He never had to make good on it.

Almost to the end of his long life, the head of this firm used to go down to the shop and personally supervise things—taking a hand himself with the tools, as like as not.

He delegated to no one the responsibility for seeing that the Schaefer name continued to stand for solid and enduring craftsmanship.

Now there is nothing especially unusual about this old gentleman's story. But it does set forth the great virtues of the golden age of the small shop in America—the age when a business institution was the shadow of an individual and not the shadow of a miscellany of stockholders.

The man who ran such a business was not worrying about stock setups, Wall street backing or the money that could be made by a judicious manipulation of his company's shares.

His one aim was to do his job as well as it could possibly be done. His reputation for workmanship was his most-prized possession.

We assume that those days are gone now. But their values are still good. We still pay off, in the long run, on dependability and craftsmanship.

The corporation may replace the individual owner—the traits that brought a man success and independence in the days of Gus Schaefer will bring them, today, to the man who demonstrates that he possesses them.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT BY RIPLEY

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

CHAUFFEUR MEANS BANDIT.—The first "chauffeurs" were a brand of brigands infesting the French highways in the 17th and 18th centuries. They were so called because of their habit of burning (chaffer) the feet of their victims to compel them to divulge the hiding places of their valuables. They were finally exterminated through the vigorous action of Napoleon I, who instituted a regular martial campaign against them, resulting in their capture and the execution of their leaders.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O.O. McIntyre

Nothing, showing such bravery, is so received with yawns as ocean flying, it strikes me. Anything after Lindbergh appears anti-climax. Intrepid men and women fly the ocean today and people cannot recall their names tomorrow.

The truth is: The progress of commercial aviation—the constant and quick flights of the Hindenburg, for instance—has made solo ocean flying, as hazardous as it is, a bit of commonplace so-so.

Too, a feeling nothing is accomplished in risking one's neck these days when the ocean may be safely crossed in the air by expert guidance. It was all right during pioneering days. But today it is regarded as a "stunt."

Even Harry Richman, because he happened to be a public entertainer, suffered a few contemptuous sniffs as a publicity seeker. Richman, according to those who know, went on his voyage solely because existence dipped and he sought a super-thrill. He was too sensible, too publicity surfeited to throw away his life for an eight-column banner.

Cross country air races also appeal less and less to popular imagination. Flying has become too standardized to longer be a novelty. Watching air races is to many a deal like watching an express train roar by.

Air experts say three and four ships will be leaving for and departing from Europe daily in the next two years. The thing that interests aviation experts and followers these days is an increase in speed. To fly 350 miles in an hour is a new goal which many believe will be accomplished within a few years. And that, as somebody has said, is some flying.

Recently I pip-squeaked to know what sport writer applied "Satchel Feet" to Primo Carnera, the Ambling Alp. "Old Observer" in Los Angeles credits it to Lou Marsh, famous sports editor of the Toronto Star. He applied it to Joe Burke, then Canada's amateur heavyweight champion, and it was later picked up as applicable to Carnera. Marsh passed away recently and was given probably the greatest funeral tribute ever tendered a member of The Fourth Estate. He coined many original phrases.

Harry Silvey discovers a "School for Radio Announcers" on upper Broadway. It was the first time he knew people became radio announcers on purpose.

So far, Jack Dempsey has been most successful of retired prize fighters in the restaurant and saloon business. It's an enterprise most of them sought when they hung up their gloves, but usually ended in bankruptcy. Dempsey in two years has not only expanded but is planning to open new Dempsey restaurants and hotels in various parts of the country. Many believe, however, the success of the original establishment is due to the fact that he is usually at the entrance greeting folk at meal time and evening menus. That cannot be done in scattered localities.

Ether envies: If I were broadcasting on the radio I'd hate to be slotted in the time alotted to Major Bowes, Fred Allen, Rudy Vallee, Amos 'n' Andy or Jack Benny. That would be talking only to the thin air indeed.

Broadway lost one of its kindliest and better loved sons in the passing of Mark Leuscher. In late years he has fulfilled special publicity assignments, such as the Will Rogers memorial. But 20 years ago he was a foremost producer. With Louis Werba, he was a member of the firm of Werba and Leuscher, which produced some of the rattling fine musical plays of the era. Such as "Spring Maid." To have lived and worked on Broadway 30 years without an enemy is an accomplishment and Leuscher achieved it.

Ward Greene is a young newspaperman who came to New York with nothing but ambition. His fifth successful novel is now causing much talk—"Death in the Deep South." He worked on newspapers and wrote at night instead of playing around the fast and loose places, as so many young men do. It can be done.

The closest runner-up for Fred Astaire's spot in the dancing world—if he has not already reached him—is Charles Collins, the husband of Dorothy Stone, also a twinkle-toed lady. Collins flings a mean pump and is developing into one of the screen's top personalities.

Ed Sullivan—not the Broadway columnist—has written a daring book in "The Union Labor Racket." An expose of unbelievable extortion. Almost incredible. But Sullivan is regarded as a reliable reporter.

Somehow I always think one of the greatest lines of nonsense is Charles Butterworth's Rotarian friend who was a bear rug optician—fitting glass eyes into stuffed bear heads.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

FRANCE next year will commemorate the tenth anniversary of Lindbergh's non-stop flight across the Atlantic with a special stamp. It will be issued in connection with the New York to Paris air derby scheduled for next May.

A proposal that may produce an innovation in stamp issues is that the Little Entente, comprising Czechoslovakia, Yugo-Slavia, and Rumania, issue a combined series of stamps, bearing the portraits of their rulers, President Benes, King Peter, and King Carol. The suggestion has been referred to a special meeting.

Switzerland has added two values to its regular series of stamps, and has reprinted the stamps in engraved form. Now there are nine stamps to a set. The same country also has issued a set of three values for the national defense loan, and is preparing another "Pro Juventute" series for charity.

No word yet about the forthcoming Army-Navy series, but the U. S. Postoffice Department promises to keep its pledge about issuing the stamps soon.

Greece is preparing another series of stamps bearing pictures of events in Greek history.

And the fourth centenary of the founding of Guayaquil, Ecuador, in 1537, will be remembered by a new series of Ecuador stamps next year.

Family Health

(Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

A tissue which lines the eyelids and runs out onto the eyeball is called the conjunctiva. Inflammation of this tissue is known as conjunctivitis. Various types of germs may attack the eye and cause this kind of inflammation.

When the conjunctiva becomes inflamed, there is a formation of pus, and the eyelids burn, smart, and turn red. This infection may spread to the eyeball. The eye, when inflamed, usually becomes exceedingly sensitive to light, and tears flood it constantly.

In the morning the eyelids will be found crusted together. Doctors treat this condition according to the type of germ that causes the inflammation and to severity of the infection.

Pink eye is a common type of conjunctivitis. Shortly after this special type of germ gets into the eyes, they become reddened. The lids are swollen and puffy, and usually are glued together in the morning. Pink eye ordinarily is spread by the use of a common towel or by soiled hands.

If the eyelids itch and smart, if they feel hot and heavy as though sand were underneath, the condition is probably conjunctivitis. Most patients get rid of this ailment within a week, provided proper attention is given to the eyes.

Occasionally symptoms are produced by over-exposure to ultraviolet rays, to the electric arc used in welding, or to the arc lights employed in motion picture studios. The two last-named are also forms of the ultraviolet.

The condition is caused by action of the rays on the eyes and disappears if the exposure is stopped. In such cases, cold compresses will soothe the eye, and the infection can be kept well under control by use of boric acid solutions.

It is not well to take these ailments lightly, because they may progress and seriously threaten sight itself. The only way to be certain of the exact character of such condition is to have the eyes examined by a competent doctor, who understands not only the anatomy of the eye, but also the various effects upon it of infections of different kinds.

In some instances, eyes become infected by germs from the water in contaminated swimming pools. Germs which affect the eye may include not only the ordinary germ, the Koch-Weeks bacillus, which causes pink eye, or a certain form of pneumococcus, but also various kinds of pus-forming germs and some of those which cause venereal infections.

Physicians are able to prescribe much more powerful germicides than boric acid and, in that way, to bring the dangerous infections under control.

Remember that it is easy for such germs to pass from one person to another. Persons with infected eyes should use individual towels, and make certain that the hands are always thoroughly washed with soap and water before touching the eye.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON — Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, whose celebrated pink whiskers will soon be white if he doesn't do something about them, is one of the wiser old birds in American politics.

After extended travel about the country and in his own state of Illinois, the senator gave voice to what many other politicians have been thinking, as follows:

"There are no political parties in America. The country is done with labels.

"There are political organizations, organizations in behalf of candidates. But the people are not influenced by political programs and will vote according to the personal principles enunciated by the candidates.

"All the talk of the country, its welfare and constitution is interesting to intellectuals, but to the ordinary citizen the question is which of the doctrines preached by the president of the United States and the governors of states best serves his business and the personal interests of his family.

"We have entered a new era. The liberal will go in one direction with other liberals. The conservative will join conservatives of his neighborhood.

"Whoever is elected president will find a new political alignment, neither Democratic nor Republican party, but economic and commercial, industrial and financial—everything on a business basis and not political abstracts."

Few who paid any attention to the campaign will dispute Jim Ham.

Already They Talk Of 1940

Already the insders in the administration are asking one another who will be the "crown prince."

They figured all along that if Roosevelt were re-elected, he would be in position to name a candidate to succeed him in 1940, whereas in case he were not elected he would either seek the presidency four years hence or else be in position to exert great influence toward a nomination.

Whether there will be three important parties in the field in 1940 or whether the contest will be confined chiefly to a conservative Republican party and a liberalized Democratic party sufficiently radical to head off a strong new farmer-labor party is good for an evening's argument in Washington any old time.

There are those who feel that the most important progressive politicians and labor leaders are too individualistic to stand together for a new party.

There will be more and more talk about this, but recently the two men who have seemed to command the most 1940 support among those around Roosevelt have been Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Of course the old-line Democratic politicians are for the most part thinking in other directions.

Famous? Not So Very

Young Mrs. Jimmy Roosevelt walked into headquarters of the Democratic national committee women's division in New York and asked how about tickets for the final big Roosevelt show in Madison Square Garden.

"Is that so?" responded a young woman who didn't recognize her. "Well, you can just get a bottle of milk and an apple and stand in line like the rest of us here are going to do."

The president's daughter-n-law then asked to see a certain woman she knew.

"She's right in there," was the reply, "but it won't do you any good."

Young Mrs. Jimmy was given a good seat eventually.

Court Book Stirs Capital

No end of folks in Washington who are always interested in the prospective longevity of members of the United States supreme court are speculating as to possible effects of the book, "Nine Old Men," a critical picture of the court and its history which shows the present justices in very frank detail.

One danger is that some of the conservative justices will suffer apoplectic strokes and another is that one or two of the liberal justices will die laughing.

Justice and Mrs. Owen J. Roberts are reported to be boiling over with wrath. Justice Roberts, however, is in excellent health and presumably can take it.

CHRYSLER ORDERS DELUGE FACTORY

Dealers Pleased With New Models Of Car; Willis Is Local Dealer

Dealer enthusiasm for Chrysler's 1937 line is being translated into an unprecedented rush of orders, according to J. W. Frazer, vice-president of the Chrysler sales division of the Chrysler corporation.

The Chrysler dealer body had its first look at the new cars on October 6, when 33 meetings were held in key cities throughout the country. The factory has received hundreds of congratulatory telegrams and letters as a result of these meetings. A composite of all these messages would read that the dealers consider the line the most saleable ever offered them, and that they have pledged themselves to make good on the company's program of selling twice as many Chryslers in 1937 as in 1936. They especially like the defiant, dynamic appearance of the automobile.

"Never before in my experience has a new line met with such unanimity of approval as it has this year," says Mr. Frazer. "Within less than a week after the dealers had seen the car for the first time, we had received over 11,000 orders. Hundreds of dealers have ordered twice as many cars for immediate delivery as they had intended to order prior to our introductory meetings.

"The response to our new low-priced Chrysler has been amazing even to those of us at the factory who know how good a car it was and thus expected a cordial reception for it. The dealers seem to feel that a Chrysler in the low-priced field gives them an advantage that they never have enjoyed before. All of them seemed to be delighted by the roominess, beauty and new engineering features of the car that carries the Chrysler name into a new market.

"We are in splendid position to take care of this rush of business, even though orders exceed our current month's original production schedule by several thousand cars. In anticipation of doubling our 1936 volume next year, we have enlarged our plant by the erection of several buildings. Much new machinery has been installed and the factory lay-out improved in many respects. We now are able to devote all assembly operations in our Jefferson avenue plant exclusively to Chrysler cars. This expansion and improvement progress involved an expenditure of several million dollars. It means that we can make not only a great many more cars than ever before, but better cars."

Prices on the 1937 Chrysler line are announced as follows: Chrysler Royal—Business coupe $715; rumble seat coupe $765; two-door touring brougham $785; two-door brougham $775; four-door touring sedan $825; four-door sedan $815.

Chrysler Imperial—Business coupe $925; rumble seat coupe $965; two-door touring brougham $965; four-door touring sedan $995.

Chrysler Airflow—Four-door sedan $1,475; coupe $1,475.

Prices quoted include full safety glass equipment in all models and body styles, offered as standard equipment for the first time. Body styles designated as "touring" have built-in trunks. Prices of convertible models and of the Chrysler Custom Imperial line will be announced at a later date.

Willis, Inc., is the local Chrysler dealer.

WILLYS TO SHOW ROOMIER MODELS

Many New Features To Be Presented In Popular Priced Automobile

A preview of the new Willys car, to be introduced to the public at the New York Automobile show on November 11, was held at 29 Broadway, New York City, on October 28-30 inclusive, where executives of financial houses, newspaper publishers, technical editors and members of the staffs of leading motor trade journals together with approximately 200 Willys dealers from the metropolitan area were shown the sedan model, according to Boyce-Kendall garage, local dealers.

Deliveries of this car will start shortly, according to Ward M. Canaday, chairman of the board of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.

The current product departs from Willys specifications of the past three years and is presented in standard specifications with full size body, front and rear seats wider than standard practice among volume producers, stream-line contours, concealed spare tire space in a commodious rear luggage compartment, modernized instrument panel, hand brake located at the left of the driver and operated by a unique type of lever.

Comments in the automotive trade regarding the position this new Willys product will occupy have pointed to the fact that it is expected to be priced at a point considerably below that of the next lowest priced car now available.

While no price was disclosed at the preview, Mr. Canaday stated that it might be somewhere between $50 and $100 less, on corresponding models, than prices currently advertised.

"The policy of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.," he said, "is to afford a form of transportation which will embody every feature of performance demanded by modern motorists at a cost for use which will compete favorably with even street car travel."

OLDS INTRODUCES NEW '37 MODELS

Many New Improvements Feature Oldsmobile Line At Twin City Motor

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Oldsmobile's two new and distinctly different cars for 1937 offer the new car purchaser a unique advantage never presented before, according to C. L. McCuen, president and general manager of Oldsmobile.

"I believe that our engineers have completely mastered the problem long faced by manufacturers who produce more than one line of cars," he said. "I refer to the general confusions in identity which often arise from the similarity in appearance of two or more lines in the same family of cars.

"This year, our engineers undertook to solve this problem. The results they have achieved will become obvious to the public when the new cars are shown this month.

"There can be no question as to which is the 1937 Oldsmobile eight and which is the Oldsmobile six. They possess distinct individualities that cannot be confused with each other or, for that matter, with any other automobile."

This distinction has been achieved by entirely different interpretations of styling on each car—different radiator grille designs—different hood louvers—different headlamps and tail lamps—different exterior trim—and entirely different interiors.

Both the six and the eight are entirely new. Both are bigger in every way, with longer wheelbases, greater power and roomier bodies. Both offer many new safety features. In addition, the new six and the new eight provide the latest word in ease of operation supplemented by increased operating economy.

Oldsmobile's price announcement on its 1937 cars is featured by a reduction in price on all enclosed models in the eight-cylinder line and also a reduction on the popular four-door sedan and four-door touring sedan in the six-cylinder line, according to a statement released today by D. E. Ralston, vice-president and general sales manager of the company.

"List prices at Lansing on the new six begin at $685 and on the eight at $785," Mr. Ralston said. "These new prices for 1937 are in keeping with Oldsmobile basic policy of giving all that is new and better at the lowest possible price."

Mr. Ralston pointed out that the new Oldsmobiles, both six and eight, are bigger and finer in every way. Both have new and large engines which give increased power with greater economy. Both have longer wheelbases and stronger, more rugged chassis. And both cars offer bigger, roomier all-steel bodies for greater comfort and safety.

"In addition, the 1937 Oldsmobiles offer the latest modern streamline styling. Both are entirely distinctive in appearance—different from each other, and different from anything else on the road. With all their new advancements and improvements, these new cars are priced to give the buyer the utmost in dollar-for-dollar value," Mr. Ralston stated.

List prices at Lansing were announced as follows: Oldsmobile six—business coupe $685; club coupe $740; two-door sedan $740; two-door touring sedan $765; four-door sedan $780; four-door touring sedan $815, and convertible coupe $835.

Oldsmobile Eight—business coupe $785; club coupe $840; two door sedan $840; two-door touring sedan $865; four-door sedan $890; four-door touring sedan $915; and convertible coupe $935.

GENERAL MOTORS NOTES STARTER ANNIVERSARY

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the practical application of the electric self-starter to automobiles and plans are under way to take note of the event in New York in connection with the annual automobile shows in mid-November.

Charles F. Kettering, now vice-president of the General Motors corporation in charge of research, developed the self-starter in 1911, working with a loyal band of helpers under severe handicaps in the barn which served as the first "factory" and "executive offices" of the Dayton Engineering Laboratories company.

The self-starter was applied first by Henry M. Leland to Cadillac cars and became standard Cadillac equipment in 1912. On the strength of this epochal improvement, Cadillac that year won the famous Dewar trophy in London for the second time. Soon other makes of automobiles were so equipped and the rapid expansion of the automobile industry followed. The self-starting mechanism made motoring safer, easier and cleaner and, in particular, met the driving needs of women.

7-0-7 REPORTS BOOST IN SALES

United States Tires Prove Popular At Modern Local Service Station

A large increase in the sales of U. S. tires during the past year was reported by Luther Howell, manager of 7-0-7 Tire Service, Inc., located at 501 Harrison street.

Mr. Howell declared that his firm not only experienced a good year in the sale of tires but that sales of Pan-Am gasoline and oils and also the Alemite lubricating department had enjoyed a prosperous business year.

7-0-7 Tire Service is headquarters for U. S. tires in Monroe. This tire is made by the U. S. Rubber company, said to be the largest producer of rubber in the world.

The U. S. Rubber company started in the production of rubber in 1915 and now has large rubber tree forests in Ceylon. The product is shipped to its own plants in the raw state and cured in this country.

This company also owns the patents on the flat method of making tires and is the only tire manufacturing company which uses the 'merry-go-round" principal of making tires, the same principal adopted by the large manufacturers of automobiles where each workman performs only one operation.

Mr. Howell said that the U. S. tire has acquired great popularity in this territory. It is standard equipment on 75 per cent of all cars manufactured including Rolls-Royce, Cadillac, LaSalle and other makes of cars, according to a prevailing estimate, it was stated.

7-0-7 Tire Service, Inc., specializes in genuine Alemite lubrication and is equipped to take care of all needs of the automobilist in connection with gasoline and oils. It maintains a road service for the benefit of its customers without extra cost to them.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS LEADS IN INDUSTRY

Large Store Here Sells Variety Of Paint Materials To Wide Trade

Enough paint to float several battleships was manufactured in 1934 by the Sherwin-Williams company largest manufacturers of paint in the world. A total of eighteen and a half million gallons of paint came from the Sherwin-Williams factories last year and grossed the company $56,000,000.

The above facts of interest are furnished by J. F. Davis, manager of the local Sherwin-Williams company store located at 109 Catalpa street, and known as "paint headquarters for Monroe."

The Sherwin-Williams company was organized in 1873 by Henry Alden Sherwin and Edwin Porter Williams. The first factory consisted of a two-story brick building on the Cuyahoga river, exactly where the Sherwin-Williams plant is today. The first year's output was 225 tons of paint mixings.

During 1934 Sherwin-Williams and its five main subsidiaries produced a total of 125,000 tons—18,500,000 gallons—of paints, varnishes and lacquers, 80,000 tons of pigments and dry colors, linseed oil and other chemicals, 20,000 tons of insecticides and 5,500 tons of tin cans—which is 22,000,000 tin cans.

The biggest single customer of the paint industry is not the building trades, strange as it may seem, but the automobile industry. The second biggest is the railroads. The building trades come third.

The Sherwin-Williams laboratories have formulas for use on 40,000 specific industrial products. On the inside of cans Sherwin-Williams finishes prevent fruit and vegetables from getting a metallic taste. Inside buildings they increase heat radiation. A light enameled radiator is about 15 to 20 per cent more efficient than one finished with bronze or dark shades. They prevent evaporation in oil and gasoline storage tanks. They help surgeons who have discovered that tinted operating rooms are more restful to work in than dazzling white rooms. They stop, by color and poisoning, the growth of sea life on the bottoms of ships moving in tropical waters. They mark sheep on the range. And Sherwin-Williams pigments are sold to manufacturers of all kinds of colored products from printing inks to rubber bathing suits.

The Monroe branch of the Sherwin-Williams company has done its share towards upholding the sensational sales record of the parent company and during the past year furnished many materials which went into the construction and renovation of homes and industrial properties in the Twin Cities. Besides paints and lacquers, the Sherwin-Williams company here distributes painters' supplies, wallpaper and other requisites for building. Mr. Davis has been in charge of the local company for five years and during that time has achieved considerable success.

"The building public recognizes good paint and demands the best," Mr. Davis declared. "For this reason the Sherwin-Williams company during the past year has been very successful as Sherwin-Williams paints are the best paints manufactured, have stood the most rigorous tests and are guaranteed as to quality and finish."

Mr. Davis stated that in his opinion business conditions in Monroe and the surrounding territory will certainly improve and the present activity in building will be accentuated rather than diminished.

The Sherwin-Williams company here handles complete lines of paints, varnishes, lacquers, wallpaper, brushes and other accessories. It maintains a complete stock at all times and has sold much of the material used in the present building campaign in the Twin Cities. The company also serves a large northeast Louisiana territory and through the progressive policy of Mr. Davis has enlarged its scope of operations considerably in this area.

STOUGH FAMOUS FOR FINE DRINKS

Owner Of Popular Monroe Hotel Bar Is Artist At Mixing Liquors

A jaded looking individual was observed to enter Harry Stough's bar in the Hotel Monroe and in a voice vibrant with emotion called for "a mixed drink that is different; I'm tired of the same old cocktails and highballs." Harry was behind the bar at the time and with a twirl of his napkin applied himself to the task, taking down first this brown bottle, then that red one, then the white—in fact bottles which ranged through the entire colors of the spectrum, while the jaded one sat on a chair, his shoulders hunched and a look of skepticism in his eyes.

Presently Harry set a brimming frosted glass before the said jaded individual. A sip, then two sips, and the jaded one's eyes sparkled. A smack of the lips and then a gulp. What a startling transformation took place! Eyes sparkling, shoulders back, the individual, no longer the jaded one, reached across the bar and shook Harry's hand. "Man," he said, in accents that echoed vibrantly, "you've reestablished my faith in human nature. I thought it couldn't be done. But you've done it—you've mixed a new drink; a delicious blend of pep and glow and from now on I can live again."

The moral of the above scene is evident. Harry Stough can really mix 'em, and those who patronize his well-appointed bar are certain to find their old favorites mixed just right and new drinks gleaned from the recipes of all countries to stir the jaded appetites of jaded individuals.

"I am a believer in moderate drinking and this belief has never hurt my business," Harry declares. "People who like to drink are entitled to the best and they can find the best at my bar. It is a meeting place for friends and a stop-over in the course of the day where gentlemen may relax for a few minutes and enjoy the benefit of the drink they like the most. Whatever that is, we have it," Harry asserted.

STUDEBAKER SALES SHOW LARGE OCTOBER INCREASE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Sales of 7,478 Studebaker passenger cars and trucks in the first 20 days of October exceeded total October sales in each of the past seven years, according to Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation. Mr. Hoffman reported sales from January 1 to October 20 as 70,777, compared with 40,504 in the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of 75 per cent.

KAPLAN CARRIES ENORMOUS STOCK

Local Pipe, Machinery And Supply Concern Serves Large Territory

For more than 20 years M. Kaplan and Son, located at the corner of Ninth and Adams streets, have served pipe and machinery requirements for the Monroe gas fields and for oil fields located within a radius of 300 miles from Monroe. During that time the firm has established a reputation for fair dealing which stands high among oil and gas and machinery supply houses in Louisiana.

M. Kaplan and Son specialize in pipe and keep in stock a large supply ranging in sizes from 3-8 inch to 18 inch. The firm operates one of the most completely equipped machine shops where all work is undertaken to customers' specifications, and has a fleet of trucks for delivery purposes.

The firm is a large buyer of used pipe from oil and gas fields. The pipe is prepared and then sold for use in the fields. Many larger operators in the oil and gas business find their pipe requirements at M. Kaplan and Son and by purchasing there save thousands of dollars in the cost of drilling.

M. Kaplan and son was organized in 1916 and the business has been operated since that time by Max and Dave Kaplan, who have wide connections in the business throughout the state.

Besides pipe, the firm sells structural steel, rebuilt machinery, industrial supplies, fillings, pumps and similar equipment. Its yards are well stocked and the company is always in position to meet all requirements for orders of large or small replacement parts.

Dave Kaplan reports an exceptionally active year in the business of M. Kaplan & Son, and states that the revival of industrial projects and continued activities in the oil and gas fields is a good barometer of improved business conditions generally. The firm is prepared to meet an increased demand and today carries larger stocks of all type pipe and second hand machinery and equipment than it has for some years past.

GENERAL MOTORS NOTES STARTER ANNIVERSARY

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the practical application of the electric self-starter to automobiles and plans are under way to take note of the event in New York in connection with the annual automobile shows in mid-November.

Charles F. Kettering, now vice-president of the General Motors corporation in charge of research, developed the self-starter in 1911, working with a loyal band of helpers under severe handicaps in the barn which served as the first "factory" and "executive offices" of the Dayton Engineering Laboratories company.

The self-starter was applied first by Henry M. Leland to Cadillac cars and became standard Cadillac equipment in 1912. On the strength of this epochal improvement, Cadillac that year won the famous Dewar trophy in London for the second time. Soon other makes of automobiles were so equipped and the rapid expansion of the automobile industry followed. The self-starting mechanism made motoring safer, easier and cleaner and, in particular, met the driving needs of women.

7-0-7 REPORTS BOOST IN SALES

United States Tires Prove Popular At Modern Local Service Station

A large increase in the sales of U. S. tires during the past year was reported by Luther Howell, manager of 7-0-7 Tire Service, Inc., located at 501 Harrison street.

Mr. Howell declared that his firm not only experienced a good year in the sale of tires but that sales of Pan-Am gasoline and oils and also the Alemite lubricating department had enjoyed a prosperous business year.

7-0-7 Tire Service is headquarters for U. S. tires in Monroe. This tire is made by the U. S. Rubber company, said to be the largest producer of rubber in the world.

The U. S. Rubber company started in the production of rubber in 1915 and now has large rubber tree forests in Ceylon. The product is shipped to its own plants in the raw state and cured in this country.

This company also owns the patents on the flat method of making tires and is the only tire manufacturing company which uses the "merry-go-round" principal of making tires, the same principal adopted by the large manufacturers of automobiles where each workman performs only one operation.

Mr. Howell said that the U. S. tire has acquired great popularity in this territory. It is standard equipment on 75 per cent of all cars manufactured including Rolls-Royce, Cadillac, LaSalle and other makes of cars, according to a prevailing estimate, it was stated.

7-0-7 Tire Service, Inc., specializes in genuine Alemite lubrication and is equipped to take care of all needs of the automobilist in connection with gasoline and oils. It maintains a road service for the benefit of its customers without extra cost to them.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS LEADS IN INDUSTRY

Large Store Here Selis Variety Of Paint Materials To Wide Trade

Enough paint to float several battleships was manufactured in 1934 by the Sherwin-Williams company largest manufacturers of paint in the world. A total of eighteen and a half million gallons of paint came from the Sherwin-Williams factories last year and grossed the company $56,000,000.

The above facts of interest are furnished by J. F. Davis, manager of the local Sherwin-Williams company store located at 109 Catalpa street, and known as "paint headquarters for Monroe."

The Sherwin-Williams company was organized in 1873 by Henry Alden Sherwin and Edwin Porter Williams. The first factory consisted of a two-story brick building on the Cuyahoga river, exactly where the Sherwin-Williams plant is today. The first year's output was 225 tons of paint mixings.

During 1934 Sherwin-Williams and its five main subsidiaries produced a total of 125,000 tons—18,500,000 gallons—of paints, varnishes and lacquers, 80,000 tons of pigments and dry colors, linseed oil and other chemicals, 20,000 tons of insecticides and 5,500 tons of tin cans—which is 22,000,000 tin cans.

The biggest single customer of the paint industry is not the building trades, strange as it may seem, but the automobile industry. The second biggest is the railroads. The building trades come third.

The Sherwin-Williams laboratories have formulas for use on 40,000 specific industrial products. On the inside of cans Sherwin-Williams finishes prevent fruit and vegetables from getting a metallic taste. Inside buildings they increase heat radiation. A light enameled radiator is about 15 to 20 per cent more efficient than one finished with bronze or dark shades. They prevent evaporation in oil and gasoline storage tanks. They help surgeons who have discovered that tinted operating rooms are more restful to work in than dazzling white rooms. They stop, by color and poisoning, the growth of sea life on the bottoms of ships moving in tropical waters. They mark sheep on the range. And Sherwin-Williams pigments are sold to manufacturers of all kinds of colored products from printing inks to rubber bathing suits.

The Monroe branch of the Sherwin-Williams company has done its share towards upholding the sensational sales record of the parent company and during the past year furnished many materials which went into the construction and renovation of homes and industrial properties in the Twin Cities. Besides paints and lacquers, the Sherwin-Williams company here distributes painters' supplies, wallpaper and other requisites for building. Mr. Davis has been in charge of the local company for five years and during that time has achieved considerable success.

"The building public recognizes good paint and demands the best," Mr. Davis declared. "For this reason the Sherwin-Williams company during the past year has been very successful as Sherwin-Williams paints are the best paints manufactured, have stood the most rigorous tests and are guaranteed as to quality and finish."

Mr. Davis stated that in his opinion business conditions in Monroe and the surrounding territory will certainly improve and the present activity in building will be accentuated rather than diminished.

The Sherwin-Williams company here handles complete lines of paints, varnishes, lacquers, wallpaper, brushes and other accessories. It maintains a complete stock at all times and has sold much of the material used in the present building campaign in the Twin Cities. The company also serves a large northeast Louisiana territory and through the progressive policy of Mr. Davis has enlarged its scope of operations considerably in this area.

Owner Of Popular Monroe Hotel Bar Is Artist At Mixing Liquors

A jaded looking individual was observed to enter Harry Stough's bar in the Hotel Monroe and in a voice vibrant with emotion called for "a mixed drink that is different; I'm tired of the same old cocktails and highballs." Harry was behind the bar at the time and with a twirl of his napkin applied himself to the task, taking down first this brown bottle, then that red one, then the white—in fact bottles which ranged through the entire colors of the spectrum, while the jaded one sat on a chair, his shoulders hunched and a look of skepticism in his eyes.

Presently Harry set a brimming frosted glass before the said jaded individual. A sip, then two sips, and the jaded one's eyes sparkled. A smack of the lips and then a gulp. What a startling transformation took place! Eyes sparkling, shoulders back, the individual, no longer the jaded one, reached across the bar and shook Harry's hand. "Man," he said, in accents that echoed vibrantly, "you've reestablished my faith in human nature. I thought it couldn't be done. But you've done it—you've mixed a new drink; a delicious blend of pep and glow and from now on I can live again."

The moral of the above scene is evident. Harry Stough can really mix 'em, and those who patronize his well-appointed bar are certain to find their old favorites mixed just right and new drinks gleaned from the recipes of all countries to stir the jaded appetites of jaded individuals.

"I am a believer in moderate drinking and this belief has never hurt my business," Harry declares. "People who like to drink are entitled to the best and they can find the best at my bar. It is a meeting place for friends and a stop-over in the course of the day where gentlemen may relax for a few minutes and enjoy the benefit of the drink they like the most. Whatever that is, we have it," Harry asserted.

STUDEBAKER SALES SHOW LARGE OCTOBER INCREASE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Sales of 7,478 Studebaker passenger cars and trucks in the first 20 days of October exceeded total October sales in each of the past seven years, according to Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation. Mr. Hoffman reported sales from January 1 to October 20 as 70,777, compared with 40,504 in the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of 75 per cent.

KAPLAN CARRIES ENORMOUS STOCK

Local Pipe, Machinery And Supply Concern Serves Large Territory

For more than 20 years M. Kaplan and Son, located at the corner of Ninth and Adams streets, have served pipe and machinery requirements for the Monroe gas fields and for oil fields located within a radius of 300 miles from Monroe. During that time the firm has established a reputation for fair dealing which stands high among oil and gas and machinery supply houses in Louisiana.

M. Kaplan and Son specialize in pipe and keep in stock a large supply ranging in sizes from 3-8 inch to 18 inch. The firm operates one of the most completely equipped machine shops where all work is undertaken to customers' specifications, and has a fleet of trucks for delivery purposes.

The firm is a large buyer of used pipe from oil and gas fields. The pipe is prepared and then sold for use in the fields. Many larger operators in the oil and gas business find their pipe requirements at M. Kaplan and Son and by purchasing there save thousands of dollars in the cost of drilling.

M. Kaplan and son was organized in 1916 and the business has been operated since that time by Max and Dave Kaplan, who have wide connections in the business throughout the state.

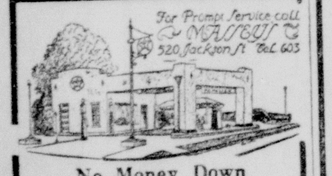

Besides pipe, the firm sells structural steel, rebuilt machinery, industrial supplies, fillings, pumps and similar equipment. Its yards are well stocked and the company is always in position to meet all requirements for orders of large or small replacement parts.

Dave Kaplan reports an exceptionally active year in the business of M. Kaplan & Son, and states that the revival of industrial projects and continued activities in the oil and gas fields is a good barometer of improved business conditions generally. The firm is prepared to meet an increased demand and today carries larger stocks of all type pipe and second hand machinery and equipment than it has for some years past.

NEW FIRM OPENS HERE TOMORROW

Refrigeration Equipment Company Handles General Electric Goods

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon of the organization here of a new firm, the Refrigeration Equipment company, retail dealers in all products of the General Electric corporation. The firm will be formally opened to the public Monday morning.

Located at 818 Jackson street in a modern brick building opposite the head of Ouachita avenue, the new concern has 4,800 feet of floor space for displaying its extensive stock. The stock will include radios, home and commercial refrigerators, home laundry equipment, vacuum cleaners, electric ranges, water heaters, dish washers, garbage disposals, butcher's market equipment and supplies and many electrical appliances.

The Refrigeration Equipment company has been given the General Electric franchise on all of the corporation's products sold in Ouachita parish, and has been given a commercial refrigeration franchise covering 16 parishes in northeast Louisiana.

A large shipment of General Electric's latest model radios, known as "Focused Tone" radios, have just been received by the new local firm. The shipment included both electric and battery radios. An experienced radio technician is a member of the firm's staff.

Repair parts for General Electric appliances and for appliances of other manufacturers are carried in the stock of the firm.

The company will be operated under the managership of P. "Mack" McKenzie, refrigeration and electrical appliance engineer with ten years experience in his profession. Another appliance engineer, O. M. Rucker, has accepted a position with the firm.

W. N. Cark, well known Monroe druggist, is the owner of the building in which the firm is located and holds a business interest in the company.

F. F. A. PLANS TOURS

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Educational tours through the fertilizer factory at Ruston and the Monroe Packing company have been planned by the Future Farmers of America chapter at the Choudrant High school. Other tours have also been planned.

from the polls, because "Father Divine," negro clergyman, with extraordinary influence over his followers, ordered them not to vote. He complained "not one of the major parties has come to me and accepted of my righteous government platform."

"Father Divine," who calls himself "Dean of the Universe," and is called "God" by his followers may find it necessary to run for president himself in 1940, and he might have other religious gentlemen running against him. Keeping pulpit and politics separate is no longer the fashion.

HOW MUCH do you think it cost to collect and count Tuesday's 45,000,000 votes? Some votes were expensive; for instance, the 40th election district of the 10th assembly district, in New York City, has just one voter, Rabbi Nathan Wolf, of the Times Square temple. He lives and preaches in the synagogue at 240 West 38th street, and it cost the city $500 to record his vote.

MAYOR LAGUARDIA of New York set a good example to other mayors, spending all of election day traveling from one voting place to another, listening to complaints, keeping track of conditions, visiting police stations. In one case he found a police captain not yet out of bed, in another, not yet dressed. He sent an alarm clock to the police commissioner with the suggestion that he give it to the sleepy police captains. There would have been fewer dishonest elections in New York City if that city had had more mayors like LaGuardia in the past.

HOW WAS the election weather in your part of this big country? In New York, where that gigantic vote was cast for President Roosevelt, it was June rather than November weather. Hood would have had to change his lines:

"No sun—no moon—no morn—no noon,
No dawn—no dusk—no proper time of day,
No warmth—no cheerfulness—no healthful ease,
No road, no street, no t'other side the way,
No comfortable feel in any member—
No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees,
No fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds,
November!"

LONDON was not excited about the election, showed little interest. It is hard for America to realize that our friends in Europe, outside of war time, when soldiers, supplies and money are needed, think as little about the United States as the United States, ordinarily, thinks about Australia.

COUGHLIN PLANS

they pledged to support our principles," Father Coughlin said, "I regret to announce that less than ten per cent of the National Union members lived up to their promises."

As a result of the overwhelming re-election of President Roosevelt, he said in evaluating the national balloting, "A one party form of government has been established in America. The Republican party and its philosophy of rugged individualism have gone forever. A new party composed partly of Democrats, of Socialists, of Communists, of Progressives and of Farmer-Laborites has been established under the banner of the New Deal."

Looking to the future, Father Coughlin said:

"Despite all the noisy opposition coming from the discredited newspapers and from other sources (which opposed Roosevelt), I foresee the revival of the NRA and the AAA. I envision America's entrance into the world court either directly or indirectly. I foretell an amendment to the constitution as drafted by the New Deal administration.

"I prophecy that the people of the United States will stand squarely behind Mr. Roosevelt as long as he stands squarely behind the promises which he has made. He is the hero of the hour. • • • He stands before the world as a new St. George, prepared to slay the dragon.

"But the poetry which surrounds the St. George oftentimes melts into gibberish prose before the noonday light of reality. But the people are oftentimes found to be fickle."

Consciously or unconsciously, Father Coughlin continued, "the American people have suspended the old pattern of their Democratic form of government. Today our citizens are following the trend so well marked in other nations insofar as they care less and less for a government of law and more and more for a government by a strong leader."

Concerning his withdrawal from the radio political activity which has occupied much of his time in the past two years, Father Coughlin said:

"I do not wish to leave the impression that either my own Bishop (Michael J.) Gallagher or his superiors at Rome have had anything to do with the decision which I am making tonight. This afternoon I told my bishop what I am telling you now. His stout heart was saddened because of my decision." • • •

Father Coughlin, when he founded his National Union in November 1934, asserted its "16 cardinal principles" alone could save the United States from "disaster or dictatorship." He soon claimed a membership of several million, both Catholic and Protestant.

The priest supported Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign, but renounced the president later and endorsed Lemke in the 1936 political campaign.

Twins comprise 1.07 per cent of the babies born in the United States. Twenty per cent of these are said to be twins of the identical type.

THEY ELOPED

The engagement of Julia Donahue, a cousin of heiress Barbara Hutton, and Tommy Higgins, 2d, was announced to New York society with a wedding set for January 2. Here you see them toasting their happiness—less than 12 hours after the betrothal announcement, they eloped to Armonk, N. Y., and married.

council had guaranteed against pillage and crime during crucial moments of defense of the capital.

General Jose Miaja headed the defense regime, named by the departing cabinet of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, who set up offices in Valencia.

MILITARY LEADERS ASSUME COMMAND

(By Associated Press)

MADRID, Nov. 7.—Spain's Socialist cabinet fled today while Fascist forces stormed close to the gates of the city.

A military committee took command of Madrid's defenses, replacing the civil government.

Hope the capital's defenders would consent to surrender the city without further defense was expressed by diplomatic sources.

An agreement under which prisoners and hostages would be exchanged, together with an insurgent guarantee of no reprisals without a fair trial was being negotiated.

The government later established headquarters in the Benicarlo palace at Valencia, where the ministers met in secret session.

The council of defense included four Socialists and four Syndicalists and two each from these party groups; Anarchists, Communists, General Workers union, left Republicans and Republican unionists.

Field headquarters for the Socialist general staff were set up at Tarracon, approximately 50 miles southeast of the capital.

The fleeing ministers gave full authority to General Jose Miaja to take whatever steps he deems necessary to defend the capital from the insurgent attacks. General Sebastian Pozas was named commander of defending forces as insurgents concentrated their attacks four miles from the city limits.

(The London foreign office was informed by G. A. D. Ogilvie-Forbes, British charge d'affaires in Madrid, that Fascist troops were entering the city at 5 p.m. (noon, eastern standard time).

Council members in Madrid, meanwhile, debated plans for the city's defense in lengthy sessions. The members did not announce their decisions.

Intent upon pushing into the capital, Fascist artillery continued heavy bombardment of the city's outlying section.

Inside, defending militiamen were ordered to "fight without quarter, without truce." Developments in the next 72 hours, the war ministry predicted, would tell the story of Madrid's successful defense or fall.

Throughout the city reinforcements were rushed to garrisons and barricades were erected at strategic points. Desperate Socialist soldiers used sandbags, paving stones, bundles of newspapers and virtually anything they could obtain to build blockades against the projected insurgent entry.

A never-ending stream of refugees flowed into the city from nearby war zones, adding to the confused situation in the capital's interior. Authorities requisitioned unoccupied houses and basements of apartment buildings for dormitories for women and children driven from their homes by the artillery and aviation bombardment. An official announcement over the government radio station instructed all apartment building superintendents to report vacancies in their buildings for possible use by refugees.

Throughout the capital, terrified residents were asking this question:

"Will the Moors (insurgent legionnaires) kill us all? What will they do?"

A portion of the city's population began a hasty exodus for the eastern seaports where they hoped to find havens from the expected Fascist assault.

(Insurgent commanders reported recently their froces had cut railway communications between Madrid and the eastern Spanish coast by severing the railroad near Aranjuez. Fascist bombing planes were declared to have blown up the tracks in the vicinity of Castillejos and Algodor.)

Outside the capital, Fascist and Socialist batteries sent a barrage of shells into government and insurgent positions. The roar of the gunnery duel could be heard inside the city, even to the central Puerto del Sol.

MORE LICENSES SOLD

JENA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Up until the middle of this week, 600 hunting licenses had been sold by the sheriff's office, according to Office Deputy A. B. Russell of LaSalle parish. This is a very large increase over previous years and Mr. Russell says that it is due to the advance reports of large quantities of game this year.

SALES TAX STANDS

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Failure of the amendment to section 112 of the state constitution to be ratified in the general election last week in no way affects the validity of the current sales tax token law, enacted by the 1936 legislature, the attorney general ruled in an opinion which was made public today by the state tax commission.

they pledged to support our principles," Father Coughlin said, "I regret to announce that less than ten per cent of the National Union members lived up to their promises."

As a result of the overwhelming re-election of President Roosevelt, he said in evaluating the national balloting, "A one party form of government has been established in America. The Republican party and its philosophy of rugged individualism have gone forever. A new party composed partly of Democrats, of Socialists, of Communists, of Progressives and of Farmer-Laborites has been established under the banner of the New Deal."

Looking to the future, Father Coughlin said:

"Despite all the noisy opposition coming from the discredited newspapers and from other sources (which opposed Roosevelt), I foresee the revival of the NRA and the AAA. I envision America's entrance into the world court either directly or indirectly. I foretell an amendment to the constitution as drafted by the New Deal administration.

"I prophecy that the people of the United States will stand squarely behind Mr. Roosevelt as long as he stands squarely behind the promises which he has made. He is the hero of the hour. * * * He stands before the world as a new St. George, prepared to slay the dragon.

"But the poetry which surrounds the St. George oftentimes melts into gibberish prose before the noonday light of reality. But the people are oftentimes found to be fickle."

Consciously or unconsciously, Father Coughlin continued, "the American people have suspended the old pattern of their Democratic form of government. Today our citizens are following the trend so well marked in other nations insofar as they care less and less for a government of law and more and more for a government by a strong leader."

Concerning his withdrawal from the radio political activity which has occupied much of his time in the past two years, Father Coughlin said:

"I do not wish to leave the impression that either my own Bishop (Michael J.) Gallagher or his superiors at Rome have had anything to do with the decision which I am making tonight. This afternoon I told my bishop what I am telling you now. His stout heart was saddened because of my decision." * * *

Father Coughlin, when he founded his National Union in November 1934, asserted its "16 cardinal principles" alone could save the United States from "disaster or dictatorship." He soon claimed a membership of several million, both Catholic and Protestant.

The priest supported Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign, but renounced the president later and endorsed Lemke in the 1936 political campaign.

council had guaranteed against pillage and crime during crucial moments of defense of the capital.

General Jose Miaja headed the defense regime, named by the departing cabinet of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, who set up offices in Valencia.

MILITARY LEADERS ASSUME COMMAND

(By Associated Press)

MADRID, Nov. 7.—Spain's Socialist cabinet fled today while Fascist forces stormed close to the gates of the city.

A military committee took command of Madrid's defenses, replacing the civil government.

Hope the capital's defenders would consent to surrender the city without further defense was expressed by diplomatic sources.

An agreement under which prisoners and hostages would be exchanged, together with an insurgent guarantee of no reprisals without a fair trial was being negotiated.

The government later established headquarters in the Benicarlo palace at Valencia, where the ministers met in secret session.

The council of defense included four Socialists and four Syndicalists and two each from these party groups; Anarchists, Communists, General Workers union, left Republicans and Republican unionists.

Field headquarters for the Socialist general staff were set up at Tarracon, approximately 50 miles southeast of the capital.

The fleeing ministers gave full authority to General Jose Miaja to take whatever steps he deems necessary to defend the capital from the insurgent attacks. General Sebastian Pozas was named commander of defending forces as insurgents concentrated their attacks four miles from the city limits.

(The London foreign office was informed by G. A. D. Ogilvie-Forbes, British charge d'affaires in Madrid, that Fascist troops were entering the city at 5 p.m. (noon, eastern standard time).

Council members in Madrid, meanwhile, debated plans for the city's defense in lengthy sessions. The members did not announce their decisions.

Intent upon pushing into the capital, Fascist artillery continued heavy bombardment of the city's outlying section.

Inside, defending militiamen were ordered to "fight without quarter, without truce." Developments in the next 72 hours, the war ministry predicted, would tell the story of Madrid's successful defense or fall.

Throughout the city reinforcements were rushed to garrisons and barricades were erected at strategic points. Desperate Socialist soldiers used sandbags, paving stones, bundles of newspapers and virtually anything they could obtain to build blockades against the projected insurgent entry.

A never-ending stream of refugees flowed into the city from nearby war zones, adding to the confused situation in the capital's interior. Authorities requisitioned unoccupied houses and basements of apartment buildings for dormitories for women and children driven from their homes by the artillery and aviation bombardment. An official announcement over the government radio station instructed all apartment building superintendents to report vacancies in their buildings for possible use by refugees.

Throughout the capital, terrified residents were asking this question:

"Will the Moors (insurgent legionnaires) kill us all? What will they do?"

A portion of the city's population began a hasty exodus for the eastern seaports where they hoped to find havens from the expected Fascist assault.

(Insurgent commanders reported recently their froces had cut railway communications between Madrid and the eastern Spanish coast by severing the railroad near Aranjuez. Fascist bombing planes were declared to have blown up the tracks in the vicinity of Castillejos and Algodor.)

Outside the capital, Fascist and Socialist batteries sent a barrage of shells into government and insurgent positions. The roar of the gunnery duel could be heard inside the city, even to the central Puerto del Sol.

MORE LICENSES SOLD

JENA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Up until the middle of this week, 600 hunting licenses had been sold by the sheriff's office, according to Office Deputy A. B. Russell of LaSalle parish. the facts of one of the biggest news stories of the year, ahead of Oldfield's rival news gatherers.

The exact code words are unimportant. Oldfield may have said, "How is my wife?"

But they were definite words—and they meant definite facts. His first message told the cable-desk editor in London: "Authoritative sources say the government is reported planning to abandon the capital."

Later, he called again. "Is my wife better?" may have been his words, sounding unimportant to the censor at his elbow. But again the words had a definite meaning: "It is confirmed that the government has resolved to flee the capital."

An uncertain fate hung over Oldfield as he spoke the words. The government had repeatedly warned correspondents of "serious penalties" for anyone spreading uncensored information abroad.

Oldfield, an expert linguist, speaking both Spanish and French as fluently as English, was educated in Paris and London. He is married and the father of a 9-months-old son.

BOLSHEVIST REVOLT ANNIVERSARY NOTED

MOSCOW, Nov. 7—(AP)—A stream of men, women and machines flowed through Red square today in salute to Russia's leader, Joseph Stalin, at the dawn of the 20th year of the Bolshevist revolution.

Estimated unofficially to number 1,000,000, the marchers passed by the Mausoleum of Nicolai Lenin, one of the founders of the Soviet state, atop which stood a little group of men who direct Russia's destinies.

In biting cold weather, Stalin stood smartly at attention throughout the demonstration, which took most of the day. He was bareheaded and his right hand, held almost constantly in salute, was ungloved.

TWO NEW PATROL CARS DELIVERED TO POLICE

Two 1937 model automobiles were delivered to the Monroe police department yesterday for use of patrol officers. The cars replace two automobiles which had been in use 24 hours each day for two years.

One new motorcycle was added yesterday to the traffic division of the police department, which recently was assigned an additional motorcycle officer, giving the division a total of three such officers and one sergeant who uses an automobile.

The new vehicles are equipped with new sirens which will not be sounded except in emergency cases requiring a quickly cleared path through traffic, it was asserted by C. R. Tidwell, superintendent of the police department.

national defense, and the social security program. They said, however, that the question of whether next year's financial ledger will be written in black or red ink will depend largely upon the not-yet-estimated relief burden.

Rising government revenues have increased the possibility that the budget may be balanced next year. But many financial experts doubt that this alone would suffice, without drastically curtailed expenditure.

Closed hearings at which department representatives have outlined their next year's needs to the budget bureau have been under way for a month. Little information regarding them has leaked out, but some who have appeared before the bureau said their estimates had been challenged as too high.

In calling for spending estimates, Bell told department heads that "every possible effort should be made to bring each item below the corresponding appropriation for the fiscal year 1937."

Some departments are known to have expanded activities in mind, however, and the final decision as to whether these will be suggested to congress will rest with the president.

If the budget should be balanced next year, it would be the first time since 1930 that the government had lived within its income.

WRECK ATTEMPT PENALTY IMPOSED

Negro Pleads Guilty; Given 1 To 3 Years For Driving Spikes

Pleading guilty in district court here yesterday morning to a charge of obstructing rails of the Missouri Pacific railroad by driving spikes between the ends of some rails, Joe Sewell, negro about 35 years of age, was sentenced to serve from one to three years in the state penitentiary. The sentence was imposed by Judge David I. Garrett.

The maximum sentence that could have been imposed was five years.

No explanation of why Sewell placed the spikes between the rails was given.

Sewell was arrested by members of the sheriff's department after he attempted to wreck a train on the Missouri branch railroad to Farmerville, about 12 miles from Monroe.

The arrest was made after a railroad motor car was wrecked by spikes placed between the rails. G. L. Baker, telephone line inspector for the railroad, was riding on the motor car. After his car was wrecked he saw Sewell running down the tracks some distance away, and reported the circumstances to the sheriff's department.

Members of the department found seven spikes wedged between ends of the rails over a distance of 750 feet.

Sewell resided on the old gravel road section of the Sterlington road about eight miles from Monroe.

Of the dollar that is received for the roll call, 50 cents goes to national headquarters and 50 cents stays here at home, but when a larger sum than a dollar is given by a donor in the roll call, only 50 cents goes to national headquarters, the remainder being kept here in this parish.

Leaders of the Red Cross roll call have adopted this slogan for the 1936 roll call:

"If you join the Red Cross, if you contribute to the Red Cross, you are joining an organization that makes you a partner in glory."

Every possible effort will be exerted to enable the roll call of 1936 to reach new high levels to correspond with improved business and general financial conditions that exist here and throughout the entire country.

The biggest problem, however, will be providing rooms for the great convention throng.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school, who is vice-president of the teachers' association, is acting as an adviser to the committee in working out its plans.

"Most of the teachers who come to the convention," Miss Rodgers said, "will be prepared to pay $1 each night for accommodations where more than one person would be accommodated in a room. Anyone who would expect the exclusive use of a room, would naturally be willing to pay more."

The Chamber of Commerce committee will devote itself to obtaining necessary rooms. Householders who may be prepared to give breakfast to the delegates may make such arrangements as they desire with their guests, it was stated by the committee chairman.

A special appeal is to be made to restaurants, cafeterias and coffee shops to provide ample facilities for the prompt and efficient feeding of the great throng that will crowd the city for the convention, which begins Thursday, November 19 and will continue through Saturday, November 21.

A one-story frame residence located at 600 Moore street, in Biedenharn addition, was badly damaged by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire started in the kitchen and destroyed that room and the bath room before the flames were extinguished by firemen. Yesterday morning firemen were called to a drying room on the ground floor of the Monroe hotel where some clothes had caught fire. The damage was confined to the clothes, it was reported.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT CASE SCHEDULED

R. B. Alexander And Solomon Sheftall Appear For Trial Monday

A district court case which is expected to be the most interesting of the unusually light docket of the fall jury term of the court, now in session, will go on trial Monday morning at 10 o'clock when R. B. Alexander and Solomon Sheftall, young Monroe men, appear before the court on charges of assault with intent to rob, in connection with the attempted robbery of Henry C. Mickie here some months ago.

The attempted robbery of Mickie took place as he returned to his home, 401 Breard street, late at night. A hold-up man appeared at the steps of the home and ordered Mickie to throw up his hands. Mickie replied by pulling a pistol from his pocket and firing. He wounded the would-be robber, who remained at the spot because he was unable to flee. Later, police who arrested the wounded man learned that he was W. L. Applin, Port Gibson, Miss., youth. Applin later turned alleged evidence against Alexander and Sheftall.

It was during the spring grand jury's investigation of the robbery attempt that Alexander and Sheftall were arrested. They were taken in custody in Arkansas, after suddenly leaving Monroe.

Applin has entered a plea of guilty in the case, but his sentence has been withheld pending the trial of Alexander and Sheftall. Attorney George Wesley Smith is defending the latter two men.

The case against the pair was scheduled for trial in a special session of the court early last summer, but did not go on trial because Attorney Smith had the entire jury list discharged. He did this because a member of the jury commission which drew the jurors' names had not, at that time, been cleared of a manslaughter charge.

Applin, made a trusty prisoner of the parish jail, escaped some time later after locking the jailer inside the jail, but was re-captured at Collinston.

WARNING

however, has not been effective. In the last few days we have had reports of the destruction of a number of street lamps and the killing of numbers of birds that right now are coming south for the winter.

"The only action left for the police department to take in the circumstances is to confiscate firearms which are being unlawfully used. Parents themselves are responsible for the situation and by failing to prevent their children from firing weapons in the city limits are leaving themselves liable to punishment.

"The police department has no wish to impose hardships on children who are engaged in wholesome play, but it cannot condone acts that are an infringement on the rights of the public at large. The practice of destroying street lamps and glass insulators is a costly one for the taxpayers, and might lead to disastrous consequences through the interruption of the power and light system of the city, as occurred several years ago.

"The killing of birds is not only reprehensible, but is a serious menace to the public health and the economic life of the community.

"It is as much the duty of the parents to stop the practice as it is that of the police department. But if the practice is not stopped, police officers are instructed to take up firearms which they find are being discharged inside the city limits. If this doesn't serve the purpose, more stringent measures will have to be adopted."

the facts of one of the biggest news stories of the year, ahead of Oldfield's rival news gatherers.

The exact code words are unimportant. Oldfield may have said, "How is my wife?"

But they were definite words—and they meant definite facts. His first message told the cable-desk editor in London: "Authoritative sources say the government is reported planning to abandon the capital."

Later, he called again. "Is my wife better?" may have been his words, sounding unimportant to the censor at his elbow. But again the words had a definite meaning: "It is confirmed that the government has resolved to flee the capital."

An uncertain fate hung over Oldfield as he spoke the words. The government had repeatedly warned correspondents of "serious penalties" for anyone spreading uncensored information abroad.

Oldfield, an expert linguist, speaking both Spanish and French as fluently as English, was educated in Paris and London. He is married and the father of a 9-months-old son.

BOLSHEVIST REVOLT ANNIVERSARY NOTED

MOSCOW, Nov. 7—(AP)—A stream of men, women and machines flowed through Red square today in salute to Russia's leader, Joseph Stalin, at the dawn of the 20th year of the Bolshevist revolution.

Estimated unofficially to number 1,000,000, the marchers passed by the Mausoleum of Nicolai Lenin, one of the founders of the Soviet state, atop which stood a little group of men who direct Russia's destinies.

In biting cold weather, Stalin stood smartly at attention throughout the demonstration, which took most of the day. He was bareheaded and his right hand, held almost constantly in salute, was ungloved.

TWO NEW PATROL CARS DELIVERED TO POLICE

Two 1937 model automobiles were delivered to the Monroe police department yesterday for use of patrol officers. The cars replace two automobiles which had been in use 24 hours each day for two years.

One new motorcycle was added yesterday to the traffic division of the police department, which recently was assigned an additional motorcycle officer, giving the division a total of three such officers and one sergeant who uses an automobile.

The new vehicles are equipped with new sirens which will not be sounded except in emergency cases requiring a quickly cleared path through traffic, it was asserted by C. R. Tidwell, superintendent of the police department.

national defense, and the social security program. They said, however, that the question of whether next year's financial ledger will be written in black or red ink will depend largely upon the not-yet-estimated relief burden.

Rising government revenues have increased the possibility that the budget may be balanced next year. But many financial experts doubt that this alone would suffice, without drastically curtailed expenditure.

Closed hearings at which department representatives have outlined their next year's needs to the budget bureau have been under way for a month. Little information regarding them has leaked out, but some who have appeared before the bureau said their estimates had been challenged as too high.

In calling for spending estimates, Bell told depatrument heads that "every possible effort should be made to bring each item below the corresponding appropriation for the fiscal year 1937."

Some departments are known to have expanded activities in mind, however, and the final decision as to whether these will be suggested to congress will rest with the president.

If the budget should be balanced next year, it would be the first time since 1930 that the government had lived within its income.

WRECK ATTEMPT PENALTY IMPOSED

Negro Pleads Guilty; Given 1 To 3 Years For Driving Spikes

Pleading guilty in district court here yesterday morning to a charge of obstructing rails of the Missouri Pacific railroad by driving spikes between the ends of some rails, Joe Sewell, negro about 35 years of age, was sentenced to serve from one to three years in the state penitentiary. The sentence was imposed by Judge David I. Garrett.

The maximum sentence that could have been imposed was five years.

No explanation of why Sewell placed the spikes between the rails was given.

Sewell was arrested by members of the sheriff's department after he attempted to wreck a train on the Missouri branch railroad to Farmerville, about 12 miles from Monroe.

The arrest was made after a railroad motor car was wrecked by spikes placed between the rails. G. L. Baker, telephone line inspector for the railroad, was riding on the motor car. After his car was wrecked he saw Sewell running down the tracks some distance away, and reported the circumstances to the sheriff's department.

Members of the department found seven spikes wedged between ends of the rails over a distance of 750 feet.

Sewell resided on the old gravel road section of the Sterlington road about eight miles from Monroe.

Of the dollar that is received for the roll call, 50 cents goes to national headquarters and 50 cents stays here at home, but when a larger sum than a dollar is given by a donor in the roll call, only 50 cents goes to national headquarters, the remainder being kept here in this parish.

Leaders of the Red Cross roll call have adopted this slogan for the 1936 roll call:

"If you join the Red Cross, if you contribute to the Red Cross, you are joining an organization that makes you a partner in glory."

Every possible effort will be exerted to enable the roll call of 1936 to reach new high levels to correspond with improved business and general financial conditions that exist here and throughout the entire country.

and Frances hotels and for the stationing of automobiles for emergency use during the convention.

The biggest problem, however, will be providing rooms for the great convention throng.

Miss Myrle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school, who is vice-president of the teachers' association, is acting as an adviser to the committee in working out its plans.

"Most of the teachers who come to the convention," Miss Rodgers said, "will be prepared to pay $1 each night for accommodations where more than one person would be accommodated in a room. Anyone who would expect the exclusive use of a room, would naturally be willing to pay more."

The Chamber of Commerce committee will devote itself to obtaining necessary rooms. Householders who may be prepared to give breakfast to the delegates may make such arrangements as they desire with their guests, it was stated by the committee chairman.

A special appeal is to be made to restaurants, cafeterias and coffee shops to provide ample facilities for the prompt and efficient feeding of the great throng that will crowd the city for the convention, which begins Thursday, November 19 and will continue through Saturday, November 21.

TWO ROOMS OF RESIDENCE HERE DESTROYED BY FIRE

A one-story frame residence located at 600 Moore street, in Biedenharn addition, was badly damaged by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire started in the kitchen and destroyed that room and the bath room before the flames were extinguished by firemen. The residence is owned by the People's Homestead and Savings association and occupied by W. T. Trice.

Yesterday morning firemen were called to a drying room on the ground floor of the Monroe hotel where some clothes had caught fire. The damage was confined to the clothes, it was reported.

Two grass fires, located at Speed and North Sixth street and at K and North Sixth streets were extinguished by firemen during the day.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT CASE SCHEDULED

R. B. Alexander And Solomon Sheftall Appear For Trial Monday

A district court case which is expected to be the most interesting of the unusually light docket of the fall jury term of the court, now in session, will go on trial Monday morning at 10 o'clock when R. B. Alexander and Solomon Sheftall, young Monroe men, appear before the court on charges of assault with intent to rob, in connection with the attempted robbery of Henry C. Mickie here some months ago.

The attempted robbery of Mickie took place as he returned to his home, 401 Breard street, late at night. A hold-up man appeared at the steps of the home and ordered Mickie to throw up his hands. Mickie replied by pulling a pistol from his pocket and firing. He wounded the would-be robber, who remained at the spot because he was unable to flee. Later, police who arrested the wounded man learned that he was W. L. Applin, Port Gibson, Miss., youth. Applin later turned alleged evidence against Alexander and Sheftall.

It was during the spring grand jury's investigation of the robbery attempt that Alexander and Sheftall were arrested. They were taken in custody in Arkansas, after suddenly leaving Monroe.

Applin has entered a plea of guilty in the case, but his sentence has been withheld pending the trial of Alexander and Sheftall. Attorney George Wesley Smith is defending the latter two men.

The case against the pair was scheduled for trial in a special session of the court early last summer, but did not go on trial because Attorney Smith had the entire jury list discharged. He did this because a member of the jury commission which drew the jurors' names had not, at that time, been cleared of a manslaughter charge.

Applin, made a trusty prisoner of the parish jail, escaped some time later after locking the jailer inside the jail, but was re-captured at Collinston.

however, has not been effective. In the last few days we have had reports of the destruction of a number of street lamps and the killing of numbers of birds that right now are coming south for the winter.

"The only action left for the police department to take in the circumstances is to confiscate firearms which are being unlawfully used. Parents themselves are responsible for the situation and by failing to prevent their children from firing weapons in the city limits are leaving themselves liable to punishment.

"The police department has no wish to impose hardships on children who are engaged in wholesome play, but it cannot condone acts that are an infringement on the rights of the public at large. The practice of destroying street lamps and glass insulators is a costly one for the taxpayers, and might lead to disastrous consequences through the interruption of the power and light system of the city, as occurred several years ago.

"The killing of birds is not only reprehensible, but is a serious menace to the public health and the economic life of the community.

"It is as much the duty of the parents to stop the practice as it is that of the police department. But if the practice is not stopped, police officers are instructed to take up firearms which they find are being discharged inside the city limits. If this doesn't serve the purpose, more stringent measures will have to be adopted."

L. S. U. BEATS MISSISSIPPI STATE

SPORTS Chatter

BY GEO. V. LOFTON

BOWL BABBLE

Following yesterday's football developments, its looks like Louisiana State and Alabama will get plenty of consideration when the time comes to pick a team to represent the east in the Rose Bowl next January.

Alabama routed Tulane, 34 to 7, yesterday, while L. S. U. trimmed Mississippi State, 12-0. The Crimson Tide won over the Maroons by a 7-0 score earlier in the season; thus a comparison of scores gives the Tigers an edge.

The east is booming Fordham for the nomination, but whether or not the Pacific coast wants an eastern team remains to be seen. It's conceded that college officials and fans alike prefer a southern team out there, and if L. S. U. trims Tulane on the 28th, as they're supposed to do, it's an even bet that the Tigers or Alabama will get the bid.

With the exception of Columbia's 7-0 upset of Stanford in 1934, eastern teams have fared poorly at Pasadena. Southern California walloped Pittsburgh 35-0 in 1933 and in 1930 the Trojans poured it on the Panthers to the tune of 47-14. Back in 1928 Stanford nosed out Pitt, 7-6. You'll remember that Colgate was "unbeaten, unscored on an unwanted" several years ago, and Fordham may find itself in the same boat this year. Eastern teams are not particularly colorful when compared to southern entries and the fans just don't go for them. It takes the boys from Dixie to draw the crowds.

The field undoubtedly has narrowed down to Fordham, L. S. U. and Alabama, with possibly Marquette and Nebraska having a chance. Pitt was beaten by Duquesne and tied by Fordham. Fordham, L. S. U. and Alabama have been tied, Fordham by Pitt, L. S. U. by Texas and Alabama by Tennessee. Marquette is undefeated but their showing against little Creighton yesterday probably will hurt. Nebraska lost to Minnesota.

The Southwest is out of it. S. M. U. lost a fluke decision to Fordham earlier in the season but yesterday Texas A. and M. blasted the Mustangs out of the picture.

L. S. U. has to play Auburn and Tulane, while Alabama meets Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. Both the Tigers and the Tide are favorites in these remaining games.

Any way you look at it, Louisiana State must be given serious consideration for the bid.

CONFIRMATION

Some of the boys thought we were a bit too enthusiastic over Louisiana Tech's showing against Tulane to bring back an unbiased report of the proceedings in the Greenie stadium a week ago. We admit that we were hoping all along that the Bulldogs would pull one of those upsets, but we weren't talking through our hat when we wrote that McLane's lads had the Wave thoroughly befuddled in that hectic fourth quarter.

To show you that we weren't letting our enthusiasm run away with us we're going to publish the first four paragraphs of the story written by Charles L. Dufour of the Item. Mr. Dufour would be inclined to lean just as far one way as we would the other, so praise from him comes directly from the enemy camp. Here it is:

"A fighting Louisiana Tech team, swept off its feet in the first quarter by three touchdown rushes by "Dub" Mattis, gathered its battered forces and outplayed the best 'Red' Dawson could put on the field for the last three periods of the game before bowing to Tulane, 22 to 13, before 12,000 fans at Tulane stadium Saturday afternoon.

"Tech, ripe to 'chuck' it early, showed indomitable courage and at the end, the upstate Bulldogs actually had the great Green Wave hanging on.

"Behind 22 to 0, Tech scored twice in the last period and seemed headed for a third score when Mattis intercepted a pass on the Greenies' 23-yard line and ran it back almost to midfield.

"Tech didn't pick on the Greenie subs, either. Tulane's best team was on the field when the scrappy Bulldogs went after the Wave with a vengeance."

GRID ENTHUSIAST

We met one of those all-American football fans Friday night. He's George Edmiston of Tampa, Fla., who accompanied the Tampa football team to Ruston for the Tech game. He's a real football bug.

Coach Nash Higgins, to whom we were indebted last December for a swell time at Tampa, came over after Friday night's game and brought Mr. Edmiston and several other members of the Tampa party with him. Eddie McLane steered the gang over from Ruston.

Mr. Edmiston already has traveled more than four thousand miles to and from football games this season. He drove up from Tampa to see the Spartans and Bulldogs clash, and said it was well worth the trip. The week before he drove to Chicago and saw Marquette and St. Mary's play on Friday night and Minnesota and Northwestern do battle Saturday afternoon. Apparently football takes up most of his time, for he always drives back to Tampa after a game, and then starts from there for the next tilt.

Mr. Edmiston's big Packard usually contains two or three other Tampa grid bugs. This trip he brought along Bill Houlihan and Gene Wilson.

"And if a southern team plays in the Rose Bowl, you'll find me headed for Pasadena with a car load," he said.

SPORTS FODDER

Should Don Barnes, president of a St. Louis investment company, and Bill DeWitt, treasurer of the Cardinals, swing the deal which will change the ownership of the Browns, the new backers will give the American league its first night baseball. Rogers Hornsby will be retained as manager, which would be unthinkable under the executors of the Phil Ball estate despite his contract which still has two years to run.

St. Mary's may drop Fordham from its schedule because the Polo Grounds grabs 25 per cent, or $26,000 out of a $112,000 gate, compared with Soldier Field in Chicago, which asks only a ten per cent rental.

Red Cagle, who used to say it with touchdowns at West Point until he was forced to resign in 1930 for getting married, says the present team is the finest Army has had since 1926.

Showings of the leading golf professionals in P. G. A. tournament at Pinehurst this month and in the Miami Biltmore $10,000 Open early in December will help decide the ten members of the Ryder Cup team for the trip to England next summer, which will be announced shortly after January 1.

Sonja Henie of Norway, the Olympic figure skater, plans to take out American citizenship papers.

Something like $90,000—give or take a few—annually goes to the visiting team which wins the invitation to play in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

When Carl Hubbell violated Bill Terry's stern order not to talk contract during the off-season, by claiming he pitched the Giants into $150,000 in world series profits and wanted his cut, it was taken to mean the screwball king will be the first of the 1937 holdouts, although he always has come to terms peacefully in the past.

And now the University of California is reported to be seeking Lou Little of Columbia as its football coach.

Joe Whalen, national professional tennis champion now in Miami for the winter season, maintains paid racqueteers will outnumber topflight amateur stars within three or four years.

Instead of a syndicate financing an America's Cup defense candidate, Harold S. Vanderbilt will build the boat himself without outside monetary aid.

In a poll of the Racing Form handicappers and experts to determine the champion in each division for 1936, Granville tops the lists of both the three-year-olds and best at any age.

Kentucky has stopped talking about its backfield performers to nominate Gene Myers, 200-pound center, for all-America honors. Line Coach Tom Gorman, himself a former Notre Dame star, says he never has seen Myers' equal.

Frank Hawks, ace of the air speed kings, is expected to enter his new plane, "Time Flies," in the All-American Air races at Miami, Fla., starting December 10.

GIANTS OF JENA TO PLAY LAST HOME GAME FRIDAY

JENA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The final home game of the season for the Jena Giants against the Olla-Standard Tigers will be played in Jena next Friday afternoon by the school. This day has been proclaimed "Senior day," in view of the fact that this will be the last time some of the players will ever don a Jena High suit on this field. The students are expected to pay a few cents extra in order to buy letters for the players to show their appreciation for their service.

The pep squad, under the direction of Misses Merle Owens, Leona Hendrix, Ruth Bishop and Louise Gahraran, will be in charge of all activities. The players who will probably play their last game here Friday are: John White and Jones Bradford, regular guards; James Smith, regular center; Alton Willis, regular end; Woodie Doshier, Bill Hodges, Fred Lees, G. D. Anders and J. P. Wade, Jr., backs.

OLE MISS EASILY WALLOPS LOYOLA ELEVEN, 34 TO 0

Rebels Score In First Three Plays In Routing New Orleans Team

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi defeated Loyola of New Orleans here today, 34-0, playing before Governors Hugh White of Mississippi and Richard Leche of Louisiana.

Passes accounted for the first two Ole Miss touchdowns, but straight drives down the field were responsible for the balance, with Parker Hall's throwing and running proving a thorn in the Wolfpack side all day.

The Rebels took only three plays to chalk up their first touchdown, big Hapes passing to Red Jackson for a 54 yard advance. A behind-the-line toss from Hapes to Dave Bernard gained 27 yards a few minutes later, and Bernard took it over after two plays from the Loyola 3.

A 19 yard run by Hall, a pass from Hall to Hapes and a 6 yard dash round his own left end by Hall were items mainly responsible for the third Red touchdown.

The home team took Loyola's opening kickoff in the second half and marched 79 yards only to find the drive halted at the Wolfpack 9 yard line. A partially blocked punt gave Ole Miss the ball on Loyola's 11, and Peters sped through his own left tackle to score standing up.

Buster Poole juggled Hape's throw over the goal line late in the third quarter, but regained possession for the Rebs' final marker.

Bruiser Kinard, place kicking four of the five attempts and throwing back Loyola plays all through the day, was the standout linesman on the field.

Captain Merchant for Loyola stopped Ole Miss on more than one occasion. A fast charging Rebel line failed to allow Eddie Daigle and Clay Calhoun, Loyola aces, a chance to get away.

First downs favored Ole Miss, 17 to 4.

TRIUMPH OF ALABAMA FEATURES GAMES IN CONFERENCE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

The hopes of Tulane's wonder team for an undefeated season and possible Rose Bowl consideration fell in the wreckage of a crushing defeat when Alabama's Crimson Tide all but washed the Green Wave off the field Saturday in the feature battle of the Southeastern conference.

Alabama packed up a 34 to 7 victory over Tulane, heretofore tied but undefeated, in a day of conference warfare which produced another surprise in Auburn's close shave with Georgia Tech.

Tech's golden shirted Engineers cuffed the Plainsmen all over the lot most of the way, but Auburn took advantage of two "breaks" to come out ahead, 13 to 12.

Louisiana State university, coasting along toward a second straight Southeastern conference title, continued on its unbeaten way, whipping Mississippi State 12 to 0.

Vanderbilt had a hard time winning from Sewanee, shoving over a brace of markers in the final period to win a ding-dong affair, 14 to 0. After reserves failed to score, the Varsity went in to win the game.

Given a breathing spell, Tennessee overwhelmed Maryville 34 to 0 and Mississippi won easily by the same score from another conference outsider, Loyola of New Orleans.

Kentucky dropped a 13 to 7 decision to Manhattan in the only intersectional battle of the day.

Lee Stokes Kicks Field Goal In Last Ten Seconds To Gain Draw

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Coolly taking advantage of a real break—a high, wind-hindered punt that put his team in scoring position—Lee Stokes, center, booted a field goal with 10 seconds to play and Centenary's Gentlemen ended up in a 3 to 3 tie today with Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane.

The Hurricane stopped a goalward march on the 23 and took the ball. McClane's boot sailed nearly straight up where a stiff north wind caught it. Centenary downed it on the six yard line, couldn't gain and then Stokes' field goal from the 18 knotted the count.

Forrest Gregory, the polished kicker who made the tied goal which beat Kansas State here last week, made the home team's field goal today. He sent the ball sailing squarely between the posts from the 14 yard line in the middle of the second.

CRIMSON TIDE TEARS WAVE'S LINE TO PIECES

Joe Riley Leads Powerful Alabama Eleven To Overwhelming Triumph

By LeRoy A. Simms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP)—An amazingly powerful Alabama eleven brought its name to the forefront with the nation's gridiron leaders here today with a smashing 34 to 7 victory over completely outclassed Tulane.

Scoring in every period, Alabama tore the Tulane line to shreds to remain unbeaten and very much in the running for Rose Bowl and Southeastern conference honors.

An overcast sky, which threatened rain constantly, held attendance to 18,000.

Tulane drove to a touchdown in the first five minutes, scoring on Mattis' 42-yard sprint around left end, but after that one flurry, Alabama seized the upper hand and kept it.

The Crimson Tide, rolling with all the fury of previous Rose Bowl champions, counted twice before the first period ended. Joe Riley, who gained 168 yards from scrimmage during the afternoon, dashed 54 yards for the first marker, and Joe Kilgrow, another back Tulane couldn't stop, tossed a pass to Tex Shoemaker for the second.

With Tarzan White and his mates in the Alabama line blasting great holes through Tulane's forwards, Kilgrow and Riley alternated in running to the Tulane 15 in the next period, from where Riley passed to Warren, in the end zone, for another score.

It was Joe Riley again who furnished the spark for the next touchdown, in the third quarter. Starting at midfield, he cut through his right tackle, veered sharply to the left and raced to the two-yard line, where Bryan, a great battler for a losing cause, threw him out of bounds. Nisbet scored standing up, two plays later.

LeRoy Monsky speared a pass from Bryan on Tulane's 23, and scampered for a touchdown midway of the final period. Kilgrow, who had sent four placements squarely over the bars, lost his chance to make it five when his effort was blocked.

Great downfield blocking, and smashing line play, particularly by White and Shoemaker, made Alabama's triumph an easy one.

Tulane entered the contest a slight favorite, by virtue of victories over Colgate, Centenary, North Carolina and Mississippi, and a tie with the powerful Auburn team, but the outcome was never in doubt after the opening period.

WASHINGTON CREW COACH RESCUES PAIR FROM LAKE

SEATTLE, Nov. 7. — (AP) — Crew Coach Al Ulbrickson of the mighty Washington Huskies won a race himself—against threatening death for two capsized student canoeists.

The Olympic champions' mentor was putting freshmen crews through drill on Lake Washington yesterday when he saw Joy Emerald Hauser, Butte, Mont., and Bernard E. Collier, Sequim, Wash., struggling beside the overturned craft.

He sent the coaching launch speeding to the rescue and dragged the chilled, utterly exhausted pair aboard.

"The canoe was a quarter of a mile off when we first saw it," Ulbrickson said. "The girl was clinging to the canoe and the boy was trying to reach shore to get a boat and save her when we picked them up. They were about finished."

Miss Hauser and Collier were taken to the university infirmary. Attendants said they were recovering rapidly.

Rhom And Tinsley Tally In Great Defensive Battle Before 22,000

By Quincy Ewing

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Louisiana State university beat down probably the strongest opposition it has faced this season and kept marching toward the Southeastern grid title today by whipping Mississippi State, 12 to 0.

It was one of the greatest football games seen in Tiger stadium in years. Louisiana State expected trouble from the Mississippians and got it. The Bayou Tigers were compelled to draw on every ounce of their power and versatility to conquer.

Louisiana knew Mississippi State had a great defense, and so did 22,000 spectators that saw the battle, and before the game was over the Bayou Tigers and the crowd knew the Maroons from Starkville had a fine set of backs that would provide an offense for any team .

Louisiana State started out "hot" and looked like it would make the contest a walkaway, but the Maroons stiffened and an L. S. U. touchdown in the second period on a 46-yard run by Rohm, without the extra point added, failed to ice the contest. It wasn't until the final period, when Tinsley took a pass from Coffee and raced over the line, that the game was in the Louisiana bag.

It was a contest of two great lines and two opposing sets of ever-threatening backs, marked by slashing offensive and defensive play. Realizing soon after the opening kickoff that it was in for a struggle, Louisiana State tried for a field goal from the Mississippi State 14, with Coffee booting, but the try failed.

Later in the first quarter L. S. U. threatened again but Stubbs intercepted a pass by Coffee meant for Tinsley behind his own goal and ran it out to the five, where Hardison punted out.

Rohm scored Louisiana's first tally when he cut off right tackle on the Mississippi State 46 and kept going. Crass (sub for Coffee) failed to kick the point.

About the middle of the second quarter "Pee Wee" Armstrong, the Maroons' ace passer, went into play for Hight and at once became a menace with his heaves.

He had been in only a minute when he hurled a long, cross-field throw to Ward (sub for Pickle) who raked it on the Louisiana five, but was forced out on the three.

On the next play Hardison of Mississippi State fumbled on an attempted line crack and Louisiana recovered and punted out. The period rocked along and ended scoreless, with play deadlocked by mutually powerful defensive fight.

It was in the third quarter that the crowd began to get its thrills, with slashing off tackle and end thrusts by both teams being nipped by ends and backs breaking through to dump the carriers frequently for losses.

Armstrong had to leave the game with an injured arm, but Hight took up the throwing job and narrowly missed connecting with receivers who might never have been stopped.

Louisiana State opened up its own passing attack in the final quarter, and its second touchdown followed a series of successive and successful throws, Coffee to Tinsley, Morton and Rohm.

From midfield Coffee passed 20 yards to Tinsley to put it on the Mississippi State 30. Coffee shot one to

GRAHAM PLAN MAY BE DROPPED SOON

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Forest Fletcher, president of the Southern conference, charged today that the sixteen member colleges of that group were "violating the spirit of the Graham plan" and recommended that the plan be abandoned as a means of curbing subsidization of athletes.

"I will propose at the annual meeting of the conference next month that the Graham plan be abolished and that the conference adopt uniform entrance and scholastic requirements which will eliminate tramp athletes, instead," said Fletcher, head of the Washington and Lee physical education department and a former member of the American Olympic track team.

The Graham plan, named for its sponsor, Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, set up faculty committees to administer regulations designed to place athletes on an equal footing with other students in the awarding of scholarships, jobs and other forms of financial assistance.

After observing the plan only two months—it became effective September 1—Mr. Fletcher said that it was "idealistic" but "impractical," adding that "any number of rules could never make the matter of financial assistance to athletes air-tight."

"No instance of a school violating the letter of the law has been reported to me," Mr. Fletcher declared, "but every school is violating the spirit of the law."

Foreign Fighters Crowding American Boxing Arenas

By John J. Romano

Arturo Godoy and Gunnar Barlund lead the foreign brigade in quest of fistic fame and fortune in American rings. Pedro Montanez, Enrico Venturi, Aldo Spoldi, Saverio Turellio, Balthazar Sangchili, Cleto Locatelli, Pancho Leyvas, etc., are some of the names American announcers have been sloshing their larynxes over in an effort to pronounce properly. If the invasion continues, a move to number the principals will be in order.

Barlund rose to favor by scoring a quick, convincing knockout over Sandy McDonald. In his second appearance, the Finn hammered out a victory over the rugged Abe Feldman. There was nothing of the fluke variety about Barlund's win over the man who had persisted in putting his name forward as an opponent for Joe Louis. Barlund met every slugging bee with a vigorous return and chopped inside of Abe's looping swings with a right which inflicted knobs of welts on the East Sider's face and head.

Godoy was not handed a soft one in Leroy Haynes. The Chilean impressed greatly with his willingness to barge in with both hands swinging and kept the Philadelphia negro busy shaking off a wild left hook to the head. Haynes was the smarter inside, and jolted Godoy with jarring uppercuts which at times threatened to turn Arturo's chin completely around to his ear. Godoy got a draw. Haynes was the real winner, but the Chilean's fearlessness and disdain of punishment made a hit with the crowd and he is in line for plenty of work.

Montanez Poorly Advised

Montanez is a well remembered name. Had not his managers insisted on doing some dictating about terms for an Ambers match, the Puerto Rican would have gotten an Ambers match and the winner in line for a titular match with Tony Canzoneri. Ambers agreed to all conditions and got the call and the 135-pound crown. Pedro's record was so good, however, that he will be favorably considered when Lou's period of grace expires.

Venturi is the lightweight champion of Europe. He was not a stranger to these shores when he came over several months ago. Some years back Enrico fought in the smaller clubs and got tired of picking up small money. He returned to Italy, where he was in better favor and won the undisputed European crown. As a champion, and handled by better managers, he was able to break into the big time and his work thus far stamps him as a worthy opponent for the best in his class.

Spoldi came to this country by way of Australia. For a time he looked the best of the foreign invaders. Too much publicity dampened the ardor of the fans who expected too much of him with the result that Aldo has taken a place among the second group of lightweights. Turellio is not as well known as the others but has been going along so well that he threatens to break into the first group before the outdoor season comes around.

Sangchili came over here boasting the world's bantamweight title by virtue of a knockout over Al Brown. A kayo at the hands of Tony Marino took the wind out of his sails. Despite this, Sangchili shapes up as better than the ordinary run of bantams sent over from the other side and threatens plenty of trouble for the little fellows before he becomes discouraged and returns to his native Valencia.

Locatelli came over as a lightweight and gave a good account of himself. He grew a bit heavier and set sail after Barney Ross' welterweight title. Easily opened wounds over both eyes have been his main drawback. Laboring under this handicap prevented him from reaching higher than he has and threatens to cause his retirement from the game.

With this formidable array of foreign talent threatening to dislodge our champions, it behooves our boys to stir themselves out of their feeling of superiority and security, else more than one title will vanish from our midst and American supremacy in the prize ring be dealt a severe blow.

BOWL BABBLE

Following yesterday's football developments, its looks like Louisiana State and Alabama will get plenty of consideration when the time comes to pick a team to represent the east in the Rose Bowl next January.

Alabama routed Tulane, 34 to 7, yesterday, while L. S. U. trimmed Mississippi State, 12-0. The Crimson Tide won over the Maroons by a 7-0 score earlier in the season; thus a comparison of scores gives the Tigers an edge.

The east is booming Fordham for the nomination, but whether or not the Pacific coast wants an eastern team remains to be seen. It's conceded that college officials and fans alike prefer a southern team out there, and if L. S. U. trims Tulane on the 28th, as they're supposed to do, it's an even bet that the Tigers or Alabama will get the bid.

With the exception of Columbia's 7-0 upset of Stanford in 1934, eastern teams have fared poorly at Pasadena. Southern California walloped Pittsburgh 35-0 in 1933 and in 1930 the Trojans poured it on the Panthers to the tune of 47-14. Back in 1928 Stanford nosed out Pitt, 7-6. You'll remember that Colgate was "unbeaten, unscored on an unwanted" several years ago, and Fordham may find itself in the same boat this year. Eastern teams are not particularly colorful when compared to southern entries and the fans just don't go for them. It takes the boys from Dixie to draw the crowds.

The field undoubtedly has narrowed down to Fordham, L. S. U. and Alabama, with possibly Marquette and Nebraska having a chance. Pitt was beaten by Duquesne and tied by Fordham. Fordham, L. S. U. and Alabama have been tied, Fordham by Pitt, L. S. U. by Texas and Alabama by Tennessee. Marquette is undefeated but their showing against little Creighton yesterday probably will hurt. Nebraska lost to Minnesota.

The Southwest is out of it. S. M. U. lost a fluke decision to Fordham earlier in the season but yesterday Texas A. and M. blasted the Mustangs out of the picture.

L. S. U. has to play Auburn and Tulane, while Alabama meets Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. Both the Tigers and the Tide are favorites in these remaining games.

Any way you look at it, Louisiana State must be given serious consideration for the bid.

CONFIRMATION

Some of the boys thought we were a bit too enthusiastic over Louisiana Tech's showing against Tulane to bring back an unbiased report of the proceedings in the Greenie stadium a week ago. We admit that we were hoping all along that the Bulldogs would pull one of those upsets, but we weren't talking through our hat when we wrote that McLane's lads had the Wave thoroughly befuddled in that hectic fourth quarter.

To show you that we weren't letting our enthusiasm run away with us we're going to publish the first four paragraphs of the story written by Charles L. Dufour of the Item. Mr. Dufour would be inclined to lean just as far one way as we would the other, so praise from him comes directly from the enemy camp. Here it is:

"A fighting Louisiana Tech team, swept off its feet in the first quarter by three touchdown rushes by "Dub" Mattis, gathered its battered forces and outplayed the best 'Red' Dawson could put on the field for the last three periods of the game before bowing to Tulane, 22 to 13, before 12,000 fans at Tulane stadium Saturday afternoon.

"Tech, ripe to 'chuck' it early, showed indomitable courage and at the end, the upstate Bulldogs actually had the great Green Wave hanging on.

"Behind 22 to 0, Tech scored twice in the last period and seemed headed for a third score when Mattis intercepted a pass on the Greenies' 23-yard line and ran it back almost to midfield.

"Tech didn't pick on the Greenie subs, either. Tulane's best team was on the field when the scrappy Bulldogs went after the Wave with a vengeance."

Satisfied?

GRID ENTHUSIAST

We met one of those all-American football fans Friday night. He's George Edmiston of Tampa, Fla., who accompanied the Tampa football team to Ruston for the Tech game. He's a real football bug.

Coach Nash Higgins, to whom we were indebted last December for a swell time at Tampa, came over after Friday night's game and brought Mr. Edmiston and several other members of the Tampa party with him. Eddie McLane steered the gang over from Ruston.

Mr. Edmiston already has traveled more than four thousand miles to and from football games this season. He drove up from Tampa to see the Spartans and Bulldogs clash, and said it was well worth the trip. The week before he drove to Chicago and saw Marquette and St. Mary's play on Friday night and Minnesota and Northwestern do battle Saturday afternoon. Apparently football takes up most of his time, for he always drives back to Tampa after a game, and then starts from there for the next tilt.

Mr. Edmiston's big Packard usually contains two or three other Tampa grid bugs. This trip he brought along Bill Houlihan and Gene Wilson.

SPORTS FODDER

Should Don Barnes, president of a St. Louis investment company, and Bill DeWitt, treasurer of the Cardinals, swing the deal which will change the ownership of the Browns, the new backers will give the American league its first night baseball. Rogers Hornsby will be retained as manager, which would be unthinkable under the executors of the Phil Ball estate despite his contract which still has two years to run.

St. Mary's may drop Fordham from its schedule because the Polo Grounds grabs 25 per cent, or $26,000 out of a $112,000 gate, compared with Soldier Field in Chicago, which asks only a ten per cent rental.

Red Cagle, who used to say it with touchdowns at West Point until he was forced to resign in 1930 for getting married, says the present team is the finest Army has had since 1926.

Showings of the leading golf professionals in P. G. A. tournament at Pinehurst this month and in the Miami Biltmore $10,000 Open early in December will help decide the ten members of the Ryder Cup team for the trip to England next summer, which will be announced shortly after January 1.

Sonja Henie of Norway, the Olympic figure skater, plans to take out American citizenship papers.

Something like $90,000—give or take a few—annually goes to the visiting team which wins the invitation to play in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

When Carl Hubbell violated Bill Terry's stern order not to talk contract during the off-season, by claiming he pitched the Giants into $150,000 in world series profits and wanted his cut, it was taken to mean the screwball king will be the first of the 1937 holdouts, although he always has come to terms peacefully in the past.

And now the University of California is reported to be seeking Lou Little of Columbia as its football coach.

Joe Whalen, national professional tennis champion now in Miami for the winter season, maintains paid racqueteers will outnumber topflight amateur stars within three or four years.

Instead of a syndicate financing an America's Cup defense candidate, Harold S. Vanderbilt will build the boat himself without outside monetary aid.

In a poll of the Racing Form handicappers and experts to determine the champion in each division for 1936, Granville tops the lists of both the three-year-olds and best at any age.

Kentucky has stopped talking about its backfield performers to nominate Gene Myers, 200-pound center, for all-America honors. Line Coach Tom Gorman, himself a former Notre Dame star, says he never has seen Myers' equal.

Frank Hawks, ace of the air speed kings, is expected to enter his new plane, "Time Flies," in the All-American Air races at Miami, Fla., starting December 10.

GIANTS OF JENA TO PLAY LAST HOME GAME FRIDAY

JENA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The final home game of the season for the Jena Giants against the Olla-Standard Tigers will be played in Jena next Friday afternoon by the school. This day has been proclaimed "Senior day," in view of the fact that this will be the last time some of the players will ever don a Jena High suit on this field. The students are expected to pay a few cents extra in order to buy letters for the players to show their appreciation for their service.

The pep squad, under the direction of Misses Merle Owens, Leona Hendrix, Ruth Bishop and Louise Gahraran, will be in charge of all activities. The players who will probably play their last game here Friday are: John White and Jones Bradford, regular guards; James Smith, regular center; Alton Willis, regular end; Woodie Doshier, Bill Hodges, Fred Lees, G. D. Anders and J. P. Wade, Jr., backs.

Rebels Score In First Three Plays In Routing New Orleans Team

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi defeated Loyola of New Orleans here today, 34-0, playing before Governors Hugh White of Mississippi and Richard Leche of Louisiana.

Passes accounted for the first two Ole Miss touchdowns, but straight drives down the field were responsible for the balance, with Parker Hall's throwing and running proving a thorn in the Wolfpack side all day.

The Rebels took only three plays to chalk up their first touchdown, big Hapes passing to Red Jackson for a 54 yard advance. A behind-the-line toss from Hapes to Dave Bernard gained 27 yards a few minutes later, and Bernard took it over after two plays from the Loyola 3.

A 19 yard run by Hall, a pass from Hall to Hapes and a 6 yard dash round his own left end by Hall were items mainly responsible for the third Red touchdown.

The home team took Loyola's opening kickoff in the second half and marched 79 yards only to find the drive halted at the Wolfpack 9 yard line. A partially blocked punt gave Ole Miss the ball on Loyola's 11, and Peters sped through his own left tackle to score standing up.

Buster Poole juggled Hape's throw over the goal line late in the third quarter, but regained possession for the Rebs' final marker.

Bruiser Kinard, place kicking four of the five attempts and throwing back Loyola plays all through the day, was the standout lineman on the field.

Captain Merchant for Loyola stopped Ole Miss on more than one occasion. A fast charging Rebel line failed to allow Eddie Daigle and Clay Calhoun, Loyola aces, a chance to get away.

First downs favored Ole Miss, 17 to 4.

TRIUMPH OF ALABAMA FEATURES GAMES IN CONFERENCE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

The hopes of Tulane's wonder team for an undefeated season and possible Rose Bowl consideration fell in the wreckage of a crushing defeat when Alabama's Crimson Tide all but washed the Green Wave off the field Saturday in the feature battle of the Southeastern conference.

Alabama packed up a 34 to 7 victory over Tulane, heretofore tied but undefeated, in a day of conference warfare which produced another surprise in Auburn's close shave with Georgia Tech.

Tech's golden shirted Engineers cuffed the Plainsmen all over the lot most of the way, but Auburn took advantage of two "breaks" to come out ahead, 13 to 12.

Louisiana State university, coasting along toward a second straight Southeastern conference title, continued on its unbeaten way, whipping Mississippi State 12 to 0.

Vanderbilt had a hard time winning from Sewanee, shoving over a brace of markers in the final period to win a ding-dong affair, 14 to 0. After reserves failed to score, the Varsity varsity went in to win the game.

Given a breathing spell, Tennessee overwhelmed Maryville 34 to 0 and Mississippi won easily by the same score from another conference outsider, Loyola of New Orleans.

Kentucky dropped a 13 to 7 decision to Manhattan in the only intersectional battle of the day.

Lee Stokes Kicks Field Goal In Last Ten Seconds To Gain Draw

TULSA, Oka., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Coolly taking advantage of a real break—a high, wind-hindered punt that put his team in scoring position—Lee Stokes, center, booted a field goal with 10 seconds to play and Centenary's Gentlemen ended up in a 3 to 3 tie today with Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane.

The Hurricane stopped a goalward march on the 23 and took the ball. McClane's boot sailed nearly straight up where a stiff north wind caught it. Centenary downed it on the six yard line, couldn't gain and then Stokes' field goal from the 18 knotted the count.

Forrest Gregory, the polished kicker who made the fied goal which beat Kansas State here last week, made the home team's field goal today. He sent the ball sailing squarely between the posts from the 14 yard line in the middle of the second.

By LeRoy A. Simms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP)—An amazingly powerful Alabama eleven brought its name to the forefront with the nation's gridiron leaders here today with a smashing 34 to 7 victory over completely outclassed Tulane.

Scoring in every period, Alabama tore the Tulane line to shreds to remain unbeaten and very much in the running for Rose Bowl and Southeastern conference honors.

An overcast sky, which threatened rain constantly, held attendance to 18,000.

Tulane drove to a touchdown in the first five minutes, scoring on Mattis' 42-yard sprint around left end, but after that one flurry, Alabama seized the upper hand and kept it.

The Crimson Tide, rolling with all the fury of previous Rose Bowl champions, counted twice before the first period ended. Joe Riley, who gained 168 yards from scrimmage during the afternoon, dashed 54 yards for the first marker, and Joe Kilgrow, another back Tulane couldn't stop, tossed a pass to Tex Shoemaker for the second.

With Tarzan White and his mates in the Alabama line blasting great holes through Tulane's forwards, Kilgrow and Riley alternated in running to the Tulane 15 in the next period, from where Riley passed to Warren, in the end zone, for another score.

It was Joe Riley again who furnished the spark for the next touchdown, in the third quarter. Starting at midfield, he cut through his right tackle, veered sharply to the left and raced to the two-yard line, where Bryan, a great battler for a losing cause, threw him out of bounds. Nisbet scored standing up, two plays later.

LeRoy Monsky speared a pass from Bryan on Tulane's 23, and scampered for a touchdown midway of the final period. Kilgrow, who had sent four placements squarely over the bars, lost his chance to make it five when his effort was blocked.

Great downfield blocking, and smashing line play, particularly by White and Shoemaker, made Alabama's triumph an easy one.

Tulane entered the contest a slight favorite, by virtue of victories over Colgate, Centenary, North Carolina and Mississippi, and a tie with the powerful Auburn team, but the outcome was never in doubt after the opening period.

WASHINGTON CREW COACH RESCUES PAIR FROM LAKE

SEATTLE, Nov. 7. — (AP) — Crew Coach Al Ulbrickson of the mighty Washington Huskies won a race himself—against threatening death for two capsized student canoeists.

The Olympic champions' mentor was putting freshmen crews through drill on Lake Washington yesterday when he saw Joy Emerald Hauser, Butte, Mont., and Bernard E. Collier, Sequim, Wash., struggling beside the overturned craft.

He sent the coaching launch speeding to the rescue and dragged the chilled, utterly exhausted pair aboard.

"The canoe was a quarter of a mile off when we first saw it," Ulbrickson said. "The girl was clinging to the canoe and the boy was trying to reach shore to get a boat and save her when we picked them up. They were about finished."

Miss Hauser and Collier were taken to the university infirmary. Attendants said they were recovering rapidly.

REAPING REWARD WINS JOCKEY CLUB STAKES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Running right back to his smashing victory in the New England Futurity, in which he defeated the mighty Pompoon, Milky Way Stable's Reaping Reward annexed the seventeenth running of the $10,000 Kentucky Jockey club stakes at Churchill Downs today.

TIGERS SCORE 2 TOUCHDOWNS TO SHADE MAROONS

Rhom And Tinsley Tally In Great Defensive Battle Before 22,000

By Quincy Ewing

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Louisiana State university beat down probably the strongest opposition it has faced this season and kept marching toward the Southeastern grid title today by whipping Mississippi State, 12 to 0.

It was one of the greatest football games seen in Tiger stadium in years. Louisiana State expected trouble from the Mississippians and got it. The Bayou Tigers were compelled to draw on every ounce of their power and versatility to conquer.

Louisiana knew Mississippi State had a great defense, and so did 22,000 spectators that saw the battle, and before the game was over the Bayou Tigers and the crowd knew the Maroons from Starkville had a fine set of backs that would provide an offense for any team.

Louisiana State started out "hot" and looked like it would make the contest a walkaway, but the Maroons stiffened and an L. S. U. touchdown in the second period on a 46-yard run by Rohm, without the extra point added, failed to ice the contest. It wasn't until the final period, when Tinsley took a pass from Coffee and raced over the line, that the game was in the Louisiana bag.

It was a contest of two great lines and two opposing sets of ever-threatening backs, marked by slashing offensive and defensive play. Realizing soon after the opening kickoff that it was in for a struggle, Louisiana State tried for a field goal from the Mississippi State 14, with Coffee booting, but the try failed.

Later in the first quarter L. S. U. threatened again but Stubbs intercepted a pass by Coffee meant for Tinsley behind his own goal and ran it out to the five, where Hardison punted out.

Rohm scored Louisiana's first tally when he cut off right tackle on the Mississippi State 46 and kept going. Crass (sub for Coffee) failed to kick the point.

About the middle of the second quarter "Pee Wee" Armstrong, the Maroons' ace passer, went into play for Hight and at once became a menace with his heaves.

He had been in only a minute when he hurled a long, cross-field throw to Ward (sub for Pickle) who raked it on the Louisiana five, but was forced out on the three.

On the next play Hardison of Mississippi State fumbled on an attempted line crack and Louisiana recovered and punted out. The period rocked along and ended scoreless, with play deadlocked by mutually powerful defensive fight.

It was in the third quarter that the crowd began to get its thrills, with slashing off tackle and end thrusts by both teams being nipped by ends and backs breaking through to dump the carriers frequently for losses.

Armstrong had to leave the game with an injured arm, but Hight took up the throwing job and narrowly missed connecting with receivers who might never have been stopped.

Louisiana State opened up its own passing attack in the final quarter, and its second touchdown followed a series of successive and successful throws, Coffee to Tinsley, Morton and Rohm.

From midfield Coffee passed 20 yards to Tinsley to put it on the Mississippi State 30. Coffee shot one to

GRAHAM PLAN MAY BE DROPPED SOON

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Forest Fletcher, president of the Southern conference, charged today that the sixteen member colleges of that group were "violating the spirit of the Graham plan" and recommended that the plan be abandoned as a means of curbing subsidization of athletes.

"I will propose at the annual meeting of the conference next month that the Graham plan be abolished and that the conference adopt uniform entrance and scholastic requirements which will eliminate tramp athletes, instead," said Fletcher, head of the Washington and Lee physical education department and a former member of the American Olympic track team.

The Graham plan, named for its sponsor, Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, set up faculty committees to administer regulations designed to place athletes on an equal footing with other students in the awarding of scholarships, jobs and other forms of financial assistance.

After observing the plan only two months—it became effective September 1—Mr. Fletcher said that it was "idealistic" but "impractical," adding that "any number of rules could never make the matter of financial assistance to athletes air-tight."

"No instance of a school violating the letter of the law has been reported to me," Mr. Fletcher declared, "but every school is violating the spirit of the law."

Foreign Fighters Crowding American Boxing Arenas

By John J. Romano

Arturo Godoy and Gunnar Barlund lead the foreign brigade in quest of fistic fame and fortune in American rings. Pedro Montanez, Enrico Venturi, Aldo Spoldi, Saverio Turellio, Balthazar Sangchili, Cleto Locatelli, Pancho Leyvas, etc., are some of the names American announcers have been sloshing their larynxes over in an effort to pronounce properly. If the invasion continues, a move to number the principals will be in order.

Barlund rose to favor by scoring a quick, convincing knockout over Sandy McDonald. In his second appearance, the Finn hammered out a victory over the rugged Abe Feldman. There was nothing of the fluke variety about Barlund's win over the man who had persisted in putting his name forward as an opponent for Joe Louis. Barlund met every slugging bee with a vigorous return and chopped inside of Abe's looping swings with a right which inflicted knobs of welts on the East Sider's face and head.

Godoy was not handed a soft one in Leroy Haynes. The Chilean impressed greatly with his willingness to barge in with both hands swinging and kept the Philadelphia negro busy shaking off a wild left hook to the head. Haynes was the smarter inside, and jolted Godoy with jarring uppercuts which at times threatened to turn Arturo's chin completely around to his ear. Godoy got a draw. Haynes was the real winner, but the Chilean's fearlessness and disdain of punishment made a hit with the crowd and he is in line for plenty of work.

Montanez Poorly Advised

Montanez is a well remembered name. Had not his managers insisted on doing some dictating about terms for an Ambers match, the Puerto Rican would have gotten an Ambers match and the winner in line for a titular match with Tony Canzoneri. Ambers agreed to all conditions and got the call and the 135-pound crown. Pedro's record was so good, however, that he will be favorably considered when Lou's period of grace expires.

Venturi is the lightweight champion of Europe. He was not a stranger to these shores when he came over several months ago. Some years back Enrico fought in the smaller clubs and got tired of picking up small money. He returned to Italy, where he was in better favor and won the undisputed European crown. As a champion, and handled by better managers, he was able to break into the big time and his work thus far stamps him as a worthy opponent for the best in his class.

Spoldi came to this country by way of Australia. For a time he looked the best of the foreign invaders. Too much publicity dampened the ardor of the fans who expected too much of him with the result that Aldo has taken a place among the second group of lightweights. Turellio is not as well known as the others but has been going along so well that he threatens to break into the first group before the outdoor season comes around.

Sangchili came over here boasting the world's bantamweight title by virtue of a knockout over Al Brown. A kayo at the hands of Tony Marino took the wind out of his sails. Despite this, Sangchili shapes up as better than the ordinary run of bantams sent over from the other side and threatens plenty of trouble for the little fellows before he becomes discouraged and returns to his native Valencia.

Locatelli came over as a lightweight and gave a good account of himself. He grew a bit heavier and set sail after Barney Ross' welterweight title. Easily opened wounds over both eyes have been his main drawback. Laboring under this handicap prevented him from reaching higher than he has and threatens to cause his retirement from the game.

With this formidable array of foreign talent threatening to dislodge our champions, it behooves our boys to stir themselves out of their feeling of superiority and security, else more than one title will vanish from our midst and American supremacy in the prize ring be dealt a severe blow.

L. S. U. And Alabama Emerge As Football Powerhouses In South

By Herbert Barker

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Alabama and Louisiana State emerged as the south's twin football power-houses today as Northwestern's Wildcats clinched the Big Ten championship and Fordham's sturdy Rams strengthened their chances of a Rose Bowl invitation.

Most of the day's fireworks were concentrated, however, in the far west where Southern California and Washington State both were beaten for the first time this season and Washington's Huskies had to rally to tie Stanford, 14-14. Southern California was beaten by California, 13-7, and Washington State was bowled over in stunning fashion by Oregon State, 16-6. U. C. L. A., meantime, moved back to winning form and beat Oregon, 7-0.

Alabama, running over Tulane's hitherto unbeaten Green Wave, 34-7, remained in the chase for the Southeastern conference championship along with Louisiana State, 12-0 conqueror of Mississippi State, and Auburn, which barely nipped Georgia Tech, 13-12. All three are unbeaten within the conference although Alabama and Auburn each has been tied.

Northwestern, suffering an obvious let-down after its sensational victory over Minnesota a week ago, beat off Wisconsin's gallant Badgers, 26-18, in a spectacular engagement and captured undisputed possession of the Western conference title for the first time in history.

Fordham, meanwhile, followed up its scoreless tie with Pitt's formidable Panthers by trouncing Purdue, 15-0, before 35,000 spectators. This triumph not only kept the Rams in the undefeated class but represented their third major intersectional triumph of the campaign and left them in a strong position when Pacific coast authorities begin casting about for an opponent of the far western Rose Bowl team.

Fordham's triumph was the high-spot of a big day for eastern teams in intersectional combat. Penn's Quakers, rolling on high, trounced Michigan, 27-7; Navy finally found the winning combination and beat Notre Dame, 3-0, on a field goal by Bill Ingram; Manhattan stopped Kentucky, 13-7; Boston college nipped North Carolina State, 7-3, and Harvard crushed Virginia, 65-0.

Bucknell and Syracuse were beaten in the middle west, the former by Detroit, 33-7, and Syracuse by Indiana, 9-7, but Temple gained a 7-7 tie with Michigan State, and Villanova beat South Carolina, 14-0.

Georgetown remained in the unbeaten ranks by routing West Virginia in surprising fashion, 28-0. Other eastern fixtures saw Dartmouth outpoint Columbia, 20-13; Holy Cross beat Colgate by the same count; Carnegie Tech stop New York university, 14-6; Pitt run over Penn State, 34-7; Princeton trounce Cornell, 41-13, and Yale halt Brown, 14-6.

In the mid-west, Minnesota came raging back from its defeat by Northwestern to shellack Iowa, 52-0, before a crowd of 63,000. Ohio State ran up a 44-0 count on Chicago. Art Guepe's 75-yard touchdown dash in the last quarter was all that saved Marquette's perfect record, the run and subsequent conversion adding up to a 7-6 victory over Creighton.

Nebraska moved on in the Big Six title race, beating Kansas 26-0, as Oklahoma and Kansas State played a 6-6 tie. Missouri stopped St. Louis, 13-7. Denver whipped Drake, 27-13. Tulsa and Centenary played to a 3-3 deadlock.

The Texas Aggies turned the Southwest conference race upside down by spilling Southern Methodist, 22-6, as Arkansas won over Rice, 20-14, and Texas Christian trampled Texas, 27-6.

In the Southeastern conference Georgia upset Florida, 26-8, and Vanderbilt won over Sewanee, 14-0, as Mississippi and Tennessee scored over non-conference rivals. Mississippi beat Loyola of New Orleans, 34-0, and Tennessee whipped Maryville, 34-0.

Duke and North Carolina again chalked up Southern conference triumphs, the former halting Wake Forest, 20-0, as North Carolina toppled Davidson, 26-6. Maryland beat Richmond, 12-0; Clemson won over Citadel, 20-0; Washington and Lee over Virginia Tech, 27-0, and Virginia Military over William and Mary, 21-0.

Colorado university surprised with a convincing 31-7 victory over Utah in the Rocky Mountain conference but Utah State kept in the title race with a 13-0 triumph over Colorado State.

Indians To Be In Good Shape For Henderson Battle

Tech Bulldogs Prepare For Millsaps Saturday

McLane's Men Anxious To Get Revenge For Last Year's Defeat

RUSTON, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—With their fears of the University of Tampa dispelled by a 6-0 victory, the Louisiana Tech gridders have turned their attention to the Millsaps Majors, whom they will meet here next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, as the principal attraction of Tech's homecoming week-end.

There is one point to be emphasized while the Techmen are getting ready for Millsaps the coming week. That is the point which is the difference between 20 and 21. The reason for the emphasis is that Millsaps nosed out the Techsters by that point here last year, to give the Bulldogs their only defeat of the season.

Local sports dispensers have written more about that one-point margin of the Majors over Tech than anything else that happened on the gridiron here all last year. Smarting ever since from the effect of that "unfortunate occurrence," the Techmen anticipate with pleasure their chance at the Majors again Saturday afternoon. They expect to settle that score with Millsaps.

As far as scoring is concerned, the Majors have not been doing so well this fall, although they have held four teams scoreless. Millsaps battled to a 0-0 tie with the Mississippi State Teachers, who beat Tech 12-7. They also had a scoreless tie with the Louisiana State Normal men, who lost to the Bulldogs, 32-0. Millsaps held the strong Mississippi State college eleven to a 20-0 score, and came out the same with Birmingham-Southern. The Majors trimmed Mississippi college, 7-0, and Springhill, 3-0, for their only two victories of the season. After a rather poor beginning, however, the Majors "are just now getting started," according to reports received here, and are expected to make things about as interesting for the Techmen as they did last year.

While the Tech-Millsaps engagement will be the main event of homecoming day, an important preliminary for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock will be a game between the freshmen of Tech and Centenary here. Age-old rivalry existing between the institutions at Ruston and Shreveport portends a big crowd and a colorful contest when the Bullpups and the Junior Gents wage their struggle. The Tech freshmen find buoyancy in their 16-0 whitewashing of the Louisiana State Normal Imps here on October 22. The Pups' performances in that annual classic brought back memories of the local college's prize-winning frosh of two years ago, as they plowed their way through to a hard-earned victory.

While the local fans are looking forward to two interesting grid games here the coming week, they were still expressing their "satisfaction" Saturday over the results of Tech's combat with the University of Tampa Spartans here Friday night.

Though losing to Tech 6-0, in the final quarter, the Spartans were branded as "the best team to play against Tech here this fall," as they left early Saturday morning for Baton Rouge, where they were to see Louisiana State university and Mississippi State gridders in action Saturday afternoon.

The Tampans, fighting desperately to defend their unscored-on record of the season, measured up to predictions which had rated them ace high in every department of the game. Among those remarking "I told you so" Saturday was Coach Eddie McLane of Louisiana Tech, whose gridders were worried in the highest for 53 minutes of the gall game. Tech tallied only in the final quarter, when a nine-yard pass from Billy Mitchell of Ruston, to James Summerall of Monroe, did the touchdown trick.

FORDHAM BEATS PURDUE, 15 TO 0

Rams Remove Last Serious Threat To Undefeated Season In Easy Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Fordham's rugged Rams removed apparently the last serious obstacle to an unbeaten football campaign by giving Purdue a decisive licking, 15 to 0, today before 35,000 spectators, who sat through a cold November mist at the Polo Grounds.

The triumph, Fordham's third over an intersectional rival, followed last week's scoreless tie with Pittsburgh and boosted the ambitions of the Rams to carry the eastern banner to the Rose Bowl post-season classic on New Year's day. Only Georgia and New York university now stand in the way of an unbeaten season.

Thousands of Fordham adherents, following the victory, ripped down their own goal posts and marched up and down the field behind the student band playing "California Here I Come."

Cashing in quickly on Purdue's loose handling of the slippery pigskin, Fordham produced a touchdown punch in the first period with a drive led by Joe Dulkie from the opposing 17-yard line, increased its margin on Andy Palau's 24-yard placement field goal in the second quarter, and topped off a superb performance by escorting Al Gurske on an 80-yard touchdown romp, in the third period.

The Rams gave their best offensive exhibition of the season in rebuttal to critics who rated them strictly a stonewall defensive outfit. Meantime the team's famous line, paced by Ed Franco, Nat Pierce and Alex Wojciechowicz, lived up to its reputation by stopping three furious Purdue drives cold, all within scoring range.

The lineups:

| Purdue | Pos. | Fordham |
|---|---|---|
| Powell | LE | Paquin |
| Schreyer | LT | Franco |
| Bell | C | Wojciechowicz |
| Burmeister | LG | Pierce |
| Graves | RG | Lombardi |
| Woltman | RT | Stanton |
| Spohn | RE | Druze |
| Gift | QB | Palau |
| Stalcup | LH | Gurske |
| Drake | RH | Mulrey |
| C. Isbell | FB | Dulkie |

Score by periods:

| | | | | | |

SOUTHWESTERN LINEMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN GAME

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Robert E. (Bud) Lee, 21, star Southwestern lineman, suffered a brain concussion this afternoon when he was kicked in the head during the game with Birmingham Southern. The 195 pound Mississippi boy was hurt late in the first half. Teammates learned of his injuries when the half was over and he was rushed to a hospital.

JENA GIANTS NOSE OUT CLARKS LUMBERJACKS

CLARKS, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The Jena High school football team defeated the Clarks Lumberjacks in a hard fought game on the local field Friday, 6 to 0.

Receiving the opening kickoff on his own 20-yard line, Dosher ran it back to Clarks' 25, and in two plays was over for the touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked. Late in the second quarter the Lumberjacks carried the ball to the Jena one-foot line, only to have the half end before another play could be run.

The second half was about evenly fought until late in the fourth quarter, when two Clarks passes carried the ball from their own 30-yard line to Jena's 25. Here the final whistle came as the teams lined up for another play. Corbin was the outstanding star for the home team, while for Jena Dosher and Lees were outstanding.

FOXHUNTERS GATHER AT GRENADA FOR 3-DAY HUNT

GRENADA, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Foxhunters from Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas and other states began to arrive here today while preparations went forward here for the three-day annual tri-state hunt beginning Monday. Officials said large numbers of nationally-known sportsmen would be here with dogs from many parts of the United States.

The hunt will be under the auspices of the Tri-State Foxhunters Association of Grenada.

CENTER MAY GET SPECIAL TRAIN TO ARKADELPHIA TILT

Malone Believes Tribe Has Good Chance Against Strong Teachers

The Indians of Northeast Center of L. S. U. will invade Arkansas for the third time this season when they go to Arkadelphia next Friday to battle the strong Henderson State Teachers eleven. The game will be played Friday night, starting at 8 o'clock.

On their two previous trips into the Wonder State the Indians were handicapped by injuries to several regulars and consequently the local Tribe took it on the chin in a pair of engagements. Arkansas State Teachers, current champions of Arkansas colleges, trimmed the Redskins 26 to 7 when they found the Indians with seven regulars on the hospital list. A week later the Tribe went to Monticello where they lost a one-touchdown decision to the Monticello A. and M. Boll Weevils, with one or two of the seven casualties in uniform but unable to play more than a few minutes of the game. Several other players did not dress out for the game.

This week, however, it will be a different story, as far as the condition of the team is concerned, and Coach Jim Malone and his charges believe it will be a different story when the final gun ends the battle. The Indians will be in better shape that at any time during the past month and will have no alibis if the Henderson club wins. Coach Malone had scheduled a fill-in game with the Barksdale Field Fliers for last Thursday night but early last week he cancelled the tilt in order to devote two full weeks to preparations for Henderson.

The squad came out of the 7-7 tie game with Copiah-Lincoln a week ago in good shape and with two weeks of practice behind them, they should be at full strength next Friday night. Despite the fact that Henderson will be the top-heavy favorite, Coach Malone believes his Tribe will be ready to give the heavy Arkansans a stiff battle and it wouldn't be altogether surprising to the Indian mentor if Center pulls an upset.

An effort is being made to charter a special train for the Arkansas trip and indications are that the Indians will have plenty of vocal backing at Arkadelphia. The Purple Jacket club, composed of girls at Northeast Center, is conducting a ticket sales campaign and if enough tickets are reserved in advance, the train will be chartered. Dr. Stephen A. Caldwell, dean at the Center, has approved the plan and he said last week that he saw no reason why the train couldn't be secured.

Last year a highly successful "special" was chartered to take students and others to the Southeastern game at Hammond.

Coach Malone said his pony backs, Bob Kellogg and "Red" Reynolds, would be ready for the Henderson game, and with Frank Mosely, Dick Elliott, Tony Veranda, Flavel Yates, "Shorty" Leatherwood, and others of the backfield ready for action, the ball carrying department should be well fixed.

George Kalil, "iron man" of the line, suffered an arm injury in the Copiah-Lincoln game but it isn't expected to keep him out of the Henderson battle, particularly with two weeks allowed for the injury to heal.

A bright spot in the Tribal picture has been the steady improvement of "Red" Pittman, the Wynne, Ark., boy, at end. Pittman has developed into the best pass snagger of the team and his defensive play also has been outstanding in the past two games. Pittman was given his first real chance in the Conway game and turned in a good job. Against Monticello, he showed much improvement and in the Copiah-Lincoln tilt, he was outstanding. Pittman "developed" just when Coach Malone was sorely in need of ends as a result of injuries to Hendricks, Johnson, Blanks and Dunlap.

The Indians took a light workout after the Neville-Ruston game Friday afternoon and yesterday the squad was given a day of rest. Coach Malone said he would start intensive work for the Henderson game Monday, with scrimmages scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

CALIFORNIA WHIPS TROJANS, 13 TO 7

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Golden Bears of California rose up in fury today and defeated the favored and previously unbeaten Trojans of Southern California 13 to 7.

Fifty-five thousand fans saw the Bears strike through the air for two touchdowns.

California scored quickly in the first period. Taking a bad S. C. punt on the Trojan 35, Muchy Pollack, substitute halfback, passed over the line to Willard Dolman, end. Dolman lateraled to Herwig, who ran for the tally.

Southern California, recovering a Bear fumble on the kick off after the half, moved from the Bear 34 to a touchdown in seven plays, Davis accounting for the score.

Less than two minutes later California's Chapman ran the Trojan kickoff back 22 yards to the Trojan 45. Vic Bottari, fullback, passed to John Meek, for 15, and crossing up S. C.'s secondary again, passed again to Chapman, who twirled and twisted his way over for the second Bear score and the final marker of the day.

MOOSE ON LOOSE

OUIMET'S GOLF

By FRANCIS OUIMET

One error the golfer makes, who has read the various golf articles and listened to vocal glorifications of the straight left arm, is that he becomes entirely too conscious of this member. This awareness in turn tends to tense the muscles of this arm at times almost to the point of rigidity. This is a fault fatal to smooth swinging, indeed it is a most difficult job to gain any appreciable club-head momentum when this happens. Yet hundreds of golfers, who interpret the printed word in this fashion, attempt to build up their swing by this method. Largely this is due because of the confusion arising from the word straight. To many this means that it should be kept as stiff as a ramrod and the taut wrists they assume at address, quickly tightens the grip and transfers itself to other muscles of the body.

Which To Sacrifice

Confronted with this condition the player remembers that a relaxed condition of the body is also one of the fundamentals of good golf. Obviously if he continues to use the straight left as he experiences it he must sacrifice mobility. So eventually it comes down to a decision whether to retain the straight left or discard it entirely in favor of a freer muscular activity.

Now there have been many good golfers who have established enviable records with employing a straight left but players, unaware of this fact, continue to strive for what they think constitutes good form by adhering to a rigid left at the expense of body turn. In time of course they become aware of what the straight left really is and if they persevere can mold their game to accommodate it and at the same time move their bodies without the former stress.

Must Blend Together

Perhaps the issue would be less complicated if the arm were referred to as extended instead of straight. Actually this is the state it should be in, avoiding by all means a siff, rigid elbow and any semblance of being wooden in character.

Until a player grows accustomed to coordinating the body turn with it, it is hard to maintain, without in a measure restricting free movement. If the player will remember to keep some measure of pliability in the left elbow he will not find the task too difficult. If this is done it really appears impossible to tighten up too much. Somehow relaxation at this key point seems to extend itself through the entire arm.

Watch Wrists At Top

Special attention should be given the wrists at the top of the stroke also. Here for instance it is important that they relax so that the wrists can cock themselves. This can be compared in a way to a wound up spring, a storehouse of bottled energy which can be unleashed at the right time. If the wrists are not cocked the golfer tries to make a lunging movement with his body as the clubhead approaches the ball to make up for the loss.

If you have a supple body by all means try to incorporate the straight left into your game. Its value in a grooved swing has been definitely proven and is one way toward consistent golf.

AUBURN SHADES GEORGIA TECH IN CLOSE TILT, 13-12

Plainsmen Outplayed But Take Full Advantage Of Lucky 'Breaks'

By Kenneth Gregory

ATLANTA, Nov. 7.—(AP)—With a bit of luck and an advantage in "breaks" of the game, Auburn's Tigers barely withstood a determined bid for victory by Georgia Tech today to triumph over the Engineers, 13 to 12, before a frenzied throng of 18,000.

The Tigers, cashing in the hard way in this 40th renewal of the south's oldest rivalries, were outplayed nearly all the way by a hard-driving Tech team that missed four scoring opportunities and rallied late in the game to score its pair of touchdowns.

Less than three minutes had elapsed when Halfback Billy Hitchcock grabbed a punt and raced 62 yards for Auburn's first touchdown. The Tigers got their second score in the third period as Oscar Burford, sophomore end, pulled down a blocked punt from the air and ran 25 yards over the goal, and Halfback Jimmie Fenton kicked the extra point.

Those two touchdowns told the story of Auburn's offensive against Georgia Tech's battling line and alert secondary defense.

Although practically eliminated from consideration in the Southeastern conference championship through the loss to Auburn, Georgia Tech put up one of the greatest losing battles seen on Grant field in years.

After driving twice in scoring territory in the first half only to be checked by the Tiger defense, Georgia Tech missed another opportunity early in the fourth period, then came right back with a brilliant offensive to score its two touchdowns.

Reaching Auburn's 32 on a 13-yard pass from Fletcher Sims to Ed Jones, the Engineers unloosed one of their "razzle-dazzle" plays to score, with Harry Appleby crossing the goal after four other players had handled the ball on a forward-lateral.

Shortly after the kickoff following the touchdown, Georgia Tech drove to Auburn's 22 on a pass from Lawrence Hayes to Jones and a 15-yard sweep around by Dutch Konemann. Hays tossed another long pass to Jones that fell incomplete. But the officials ruled Fenton interfered and gave the ball to Tech on Auburn's four. Konemann raced wide at right end to cross the goal.

Little Jimmy Moore, a halfback, was rushed in to try for the extra point, but his kick sailed wide of the goal posts. The game ended two minutes later without further action.

L. S. U. And Alabama Emerge As Football Powerhouses In South

By Herbert Barker

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Alabama and Louisiana State emerged as the south's twin football power-houses today as Northwestern's Wildcats clinched the Big Ten championship and Fordham's sturdy Rams strengthened their chances of a Rose Bowl invitation.

Most of the day's fireworks were concentrated, however, in the far west where Southern California and Washington State both were beaten for the first time this season and Washington's Huskies had to rally to tie Stanford, 14-14. Southern California was beaten by California, 13-7, and Washington State was bowled over in stunning fashion by Oregon State, 16-6. U. C. L. A., meantime, moved back to winning form and beat Oregon, 7-0.

Alabama, running over Tulane's hitherto unbeaten Green Wave, 34-7, remained in the chase for the Southeastern conference championship along with Louisiana State, 12-0 conqueror of Mississippi State, and Auburn, which barely nipped Georgia Tech, 13-12. All three are unbeaten within the conference although Alabama and Auburn each has been tied.

Northwestern, suffering an obvious let-down after its sensational victory over Minnesota a week ago, beat off Wisconsin's gallant Badgers, 26-18, in a spectacular engagement and captured undisputed possession of the Western conference title for the first time in history.

Fordham, meanwhile, followed up its scoreless tie with Pitt's formidable Panthers by trouncing Purdue, 15-0, before 35,000 spectators. This triumph not only kept the Rams in the undefeated class but represented their third major intersectional triumph of the campaign and left them in a strong position when Pacific coast authorities begin casting about for an opponent of the far western Rose Bowl team.

Fordham's triumph was the high-spot of a big day for eastern teams in intersectional combat. Penn's Quakers, rolling on high, trounced Michigan, 27-7; Navy finally found the winning combination and beat Notre Dame, 3-0, on a field goal by Bill Ingram; Manhattan stopped Kentucky, 13-7; Boston college nipped North Carolina State, 7-3, and Harvard crushed Virginia, 65-0.

Bucknell and Syracuse were beaten in the middle west, the former by Detroit, 33-7, and Syracuse by Indiana, 9-7, but Temple gained a 7-7 tie with Michigan State, and Villanova beat South Carolina, 14-0.

Georgetown remained in the unbeaten ranks by routing West Virginia in surprising fashion, 28-0. Other eastern fixtures saw Dartmouth outpoint Columbia, 20-13; Holy Cross beat Colgate by the same count; Carnegie Tech stop New York university, 14-6; Pitt run over Penn State, 34-7; Princeton trounce Cornell, 41-13, and Yale halt Brown, 14-6.

In the mid-west, Minnesota came raging back from its defeat by Northwestern to shellack Iowa, 52-0, before a crowd of 63,000. Ohio State ran up a 44-0 count on Chicago. Art Guepe's 75-yard touchdown dash in the last quarter was all that saved Marquette's perfect record, the run and subsequent conversion adding up to a 7-6 victory over Creighton.

Nebraska moved on in the Big Six title race, beating Kansas 26-0, as Oklahoma and Kansas State played a 6-6 tie. Missouri stopped St. Louis, 13-7. Denver whipped Drake, 27-13. Tulsa and Centenary played to a 3-3 deadlock.

The Texas Aggies turned the Southwest conference race upside down by spilling Southern Methodist, 22-6, as Arkansas won over Rice, 20-14, and Texas Christian trampled Texas, 27-6.

In the Southeastern conference Georgia upset Florida, 26-8, and Vanderbilt won over Sewanee, 14-0, as Mississippi and Tennessee scored over non-conference rivals, Mississippi beat Loyola of New Orleans, 34-0, and Tennessee whipped Maryville, 34-0.

Duke and North Carolina again chalked up Southern conference triumphs, the former halting Wake Forest, 20-0, as North Carolina toppled Davidson, 26-6. Maryland beat Richmond, 12-0; Clemson won over Citadel, 20-0; Washington and Lee over Virginia Tech, 27-0, and Virginia Military over William and Mary, 21-0.

Colorado university surprised with a convincing 31-7 victory over Utah in the Rocky Mountain conference but Utah State kept in the title race with a 13-0 triumph over Colorado State.

Tech Bulldogs Prepare For Millsaps Saturday

McLane's Men Anxious To Get Revenge For Last Year's Defeat

RUSTON, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—With their fears of the University of Tampa dispelled by a 6-0 victory, the Louisiana Tech gridders have turned their attention to the Millsaps Majors, whom they will meet here next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, as the principal attraction of Tech's homecoming week-end.

There is one point to be emphasized while the Techmen are getting ready for Millsaps the coming week. That is the point which is the difference between 20 and 21. The reason for the emphasis is that Millsaps nosed out the Techsters by that point here last year, to give the Bulldogs their only defeat of the season.

Local sports dispensers have written more about that one-point margin of the Majors over Tech than anything else that happened on the gridiron here all last year. Smarting ever since from the effect of that "unfortunate occurrence," the Techmen anticipate with pleasure their chance at the Majors again Saturday afternoon. They expect to settle that score with Millsaps.

As far as scoring is concerned, the Majors have not been doing so well this fall, although they have held four teams scoreless. Millsaps battled to a 0-0 tie with the Mississippi State Teachers, who beat Tech 12-7. They also had a scoreless tie with the Louisiana State Normal men, who lost to the Bulldogs, 32-0. Millsaps held the strong Mississippi State college eleven to a 20-0 score, and came out the same with Birmingham-Southern. The Majors trimmed Mississippi college, 7-0, and Springhill, 3-0, for their only two victories of the season. After a rather poor beginning, however, the Majors "are just now getting started," according to reports received here, and are expected to make things about as interesting for the Techmen as they did last year.

While the Tech-Millsaps engagement will be the main event of homecoming day, an important preliminary for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock will be a game between the freshmen of Tech and Centenary here. Age-old rivalry existing between the institutions at Ruston and Shreveport portends a big crowd and a colorful contest when the Bullpups and the Junior Gents wage their struggle. The Tech freshmen find buoyancy in their 16-0 whitewashing of the Louisiana State Normal Imps here on October 22. The Pups' performances in that annual classic brought back memories of the local college's prize-winning frosh of two years ago, as they plowed their way through to a hard-earned victory.

While the local fans are looking forward to two interesting grid games here the coming week, they were still expressing their "satisfaction" Saturday over the results of Tech's combat with the University of Tampa Spartans here Friday night.

Though losing to Tech 6-0, in the final quarter, the Spartans were branded as "the best team to play against Tech here this fall," as they left early Saturday morning for Baton Rouge, where they were to see Louisiana State university and Mississippi State gridders in action Saturday afternoon.

The Tampans, fighting desperately to defend their unscored-on record of the season, measured up to predictions which had rated them ace high in every department of the game. Among those remarking "I told you so" Saturday was Coach Eddie McLane of Louisiana Tech, whose gridders were worried in the highest for 53 minutes of the gall game. Tech tallied only in the final quarter, when a nine-yard pass from Billy Mitchell of Ruston, to James Summerall of Monroe, did the touchdown trick.

FORDHAM BEATS PURDUE, 15 TO 0

Rams Remove Last Serious Threat To Undefeated Season In Easy Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Fordham's rugged Rams removed apparently the last serious obstacle to an unbeaten football campaign by giving Purdue a decisive licking, 15 to 0, today before 35,000 spectators, who sat through a cold November mist at the Polo Grounds.

The triumph, Fordham's third over an intersectional rival, followed last week's scoreless tie with Pittsburgh and boosted the ambitions of the Rams to carry the eastern banner to the Rose Bowl post-season classic on New Year's day. Only Georgia and New York university now stand in the way of an unbeaten season.

Thousands of Fordham adherents, following the victory, ripped down their own goal posts and marched up and down the field behind the student band playing "California Here I Come."

Cashing in quickly on Purdue's loose handling of the slippery pigskin, Fordham produced a touchdown punch in the first period with a drive led by Joe Dulkie from the opposing 17-yard line, increased its margin on Andy Palau's 24-yard placement field goal in the second quarter, and topped off a superb performance by escorting Al Gurske on an 80-yard touchdown romp, in the third period.

The Rams gave their best offensive exhibition of the season in rebuttal to critics who rated them strictly a stonewall defensive outfit. Meantime the team's famous line, paced by Ed Franco, Nat Pierce and Alex Wojciechowicz, lived up to its reputation by stopping three furious Purdue drives cold, all within scoring range.

The lineups:

| Purdue | Pos. | Fordham |
|---|---|---|
| Powell | LE | Paquin |
| Schreyer | LT | Franco |
| Bell | C | Wojciechowicz |
| Burmeister | LG | Pierce |
| Graves | RG | Lombardi |
| Woltman | RT | Stanton |
| Spehn | RE | Druze |
| Gift | QB | Palau |
| Stalcup | LH | Gurske |
| C. Isbell | FB | Dulkie |

Score by periods:

| | | | | |

SOUTHWESTERN LINEMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN GAME

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Robert E. (Bud) Lee, 21, star Southwestern lineman, suffered a brain concussion this afternoon when he was kicked in the head during the game with Birmingham Southern. The 195 pound Mississippi boy was hurt late in the first half. Teammates learned of his injuries when the half was over and he was rushed to a hospital.

JENA GIANTS NOSE OUT CLARKS LUMBERJACKS

CLARKS, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The Jena High school football team defeated the Clarks Lumberjacks in a hard fought game on the local field Friday, 6 to 0.

Receiving the opening kickoff on his own 20-yard line, Dosher ran it back to Clarks' 25, and in two plays was over for the touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked. Late in the second quarter the Lumberjacks carried the ball to the Jena one-foot line, only to have the half end before another play could be run.

The second half was about evenly fought until late in the fourth quarter, when two Clarks passes carried the ball from their own 30-yard line to Jena's 25. Here the final whistle came as the teams lined up for another play. Corbin was the outstanding star for the home team, while for Jena Dosher and Lees were outstanding.

FOXHUNTERS GATHER AT GRENADA FOR 3-DAY HUNT

GRENADA, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Foxhunters from Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas and other states began to arrive here today while preparations went forward here for the three-day annual tri-state hunt beginning Monday. Officials said large numbers of nationally-known sportsmen would be here with dogs from many parts of the United States.

The hunt will be under the auspices of the Tri-State Foxhunters Association of Grenada.

CENTER MAY GET SPECIAL TRAIN TO ARKADELPHIA TILT

Malone Believes Tribe Has Good Chance Against Strong Teachers

The Indians of Northeast Center of L. S. U. will invade Arkansas for the third time this season when they go to Arkadelphia next Friday to battle the strong Henderson State Teachers eleven. The game will be played Friday night, starting at 8 o'clock.

On their two previous trips into the Wonder State the Indians were handicapped by injuries to several regulars and consequently the local Tribe took it on the chin in a pair of engagements. Arkansas State Teachers, current champions of Arkansas colleges, trimmed the Redskins 26 to 7 when they found the Indians with seven regulars on the hospital list. A week later the Tribe went to Monticello where they lost a one-touchdown decision to the Monticello A. and M. Boll Weevils, with one or two of the seven casualties in uniform but unable to play more than a few minutes of the game. Several other players did not dress out for the game.

This week, however, it will be a different story, as far as the condition of the team is concerned, and Coach Jim Malone and his charges believe it will be a different story when the final gun ends the battle. The Indians will be in better shape that at any time during the past month and will have no alibis if the Henderson club wins. Coach Malone had scheduled a fill-in game with the Barksdale Field Fliers for last Thursday night but early last week he cancelled the tilt in order to devote two full weeks to preparations for Henderson.

The squad came out of the 7-7 tie game with Copiah-Lincoln a week ago in good shape and with two weeks of practice behind them, they should be at full strength next Friday night. Despite the fact that Henderson will be the top-heavy favorite, Coach Malone believes his Tribe will be ready to give the heavy Arkansans a stiff battle and it wouldn't be altogether surprising to the Indian mentor if Center pulls an upset.

An effort is being made to charter a special train for the Arkansas trip and indications are that the Indians will have plenty of vocal backing at Arkadelphia. The Purple Jacket club, composed of girls at Northeast Center, is conducting a ticket sales campaign and if enough tickets are reserved in advance, the train will be chartered. Dr. Stephen A. Caldwell, dean at the Center, has approved the plan and he said last week that he saw no reason why the train couldn't be secured.

Last year a highly successful "special" was chartered to take students and others to the Southeastern game at Hammond.

Coach Malone said his pony backs, Bob Kellogg and "Red" Reynolds, would be ready for the Henderson game, and with Frank Mosely, Dick Elliott, Tony Veranda, Flavel Yates, "Shorty" Leatherwood, and others of the backfield ready for action, the ball carrying department should be well fixed.

George Kalil, "iron man" of the line, suffered an arm injury in the Copiah-Lincoln game but it isn't expected to keep him out of the Henderson battle, particularly with two weeks allowed for the injury to heal.

A bright spot in the Tribal picture has been the steady improvement of "Red" Pittman, the Wynne, Ark., boy, at end. Pittman has developed into the best pass snagger of the team and his defensive play also has been outstanding in the past two games. Pittman was given his first real chance in the Conway game and turned in a good job. Against Monticello, he showed much improvement and in the Copiah-Lincoln tilt, he was outstanding. Pittman "developed" just when Coach Malone was sorely in need of ends as a result of injuries to Hendricks, Johnson, Blanks and Dunlap.

The Indians took a light workout after the Neville-Ruston game Friday afternoon and yesterday the squad was given a day of rest. Coach Malone said he would start intensive work for the Henderson game Monday, with scrimmages scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

CALIFORNIA WHIPS TROJANS, 13 TO 7

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Golden Bears of California rose up in fury today and defeated the favored and previously unbeaten Trojans of Southern California 13 to 7.

Fifty-five thousand fans saw the Bears strike through the air for two touchdowns.

California scored quickly in the first period. Taking a bad S. C. punt on the Trojan 35, Muchy Pollack, substitute halfback, passed over the line to Willard Dolman, end. Dolman lateraled to Herwig, who ran for the tally.

Southern California, recovering a Bear fumble on the kick off after the half, moved from the Bear 34 to a touchdown in seven plays, Davis accounting for the score.

Less than two minutes later California's Chapman ran the Trojan kickoff back 22 yards to the Trojan 45. Vic Bottari, fullback, passed to John Meek, for 15, and crossing up S. C.'s secondary again, passed again to Chapman, who twirled and twisted his way over for the second Bear score and the final marker of the day.

FRANCIS OUIMET

One error the golfer makes, who has read the various golf articles and listened to vocal glorifications of the straight left arm, is that he becomes entirely too conscious of this member. This awareness in turn tends to tense the muscles of this arm at times almost to the point of rigidity. This is a fault fatal to smooth swinging, indeed it is a most difficult job to gain any appreciable club-head momentum when this happens. Yet hundreds of golfers, who interpret the printed word in this fashion, attempt to build up their swing by this method. Largely this is due because of the confusion arising from the word straight. To many this means that it should be kept as stiff as a ramrod and the taut wrists they assume at address, quickly tightens the grip and transfers itself to other muscles of the body.

Which To Sacrifice

Confronted with this condition the player remembers that a relaxed condition of the body is also one of the fundamentals of good golf. Obviously if he continues to use the straight left as he experiences it he must sacrifice mobility. So eventually it comes down to a decision whether to retain the straight left or discard it entirely in favor of a freer muscular activity.

Now there have been many good golfers who have established enviable records with employing a straight left but players, unaware of this fact, continue to strive for what they think constitutes good form by adhering to a rigid left at the expense of body turn. In time of course they become aware of what the straight left really is and if they persevere can mold their game to accommodate it and at the same time move their bodies without the former stress.

Must Blend Together

Perhaps the issue would be less complicated if the arm were referred to as extended instead of straight. Actually this is the state it should be in, avoiding by all means a stiff, rigid elbow and any semblance of being wooden in character.

Until a player grows accustomed to coordinating the body turn with it, it is hard to maintain, without in a measure restricting free movement. If the player will remember to keep some measure of pliability in the left elbow he will not find the task too difficult. If this is done it really appears impossible to tighten up too much. Somehow relaxation at this key point seems to extend itself through the entire arm.

Watch Wrists At Top

Special attention should be given the wrists at the top of the stroke also. Here for instance it is important that they relax so that the wrists can cock themselves. This can be compared in a way to a wound up spring, a storehouse of bottled energy which can be unleashed at the right time. If the wrists are not cocked the golfer tries to make a lunging movement with his body as the clubhead approaches the ball to make up for the loss.

If you have a supple body by all means try to incorporate the straight left into your game. Its value in a grooved swing has been definitely proven and is one way toward consistent golf.

Plainsmen Outplayed But Take Full Advantage Of Lucky 'Breaks'

By Kenneth Gregory

ATLANTA, Nov. 7.—(AP)—With a bit of luck and an advantage in "breaks" of the game, Auburn's Tigers barely withstood a determined bid for victory by Georgia Tech today to triumph over the Engineers, 13 to 12, before a frenzied throng of 18,000.

The Tigers, cashing in the hard way in this 40th renewal of the south's oldest rivalries, were outplayed nearly all the way by a hard-driving Tech team that missed four scoring opportunities and rallied late in the game to score its pair of touchdowns.

Less than three minutes had elapsed when Halfback Billy Hitchcock grabbed a punt and raced 62 yards for Auburn's first touchdown. The Tigers got their second score in the third period as Oscar Burford, sophomore end, pulled down a blocked punt from the air and ran 25 yards over the goal, and Halfback Jimmie Fenton kicked the extra point.

Those two touchdowns told the story of Auburn's offensive against Georgia Tech's battling line and alert secondary defense.

Although practically eliminated from consideration in the Southeastern conference championship through the loss to Auburn, Georgia Tech put up one of the greatest losing battles seen on Grant field in years.

After driving twice in scoring territory in the first half only to be checked by the Tiger defense, Georgia Tech missed another opportunity early in the fourth period, then came right back with a brilliant offensive to score its two touchdowns.

Reaching Auburn's 32 on a 13-yard pass from Fletcher Sims to Ed Jones, the Engineers unloosed one of their "razzle-dazzle" plays to score, with Harry Appleby crossing the goal after four other players had handled the ball on a forward-lateral.

Shortly after the kickoff following the touchdown, Georgia Tech drove to Auburn's 22 on a pass from Lawrence Hayes to Jones and a 15-yard sweep around by Dutch Konemann. Hays tossed another long pass to Jones that fell incomplete. But the officials ruled Fenton interfered and gave the ball to Tech on Auburn's four. Konemann raced wide at right end to cross the goal.

KELLY TO MEET O'CONNOR ON TUESDAY CARD

Sol Slagle And Alf Johnson To Meet In Semi-Final At Stadium

Ernest Kelly, idol of Monroe wrestling fans, who was to have returned to Roosevelt stadium last week after an absence of more than six months, will make his belated return Tuesday night when he meets Dan O'Connor, clever Boston matman, in the main event of the weekly wrestling show. Last week's program was cancelled because of a downpour of rain and the election.

In the semi-final match of this week's card, Sol Slagle, the Kansas "rubber man," will tangle with Alf Johnson, tough Swede from Minnesota.

Kelly recently returned to the southwest after a successful invasion of the east. The former Tennessee football star wrestled several times in Madison Square Garden and other big arenas in New York, Boston, Newark and other cities, and was highly successful against some of the top-notchers of the mat game.

Ernest has been packing 'em in since his return from the big time and reports have it that he's "better than ever." The most popular grappler ever to perform here, Kelly is expected to draw a capacity house Tuesday night.

The Tennesseean will be meeting a worthy opponent in the gangling, red-headed Irishman from the east. O'Connor, with a long, powerful pair of legs, knows plenty of holds and he's a fast, willing mixer. One of his pet methods of attack is the drop kick, and he has used it rather successfully in past battles at the local arena. He also specializes on various scissors holds and if Kelly isn't at his best, the Irishman is likely to beat him.

O'Connor's showing against some of the best men in the southwest indicates that he's well able to take care of himself when he's thrown in there with the popular Kelly. Dan isn't a "villain" but he's been known to swing his dukes when up against a rough foe. However, Tuesday night's affair probably will be fought out along scientific lines.

Slagle, the guy who can get out of more tight situations than his opponents can think up, will be meeting a rough, tough entry in Johnson. It will be the Swede's first appearance here but reports have it that he's one of the best "villains" in the business. He's plenty powerful and his holds may test the "rubber man" to the utmost.

Slagle is one of the best showmen in the game, and the card as a whole stacks up as one of the most attractive booked here in a long time.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour.

ARCADIA TEAM WALLOPS RINGGOLD BY 40-0 SCORE

ARCADIA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The Arcadia football team ran rough shod over Ringgold yesterday, 40 to 0. The second and third teams of Arcadia played most of the game after the first quarter.

Arcadia's flashy end, W. L. Yarbrough was a sensation throughout the time he played. He snatched passes out of the air with the greatest of ease. Gerald Hightower was on the passing end of most of these completed passes and played a fine game of football. The two Bramlett brothers, Howard and David, as usual, played stellar ball. The two Simpson brothers, Harold and Talbert at tackle, took care of the situation in their respective positions. Probably the best defensive ball of the game was played by Hoyle Shields at right guard position. Over half of the tackles were made by Shields breaking through the line and throwing Ringgold's ball carrier for losses of from five to twenty yards. "Preacher" Johnson broke through with Shields to help smear Ringgold's plays in the back field.

Arcadia's line was an impossible proposition for the visitors as they could not even start to go through. The crowd of fans watching the game were well repaid for time and expenses when "Little George" Edens intercepted a pass on his own twenty yard line and ran 80 yards for a touchdown in the final minutes of the game.

WILDCATS CLINCH BIG TEN CROWN

Northwestern Beats Wisconsin 26-18 But Gets Scare Before It's Over

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats crashed to their first undisputed Big Ten football title in Western conference history today—but left Dyche stadium shell-shocked and reeling from a withering aerial barrage laid down by Wisconsin's gallant Badgers.

After an afternoon of football that furnished everything from wild thrills to downright hysteria for 25,000 spectators, Northwestern had a 26 to 18 triumph, its fifth straight of the Big Ten season.

Northwestern, conqueror of mighty Minnesota a week ago, proved its greatness by proceeding by land for four touchdowns. The three Badger scores were fashioned by as spectacular and deadly a passing attack as has been turned loose on a western gridiron in years.

This Badger forward-passng assault connected 19 times out of 30 shots for gains totaling 185 yards, and had Northwestern jittery without a second's letup, and the crowd in a constant uproar.

By their triumph today Northwestern took over the conference championship beyond dispute.

Northwestern's scoring was furnished by the same heroes who operated against Minnesota. Steve Toth, who scored the touchdown that beat the Gophers, rammed over for two today. "Dashing Don" Heap connected for one, and Johnny Kovatch, the Wildcats' great defensive end, raced 19 yards for the other.

NEVILLE MEETS OAK GROVE HERE

Tigers Play Last Conference Game Against West Carroll Eleven

After getting the dope bucket spilled in their face by a hard fighting Bearcat eleven from Ruston here Friday, when they were held to a 6 to 6 tie, the Neville High school Tigers, with the pre-game dope again in their favor, will take no chances when they meet their old rivals, the Oak Grove Tigers, here this week-end.

The contest this week will be Neville's last conference game. Then they go into an open date, November 20, before concluding their 1936 schedule here on Thanksgiving day against the Crimson Tide of Minden High school.

Oak Grove, old foes of the Bengals, traditionally give the locals tough fights, but not since the days of Baby Jack Torrence, present holder of the world's shot-put record, have the West Carrol Tigers been a serious threat to the Neville forces.

Neville won their skirmish with Oak Grove last year by a 38 to 0 score, but the Butler brothers, who were Oak Grove's outstanding performers in the game, are back again this season and pointing toward duplicating Ruston's staunch stand against the locals.

Harridge Confirms Report That Negotiations Are Virtually Completed

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—William Harridge, president of the American league, today confirmed a report that negotiations were virtually completed for sale of the St. Louis Browns to Donald L. Barnes and associates of St. Louis.

Harridge said he did not know who was associated with Barnes or what the "setup" was to be. He said he called a meeting of owners of other baseball teams in the American league to discuss the details and approve the sale in Chicago next Thursday.

Under a league rule, Harridge said, the seven other owners must approve the transfer of a franchise.

Harridge said he first heard of negotiations for the sale during the last world series, but believed they had been going on "a long time before that."

The Browns have been under the direction of L. B. Weise, acting president, who represented the estate of the late Phil D. C. Ball, former owner.

Rumors of pending sale of the Browns, only American league team which never won a pennant, have bobbed up at various times.

In its 35 years in the league, the team finished as high as second only twice.

Barnes, president of the American Investment company of Illinois and of the Public Loan corporation, could not be reached.

The plans of the new owners were not known but it was thought that they would retain as manager Rogers Hornsby, whose contract has two more years to run.

SHAVER, FORMER PURDUE CAPTAIN, JOINS MILL FIVE

Brownies To Enter Strong Team In Missouri Valley A. A. U. Race

A strong basketball squad, built around two former Big Ten stars, is being organized at Brown Paper mill to compete in the fast Missouri Valley A. A. U. league this winter, Manager Cary Phillips announced yesterday.

Ed Shaver

Chief among the newcomers is Ed Shaver, rated during his college career as one of the greatest basketball stars of the nation. Shaver, a guard, finished at Purdue university last year. He is six feet, 2 inches [illegible] and weighs 185 pounds.

Shaver was captain of the Purdue squad last year and led the Boilermakers to the Big Ten championship. He was named on the all-Big Ten team two years in succession, and also was picked for the all-Indiana college team, an outstanding honor in a state that includes Purdue, Notre Dame, Butler, Wabash and other colleges which annually put out great cage teams.

Shaver finished high school in Frankfort, Ind., in 1931 and entered Purdue that fall after making the all-state high school team three years in a row. He was picked as captain of the mythical team one year.

Another former Big Ten star who has joined the Brown squad is Frank Bryski. Bryski, who was an outstanding player at Chicago, also is a rangy eager who is certain to hold his own in fast Missouri Valley company that includes such players as Fortenberry, Johnson, Dietzel, Pickell and others.

The Downey brothers, members of the Hermitage Independents, 1936 Arkansas champions, also have joined the Brown aggregation. These spectacular players performed in the Brown gym last year and impressed local fans with their basketball ability. One is a guard and the other a forward.

DeWitt, a six foot, five inch center from the Bogalusa team which won the Southern A. A. U. championship at New Orleans, is another new Brownie. He was named on the all-Southern A. A. U. quintet.

Holdovers on the Brown squad are Manager Phillips, Frank Frickie, Ed Lanier, Clyde Evans and Clarence Fullos, an all-S. I. A. A. star while playing at Louisiana Normal.

Manager Phillips said that he has contacted several other outstanding college stars and expected to sign at least one more nationally-known performer before the season opens.

The Brown squad is working out daily at the mill gym and Phillips will have his cagers in good shape for the preliminary games early in December. He plans to bring several independent teams here before the league schedule opens.

FRAT TEAMS TO PLAY NEXT WEEK

Delta Sigmas Meet Phi Kappas In Benefit Football Contest

The annual football game between the Delta Sigma and Phi Kappa fraternities will be played during the week following Sunday, November 15, and both elevens are already working hard to be in good shape for the contest.

The game was originally scheduled for next Sunday but will be played on a week-end instead, it was announced yesterday. The game, which is being sponsored by the Delta Beta Sigma sorority, will be a benefit battle for the G. B. Cooley tuberculosis sanatorium.

The Delta, who boast a small but fast backfield and a heavy, hard charging line, are coached by Woodrow Turner, freshman coach at Ouachita Parish High school. Percy Brown, Neville High school coach, is directing the Phi Kappa aggregation, which has a fairly heavy squad.

At the present the lineups are: (Delta Sigma) Derwood Cann and Pete Peevy, ends; Ray Green and O. W. Fisher, tackles; Tom Downes and James Brothers, guards; Duffey Brown, center; Jay Garrett, quarterback; Jason Berry and Harry Underwood, halfbacks; and Raymond West, fullback; (Phi Kappa) George Kennedy and Herbert Munholland, ends; Buster Baur, tackle; Bud Tidwell, guard; Charles Baur, center; Freneau Prophit, quarterback; Fletcher Ashcraft and Henry Colbert, halfbacks; and Tom Smith, fullback. The Kappas are still undecided about a tackle and guard.

Officials for the game were announced as Paul Neal (Georgetown), refree; Bill Adams, (N. C. of L. S. U.), umpire; Harry Prophit, head linesman; and Harry Spillar (N. C. of L. S. U.), field judge.

OUACHITA PLAYS RAYVILLE ELEVEN

Lions In Good Shape For Final Home Game Of Regular Schedule

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions play their last home game of their regular schedule here this week-end against the Rayville High school Hornets.

The Hornet contest, the Lion's last conference appearance, is expected to come as a breather for the Ouachita forces after consecutive games with the Haynesville Golden Tornado and the state champion Byrd Yellow Jackets. A victory over the Rayville team will assure the Lions of at least a play-off for the northeast Louisiana district Class A title.

The locals came out of their battle with the Byrd champions Friday without a single injury despite the fact that only two substitutions were made during the entire game which was won by the Shreveport aggregation, 21 to 6. Two regulars, Wheeler Mitchell, guard, and W. B. Stewart, fullback, who were unable to play in the Byrd game because of injuries, are expected to be back in the lineup for Rayville.

Following the Rayville engagement, Coach "Lefty" Hanyes' charges will go idle for a week in their first open date, November 20, and then they wind up their schedule with an Arkansas invasion, tangling with the Pine Bluff High school Zebras at Pine Bluff on Thanksgiving day.

ARKANSAS TRIMS RICE, 20 TO 14

Razorbacks' Aerial Squadron Beats Owls In Football Thriller

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Arkansas' aerial squadron eliminated Rice from the Southwest conference championship race today with a 20-14 triumph before a record homecoming crowd of 8,500.

The victory placed the Razorbacks in a tie with Texas Christian for conference leadership with three wins each against one setback.

It was a thrill a minute battle with Halfback Vickers and Johnny Neece going through the Razorbacks for half the field and touchdowns and Halfback Allen Keen of Arkansas racing 60 yards to score one of the Porker counters.

Sensational offensive football by both clubs kept the homecomers on their feet. Three touchdowns were scored in six minutes on a trio of plays that netted over 200 yards.

Rice ran up 13 first downs to 11 for Arkansas but the Razorbacks outgained the visitors through the air, completing six of 20 for 102 yards against Rice's seven of 17 for 99 yards.

LA. COLLEGE WINS FROM DELTA, 14-7

Intercepted Pass Gives Wildcats Margin Of Victory In Close Game

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Louisiana college's Wildcats defeated the Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., in Pineville this afternoon, 14 to 7, with all three touchdowns coming in the third period.

This game gave the Wildcats their third straight S. I. A. A. victory and also made it three straight games over Delta. It was the final contest of the season at home for the Cats.

After battling through the first half without a break on either side, the Wildcats turned in three first downs on drives off tackle to reach Delta's 22. Jake Cameron then passed to James Dear for the first touchdown and Kermit Youngblood kicked the point.

Shortly after the kickoff, Murphy Corkern, Wildcat guard, intercepted a Delta pass on Delta's 20 and dashed across the goal line for the second score. John Shackleford added the point.

Delta then came back with an aerial attack that swept down the field to Louisiana college's 22, Hemphill passed into the end zone to Smith for the score and Thomas added the point.

The Cats twice passed incomplete into the end zone in the fourth quarter, Dear dropping one after juggling it.

On the ground the Cats outgained Delta, 152 to 107, making 10 first downs to Delta's 8. But in the air, Delta clicked off 100 yards to the Pineville eleven's 42.

KELLY TO MEET O'CONNOR ON TUESDAY CARD

Sol Slagle And Alf Johnson To Meet In Semi-Final At Stadium

Ernest Kelly, idol of Monroe wrestling fans, who was to have returned to Roosevelt stadium last week after an absence of more than six months, will make his belated return Tuesday night when he meets Dan O'Connor, clever Boston matman, in the main event of the weekly wrestling show. Last week's program was cancelled because of a downpour of rain and the election.

In the semi-final match of this week's card, Sol Slagle, the Kansas "rubber man," will tangle with Alf Johnson, tough Swede from Minnesota.

Kelly recently returned to the southwest after a successful invasion of the east. The former Tennessee football star wrestled several times in Madison Square Garden and other big arenas in New York, Boston, Newark and other cities, and was highly successful against some of the top-notchers of the mat game.

Ernest has been packing 'em in since his return from the big time and reports have it that he's "better than ever." The most popular grappler ever to perform here, Kelly is expected to draw a capacity house Tuesday night.

The Tennesseean will be meeting a worthy opponent in the gangling, redheaded Irishman from the east. O'Connor, with a long, powerful pair of legs, knows plenty of holds and he's a fast, willing mixer. One of his pet methods of attack is the drop kick, and he has used it rather successfully in past battles at the local arena. He also specializes on various scissors holds and if Kelly isn't at his best, the Irishman is likely to beat him.

O'Connor's showing against some of the best men in the southwest indicates that he's well able to take care of himself when he's thrown in there with the popular Kelly. Dan isn't a "villain" but he's been known to swing his dukes when up against a rough foe. However, Tuesday night's affair probably will be fought out along scientific lines.

Slagle, the guy who can get out of more tight situations than his opponents can think up, will be meeting a rough, tough entry in Johnson. It will be the Swede's first appearance here but reports have it that he's one of the best "villains" in the business. He's plenty powerful and his holds may test the "rubber man" to the utmost.

Slagle is one of the best showmen in the game, and the card as a whole stacks up as one of the most attractive booked here in a long time.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour.

ARCADIA TEAM WALLOPS RINGGOLD BY 40-0 SCORE

ARCADIA, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The Arcadia football team ran rough shod over Ringgold yesterday, 40 to 0. The second and third teams of Arcadia played most of the game after the first quarter.

Arcadia's flashy end, W. L. Yarbrough was a sensation throughout the time he played. He snatched passes out of the air with the greatest of ease. Gerald Hightower was on the passing end of most of these completed passes and played a fine game of football. The two Bramlett brothers, Howard and David, as usual, played stellar ball. The two Simpson brothers, Harold and Talbert at tackle, took care of the situation in their respective positions. Probably the best defensive ball of the game was played by Hoyle Shields at right guard position. Over half of the tackles were made by Shields breaking through the line and throwing Ringgold's ball carrier for losses of from five to twenty yards. "Preacher" Johnson broke through with Shields to help smear Ringgold's plays in the back field.

Arcadia's line was an impossible proposition for the visitors as they could not even start to go through. The crowd of fans watching the game were well repaid for time and expenses when "Little George" Edens intercepted a pass on his own twenty yard line and ran 80 yards for a touchdown in the final minutes of the game.

WILDCATS CLINCH BIG TEN CROWN

Northwestern Beats Wisconsin 26-18 But Gets Scare Before It's Over

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats crashed to their first undisputed Big Ten football title in Western conference history today—but left Dyche stadium shell-shocked and reeling from a withering aerial barrage laid down by Wisconsin's gallant Badgers.

After an afternoon of football that furnished everything from wild thrills to downright hysteria for 25,000 spectators, Northwestern had a 26 to 18 triumph, its fifth straight of the Big Ten season.

Northwestern, conqueror of mighty Minnesota a week ago, proved its greatness by proceeding by land for four touchdowns. The three Badger scores were fashioned by as spectacular and deadly a passing attack as has been turned loose on a western gridiron in years.

This Badger forward-passng assault connected 19 times out of 30 shots for gains totaling 185 yards, and had Northwestern jittery without a second's letup, and the crowd in a constant uproar.

By their triumph today Northwestern took over the conference championship beyond dispute.

Northwestern's scoring was furnished by the same heroes who operated against Minnesota. Steve Toth, who scored the touchdown that beat the Gophers, rammed over for two today. "Dashing Don" Heap connected for one, and Johnny Kovatch, the Wildcats' great defensive end, raced 19 yards for the other.

Chief among the newcomers is Ed Shaver, rated during his college career as one of the greatest basketball stars of the nation. Shaver, a guard, finished at [illegible] due university last year. He is six feet, 2 inches [illegible] and weighs 185 pounds.

Shaver was captain of the Purdue squad last year and led the Boilermakers to the Big Ten championship. He was named on the all-Big Ten team two years in succession, and also was picked for the all-Indiana college team, an outstanding honor in a state that includes Purdue, Notre Dame, Butler, Wabash and other colleges which annually put out great cage teams.

Shaver finished high school in Frankfort, Ind., in 1931 and entered Purdue that fall after making the all-state high school team three years in a row. He was picked as captain of the mythical team one year.

Another former Big Ten star who has joined the Brown squad is Frank Bryski. Bryski, who was an outstanding player at Chicago, also is a rangy cager who is certain to hold his own in fast Missouri Valley company that includes such players as Fortenberry, Johnson, Dietzel, Pickell and others.

The Downey brothers, members of the Hermitage Independents, 1936 Arkansas champions, also have joined the Brown aggregation. These spectacular players performed in the Brown gym last year and impressed local fans with their basketball ability. One is a guard and the other a forward.

DeWitt, a six foot, five inch center from the Bogalusa team which won the Southern A. A. U. championship at New Orleans, is another new Brownie. He was named on the all-Southern A. A. U. quintet.

Holdovers on the Brown squad are Manager Phillips, Frank Frickie, Ed Lanier, Clyde Evans and Clarence Tullos, an all-S. I. A. A. star while playing at Louisiana Normal.

Manager Phillips said that he has contacted several other outstanding college stars and expected to sign at least one more nationally-known performer before the season opens.

The Brown squad is working out daily at the mill gym and Phillips will have his cagers in good shape for the preliminary games early in December. He plans to bring several independent teams here before the league schedule opens.

FRAT TEAMS TO PLAY NEXT WEEK

Delta Sigmas Meet Phi Kappas In Benefit Football Contest

The annual football game between the Delta Sigma and Phi Kappa fraternities will be played during the week following Sunday, November 15, and both elevens are already working hard to be in good shape for the contest.

The game was originally scheduled for next Sunday but will be played on a week-end instead, it was announced yesterday. The game, which is being sponsored by the Delta Beta Sigma sorority, will be a benefit battle for the G. B. Cooley tuberculosis sanatorium.

The Delta, who boast a small but fast backfield and a heavy, hard charging line, are coached by Woodrow Turner, freshman coach at Ouachita Parish High school. Percy Brown, Neville High school coach, is directing the Phi Kappa aggregation, which has a fairly heavy squad.

At the present the lineups are: (Delta Sigma) Derwood Cann and Pete Peevy, ends; Ray Green and O. W. Fisher, tackles; Tom Downes and James Brothers, guards; Duffey Brown, center; Jay Garrett, quarterback; Jason Berry and Harry Underwood, halfbacks; and Raymond West, fullback; (Phi Kappa) George Kennedy and Herbert Munholland, ends; Buster Baur, tackle; Bud Tidwell, guard; Charles Baur, center; Freneau Prophit, quarterback; Fletcher Ashcraft and Henry Colbert, halfbacks; and Tom Smith, fullback. The Kappas are still undecided about a tackle and guard.

Officials for the game were announced as Paul Neal (Georgetown), refree; Bill Adams, (N. C. of L. S. U.), umpire; Harry Prophit, head linesman; and Harry Spillar (N. C. of L. S. U.), field judge.

Penguins carry rocks in their stomachs. Sir James Ross, explorer, found 10 pounds of stones in one bird. Some scientists say the burden of the rocks serves as a ballast for the penguins.

OUACHITA PLAYS RAYVILLE ELEVEN

Lions In Good Shape For Final Home Game Of Regular Schedule

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions play their last home game of their regular schedule here this week-end against the Rayville High school Hornets.

The Hornet contest, the Lion's last conference appearance, is expected to come as a breather for the Ouachita forces after consecutive games with the Haynesville Golden Tornado and the state champion Byrd Yellow Jackets. A victory over the Rayville team will assure the Lions of at least a play-off for the northeast Louisiana district Class A title.

The locals came out of their battle with the Byrd champions Friday without a single injury despite the fact that only two substitutions were made during the entire game which was won by the Shreveport aggregation, 21 to 6. Two regulars, Wheeler Mitchell, guard, and W. B. Stewart, fullback, who were unable to play in the Byrd game because of injuries, are expected to be back in the lineup for Rayville.

Following the Rayville engagement, Coach "Lefty" Hanyes' charges will go idle for a week in their first open date, November 20, and then they wind up their schedule with an Arkansas invasion, tangling with the Pine Bluff High school Zebras at Pine Bluff on Thanksgiving day.

Razorbacks' Aerial Squadron Beats Owls In Football Thriller

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Arkansas' aerial squadron eliminated Rice from the Southwest conference championship race today with a 20-14 triumph before a record homecoming crowd of 8,500.

The victory placed the Razorbacks in a tie with Texas Christian for conference leadership with three wins each against one setback.

It was a thrill a minute battle with Halfback Vickers and Johnny Neece going through the Razorbacks for half the field and touchdowns and Halfback Allen Keen of Arkansas racing 60 yards to score one of the Porker counters.

Sensational offensive football by both clubs kept the homecomers on their feet. Three touchdowns were scored in six minutes on a trio of plays that netted over 200 yards.

Rice ran up 13 first downs to 11 for Arkansas but the Razorbacks outgained the visitors through the air, completing six of 20 for 102 yards against Rice's seven of 17 for 99 yards.

LA. COLLEGE WINS FROM DELTA, 14-7

Intercepted Pass Gives Wildcats Margin Of Victory In Close Game

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Louisiana college's Wildcats defeated the Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., in Pineville this afternoon, 14 to 7, with all three touchdowns coming in the third period.

This game gave the Wildcats their third straight S. I. A. A. victory and also made it three straight games over Delta. It was the final contest of the season at home for the Cats.

After battling through the first half without a break on either side, the Wildcats turned in three first downs on drives off tackle to reach Delta's 22. Jake Cameron then passed to James Dear for the first touchdown and Kermit Youngblood kicked the point.

Shortly after the kickoff, Murphy Corkern, Wildcat guard, intercepted a Delta pass on Delta's 20 and dashed across the goal line for the second score. John Shackleford added the point.

Delta then came back with an aerial attack that swept down the field to Louisiana college's 22. Hemphill passed into the end zone to Smith for the score and Thomas added the point.

The Cats twice passed incomplete into the end zone in the fourth quarter, Dear dropping one after juggling it.

On the ground the Cats outgained Delta, 152 to 107, making 10 first downs to Delta's 8. But in the air, Delta clicked off 100 yards to the Pineville eleven's 42.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Spurred by wage boosts, bonuses increasing earnings and dividends, industrial leaders rallied briskly in today's stock market.

Many forged into new high ground for the recovery with gains of fractions to 3 points or so generally and a few as much as 5. Transfers were around 1,500,000 shares.

Selling kept the list in a rather narrow range in the first hour, but in the final period heavy buying orders put the ticker tape behind for several minutes.

A further advance in U. S. government securities aided sentiment. Other bonds improved. The price of export copper was given another lift to its highest level in 5 years. Major commodities more than held their own.

Leading the forward push were the motors, steels, coppers, alcohols, merchandising and specialty issues. Only the rails were backward. The utilities also failed to get far out in front.

Prominent on the upturn were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Rolling Mill, Anaconda, Kennecott, Andes, Cerro De Pasco, Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol, Spiegel-May-Stern, Montgomery ward, Sears Roebuck, Allied Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Pathe, Patino Mines, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, Standard Oil of N. J., Westinghouse, Crown Cork, Du-Pont, Sharpe & Dohme, Celanese, Johns-Manville, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Western Union and International Telephone.

Generous disbursements to shareholders, higher pay for workers in the steel and other industries employing thousands, served to stimulate retail store stocks and others that may benefit by a substantial growth in public spending over the remainder of the year.

Traders seemed to have gotten over their disappointment at the smaller than predicted extra declared by Standard Oil of N. J., and support was accorded the issue on the belief directors may distribute more in the next quarter.

Recent lagging tendencies displayed by the rails was explained in some quarters by the belief many of the carriers will increase maintenance expenses in November and December with a consequent trimming of net operating income figures.

Liveliness of liquor stocks in the past few sessions, brokers said, was coincident with hopes the holiday demand in this field will be the most pronounced for any comparable period since repeal

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Active speculative support appeared for the cotton market in the last hour today and business ran up new highs on the movement in fairly busy dealings.

During the first hour prices slipped below the previous close, but in the last few minutes of trading the trend was reversed and options pushed ahead to net gains of 7 to 9 points.

Dec. closed at 11.91, March and May at 11.85 and July at 11.75 bid.

The upturn occurred despite a good volume of hedge selling and liquidation by long interests for over the government report day, Monday.

In addition to professional purchasing price fixing by mills aided bullish interests.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Spurred by wage boosts, bonuses increasing earnings and dividends, industrial leaders rallied briskly in today's stock market.

Many forged into new high ground for the recovery with gains of fractions to 3 points or so generally and a few as much as 5. Transfers were around 1,500,000 shares.

Selling kept the list in a rather narrow range in the first hour, but in the final period heavy buying orders put the ticker tape behind for several minutes.

A further advance in U. S. government securities aided sentiment. Other bonds improved. The price of export copper was given another lift to its highest level in 5 years. Major commodities more than held their own.

Leading the forward push were the motors, steels, coppers, alcohols, merchandising and specialty issues. Only the rails were backward. The utilities also failed to get far out in front.

Prominent on the upturn were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Rolling Mill, Anaconda, Kennecott, Andes, Cerro De Pasco, Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol, Spiegel-May-Stern, Montgomery ward, Sears Roebuck, Allied Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Pathe, Patino Mines, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, Standard Oil of N. J., Westinghouse, Crown Cork, Du-Pont, Sharpe & Dohme, Celanese, Johns-Manville, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Western Union and International Telephone.

Generous disbursements to shareholders, higher pay for workers in the steel and other industries employing thousands, served to stimulate retail store stocks and others that may benefit by a substantial growth in public spending over the remainder of the year.

Traders seemed to have gotten over their disappointment at the smaller than predicted extra declared by Standard Oil of N. J., and support was accorded the issue on the belief directors may distribute more in the next quarter.

Recent lagging tendencies displayed by the rails was explained in some quarters by the belief many of the carriers will increase maintenance expenses in November and December with a consequent trimming of net operating income figures.

Liveliness of liquor stocks in the past few sessions, brokers said, was coincident with hopes the holiday demand in this field will be the most pronounced for any comparable period since repeal.

'TAG DAY' ENDS 'Y' DRIVE HERE

Sum Required For Upkeep Of Home Believed To Have Been Realized

The financial campaign of the Young Women's Christian association came to virtual conclusion Saturday with a "tag day" on downtown Monroe streets.

Fourteen Girl Reserves from Neville High school and Ouachita Parish High school participated. Attractive little triangular pieces of paper were affixed to clothing of contributors who responded generously to the appeal, stated Mrs. Fagan Cox, who was in charge of this part of the campaign. While the sum realized was not made known, it was said that it was wholly satisfactory.

The women who have been in charge of the drive, which was initiated last Monday, have made reports in nearly all cases and their returns will all be in by Tuesday, Mrs. Cox said. On that day, auditors will go over the returns and it is expected that the sum total will be sufficient to finance the work for another year.

The big gifts campaign was instituted several weeks ago and went over well, solicitors reported Saturday.

STUDENTS TO RUN NORMAL APPOINTED

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Three students were named today to serve as administrative officers at the Louisiana State Normal college here during the annual convention of the Louisiana Teachers' association in Monroe on November 19, 20 and 21, when the administrative staff and members of the faculty will attend the teachers' meeting in a body.

Paul Piazza of Abbeville was selected by the students to serve as president of the college and Sims Jackson of Campti was named dean of men for the three-day period. Miss Georgie Pickett of Pineville was selected as dean of women. Leading students will be appointed to teach the classes at the college during the convention period.

Dr. J. E. Guardia, professor of geography, and Dr. Sarah L. C. Clapp, professor of English, will represent the State Normal college as official delegates at the Monroe meeting. Several members of the faculty are listed to appear on the program at the teachers' meeting.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED IN DITCH NEAR TALLULAH

Stolen here Friday morning, a 1934 model Dodge coupe owned by J. O. Brownlee of Transylvania, in East Carroll parish, was found abandoned Saturday morning in a road ditch near Tallulah, according to information given Monroe police by Goldman Grant, state highway officer.

The car was stolen from North Sixth street between Washington and Adams street. Mr. Brownlee locked the ignition switch and locked the car doors when he left the car there.

SALE OF PROPERTY HELD BY SHERIFF

In a sheriff's sale held yesterday morning at the front entrance of the courthouse, 211 pieces of property were adjudicated to the state and 64 pieces of property were sold for non-payment of 1935 taxes.

There were 381 pieces of property scheduled to be offered in the sale, but 106 of them were saved from the sale when the property owners made eleventh hour payments of their delinquent taxes.

The property involved in the sale was the smallest amount offered at a sheriff's auction here since 1929. Nearly all of the property was residential property and most of it was located in Monroe and West Monroe.

Louisiana's Forgotten Wealth

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of this article is presenting here a picture of the "forgotten wealth" of Louisiana that lies in unsightly hardwoods tree trunks that dot the whole state wherever the land has been denuded of its forests. The tree trunks are the last remnants of the great woods, sometimes they are the relics left by forest fires or by storms. Of what value are they? Mr. Dickard tells the story as the trees themselves might tell it.)

By Herbert E. Dickard

I am the scrubby hardwoods in the vast cut-over forests of Louisiana—a lonesome forgotten thing—and worthless in the thoughts of the people who own me. I am ignored by everyone and abandoned by the lumber industry. Natural gas and coal have even robbed me of my opportunity to spread my radiant cheer in the homes of this state.

But I only laugh as the warm Louisiana winds murmur around my broken and windshaken body. Little do they who scorn me realize that I possess more potential wealth than was realized from all my giant brothers who have been turned into boards, automobile bodies and furniture.

Listen closely and I'll tell you my secret.

Within my body is untold wealth for you. Prosperity for the state and employment for thousands if you will only take what I offer to you.

What do I offer? Well, here is something you may think about. Within my scrubby and worthless looking body is formic acid, drugs, dyes, essential oils, creosote, acid oils, flotation oils, shingle and wood stains, medicine, steel tempering oil, disinfectants, weed killing compounds, wood preserving liquids, neutral oils. From my broken body you may take the esters which are the foundation for paint removers, aeroplane cloth dope, lacquers to paint your automobile, solvents for cellulose plastics, methyl acetate and methyl formate.

I see, from the expression on your face, that you are surprised to hear the things I say, but you will be more so when I tell you that hidden under my bark is that invaluable acetic acid used to manufacture acetone, acetylene, amyl acetate, calcium acetate, explosives, sodium acetata, acetic anhydride, flavoring extracts, perfumes, artificial leather and many commercial solvents in addition to other valuable chemical compounds.

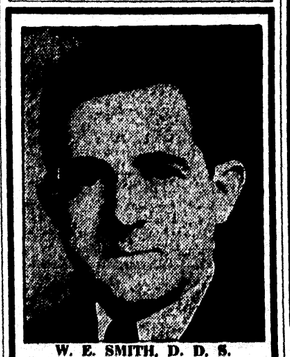

My potential wealth is untold. I may be used for soluble tar, wood pitch, briquett binder, fuel, electric insulation and in the manufacture of all rubber goods. My carbon is used in case hardening metals, manufacturing pure iron, glass manufacturing, foundries, as the base of activated carbon, by the meat packers, by tobacco curing plants and as an essential ingredient in stock and poultry feeds.

The sap that flows through my twisted body contains valuable methyl acetone and the methyl ethyl ketones. They are yours if you would take them.

I laugh and wave my scrubby arms when I hear you appraise me as only valuable to mankind as a fence post when I know that flowing through my body are those two most valuable chemicals; methyl alcohol and formaldehyde, both highly treasured and always wanted in the manufacture of varnishes, shellas, as rubber accelerators, in indigo dyes, synthetic plaster, photographic films, and as denaturing agents, industrial alcohols, in organic synthesis, in anti-freeze solutions, in allyl alcohols, mustard oil, synthetic oil of wintergreen, in the manufacture of mustard gas and—but why go on?

In the end you will probably use me for a pasture fence post and as in the past always bemoan the fact that you haven't enough money to pay your taxes.

To the youth of Louisiana, don't scorn and desert me as our citizens of the past have done, when you see me in the cut-over waste lands of Louisiana. I hold out my scrubby arms to you, and offer you more wealth than all the lumber mills who have ignored me as a useless thing. Accept what I freely offer to you and let me help make Louisiana a golden paradise of industry and commerce.

'TAG DAY' ENDS 'Y' DRIVE HERE

Sum Required For Upkeep Of Home Believed To Have Been Realized

The financial campaign of the Young Women's Christian association came to virtual conclusion Saturday with a "tag day" on downtown Monroe streets.

Fourteen Girl Reserves from Neville High school and Ouachita Parish High school participated. Attractive little triangular pieces of paper were affixed to clothing of contributors who responded generously to the appeal, stated Mrs. Fagan Cox, who was in charge of this part of the campaign. While the sum realized was not made known, it was said that it was wholly satisfactory.

The women who have been in charge of the drive, which was initiated last Monday, have made reports in nearly all cases and their returns will all be in by Tuesday, Mrs. Cox said. On that day, auditors will go over the returns and it is expected that the sum total will be sufficient to finance the work for another year.

The big gifts campaign was instituted several weeks ago and went over well, solicitors reported Saturday.

Louisiana's Forgotten Wealth

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of this article is presenting here a picture of the "forgotten wealth" of Louisiana that lies in unsightly hardwoods tree trunks that dot the whole state wherever the land has been denuded of its forests. The tree trunks are the last remnants of the great woods, sometimes they are the relics left by forest fires or by storms. Of what value are they? Mr. Dickard tells the story as the trees themselves might tell it.)

By Herbert E. Dickard

I am the scrubby hardwoods in the vast cut-over forests of Louisiana—a lonesome forgotten thing—and worthless in the thoughts of the people who own me. I am ignored by everyone and abandoned by the lumber industry. Natural gas and coal have even robbed me of my opportunity to spread my radiant cheer in the homes of this state.

But I only laugh as the warm Louisiana winds murmur around my broken and windshaken body. Little do they who scorn me realize that I possess more potential wealth than was realized from all my giant brothers who have been turned into boards, automobile bodies and furniture.

Listen closely and I'll tell you my secret.

Within my body is untold wealth for you. Prosperity for the state and employment for thousands if you will only take what I offer to you.

What do I offer? Well, here is something you may think about. Within my scrubby and worthless looking body is formic acid, drugs, dyes, essential oils, creosote, acid oils, flotation oils, shingle and wood stains, medicine, steel tempering oil, disinfectants, weed killing compounds, wood preserving liquids, neutral oils. From my broken body you may take the esters which are the foundation for paint removers, aeroplane cloth dope, lacquers to paint your automobile, solvents for cellulose plastics, methyl acetate and methyl formate.

I see, from the expression on your face, that you are surprised to hear the things I say, but you will be more so when I tell you that hidden under my bark is that invaluable acetic acid used to manufacture acetone, acetylene, amyl acetate, calcium acetate, explosives, sodium acetata, acetic anhydride, flavoring extracts, perfumes, artificial leather and many commercial solvents in addition to other valuable chemical compounds.

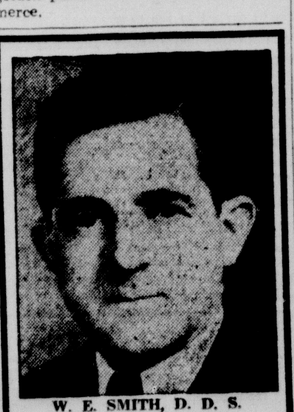

My potential wealth is untold. I may be used for soluble tar, wood pitch, briquett binder, fuel, electric insulation and in the manufacture of all rubber goods. My carbon is used in case hardening metals, manufacturing pure iron, glass manufacturing, foundries, as the base of activated carbon, by the meat packers, by tobacco curing plants and as an essential ingredient in stock and poultry feeds.

The sap that flows through my twisted body contains valuable methyl acetone and the methyl ethyl ketones. They are yours if you would take them.

I laugh and wave my scrubby arms when I hear you appraise me as only valuable to mankind as a fence post when I know that flowing through my body are those two most valuable chemicals; methyl alcohol and formaldehyde, both highly treasured and always wanted in the manufacture of varnishes, shellas, as rubber accellerators, in indigo dyes, synthetic plaster, photographic films, and as denaturing agents, industrial alcohols, in organic synthesis, in anti-freeze solutions, in allyl alcohols, mustard oil, synthetic oil of wintergreen, in the manufacture of mustard gas and—but why go on?

In the end you will probably use me for a pasture fence post and as in the past always bemoan the fact that you haven't enough money to pay your taxes.

To the youth of Louisiana, don't scorn and desert me as our citizens of the past have done, when you see me in the cut-over waste lands of Louisiana. I hold out my scrubby arms to you, and offer you more wealth than all the lumber mills who have ignored me as a useless thing. Accept what I freely offer to you and let me help make Louisiana a golden paradise of industry and commerce.

Biedenharns Speed Home From Chicago

Hinkle-Tremaine, Carroll-Cosper Weddings Center Of Interest During Week

By Eve Bradford

NOVEMBER, called by poetic souls "the twilight of the gods," hurries along to keep tryst with December, the last month of the waning year. The night wind, last week, tired of playing around with the ghosts of summer, suddenly turned cold and snooped around like the wolf looking for Little Red Ridinghood. It wasn't cold enough to do any great damage but it was sufficiently frosty to put the finishing touches to the giant paintings spread out on the fields by the great alchemists who are responsible for the glowing colors of the foliage—gold, bronze, red, purple and brown.

Henry and Bessie Biedenharn hurried home from Chicago neck and neck with Jack Frost, who did his best to nip their toes and freeze their ears. Driving in a blinding sheet of snow and ice over the Ozark mountains they dropped down on Dixie with a sigh of blessed relief. Dr. and Mrs. Phanor Perot, home from Washington last week, were just one leap ahead of his majesty Old Man Winter and were privileged to enjoy the hillsides of blazing maples where the handiwork of the Master Painter had been depicted.

Sunday is the one day in the week when a busy woman has time for gathering up the loose ends of the past six days for relaxing in a deep armchair with the book she has been intending to read, for chatting aimlessly with family and later in the day for that long automobile ride. The ride home through the stilly autumn night when the chance baying of the watchdog at the hunter's moon is answered by an eerie "honk-honk" of wild geese strung across the flaming sky—sibilant music that lingers through the weeks ahead.

We are now enjoying a delicious interlude free of politics after the smoke of battle cleared away. Each day has had its big moment with the elegant soiree at Lakeside Country club yesterday morning during the coffee hour taking the spotlight for perfection of detail. How could it be otherwise with Mamie Davis, Mary Pearl Jarrell and Sara Shafto putting their heads together to determine what the table decore should be? It was, of course, the essence of artistry with the rich yield of the harvest the main theme. Picturesque clusters of purple hung temptingly from the long gilded basket heaped high with Japanese persimmons, pomegranates, rosy cheeked apples, golden oranges, white grapes. Clusters of chrysanthemums in all the autumn shades lifted shaggy heads from streamers of gold and russet colored satin ribbons fluttering down the full length of the damask draped table. Words are inadequate when artistry rises to such supreme heights. All the superlatives at our command could be used in this particular case. Sue Graves, for whom this distinctive affair was given, was wearing one of her dark colored trousseau gowns. Sue always affects simplicity in dress which, according to the best known modistes, is the essence of chic.

Soft music, please. Close the drapes, dim the lights, hush your voice. We're going to speak of something very tender and lovely—romance. Yes, it has to do with the marriage of Elizabeth Cosper and Eldredge Carroll last night. It was one of the loveliest Monroe has ever seen. The bride looked like a dream and the wedding party was a vision. The young ring-bearer, Charles Reid, carried the silk cushion which is a veteran of other happy marriages already, so you see Elizabeth has a good omen before her.

Another romance which might have ended disastrously for the bridegroom at least was the wedding yesterday in Jackson, Miss., of Henry Hinkle and Wanda Tremaine. So excited was the bridegroom-elect ere departure for Jackson he tucked all his clothes away in the wrong car. However, all is well that ends well. His clothes were returned and he went blissfully on his way. We saw Thelma Young and her husband, Crawford, off for Henry and Wanda's wedding. Thelma should have been posing as a mannequin, as she was altogether lovely in a violet colored knit suit with violet colored felt hat and a nosegay of purple flowers tucked on the collar of her fur coat.

The same rose point veil and gown that adorned her mother on her wedding day—the same orange blossoms that nestled in her hair and the pearls that belonged to her grandmother were worn by Wanda yesterday when she became Mrs. Hinkle.

The world, generally, will never know what took place at the J. Q. Graves home Thursday night when Dr. Graves was host at supper for Eldredge Carroll, bridegroom-elect, however, we do know that gorgeous turkeys were carved, and a buffet stood groaning with delicacies, chaudfroids, salads and other edibles fit for the gods. Impromptu entertainment interspersed the program supplied by professional entertainers brought in for the amusement of the guests.

All engagements you must rescind if you haven't read "Gone With The Wind." You will certainly be chagrined, conversationally, unless you read the book everyone is discussing. Jennie Mitchell, sitting in the ancestral home of her forebears, turned the last leaf of Margaret Mitchell's story of Civil war days and declared every word to be true. Mrs. Mitchell knows whereof she speaks, as she remembers distinctly the stories told to her by her grandparents who owned one of the largest plantations in Port Gibson, seat of Yankee invasion during war days. One of her grandmother's most treasured possessions was the spinet piano seized with other "spoils of war." In the O'Kelly home today, the oldest by the way in this section of the country, are priceless pieces of mahogany from the plantation home of her grandparents. Articles, sufficiently valuable and aged to make antique hunters quite delirious, are everywhere in evidence in this old home that has stood under the giant oaks and magnolias for the past 150 years. It was purchased by Mrs. Mitchell's uncle after the war and remodeled. Since then it has been in possession of Mrs. Mitchell's family and the style of architecture has never been changed. The spacious rooms and lofty ceilings, wide halls and rambling galleries are all silent reminders of the glorious old south.

Let our skilled hair dresser, Mr. Hooper, cut your hair in an individual style which he will design just for you. Afterward you can have it waved and set according to the lines that he will dictate. A styled haircut costs no more than an ordinary one but more satisfactory.

Miss Betty Fuggitt Is Honored Guest

Miss Betty Fuggitt of Atlanta, Ga., a charming visitor in the home of Mrs. Ralph Holcombe, was the recipient of considerable social attention last week with Mrs. Holcombe's coffee hour, paving the way for other gracious affairs.

Of prominence was Mrs. Jerome Stacy Bassett's bridge affair in her home on Auburn avenue with Miss Fuggitt the central figure in the flower banked reception suite where the afternoon of bridge was enjoyed.

A handsome pottery urn was presented to Mrs. C. H. Dunaway for high score and a gardenia corsage to Mrs. R. Holcombe for consolation. Mrs. Bassett's gift for remembrance to her guest of honor was a piece of satin lingerie.

A delicious turkey course followed by demi tasse and sweet confections was served at beautifully appointed linen-covered tables by Mrs. Bassett, assisted by her daughter, Miss Martha Bassett.

Present to meet Miss Fuggitt were Mrs. J. Summerlin, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. Bodan, Mrs. J. A. Combs, Mrs. F. Jones, Mrs. Graham Waring, Mrs. Isadore Liebreich, Mrs. John Hardin, Mrs. Mary Wiesel, Miss Mary Alice Weigle, Mrs. R. Holcombe.

Mrs. C. B. Shackleford's bridge honoring Miss Fuggitt last week, was delightfully informal with a profusion of golden hued blossoms, beautiful bridge gifts and luscious refreshments the outstanding features.

Miss Fuggitt's gift from her hostess was lovely chiffon hosiery. Mrs. Sid Walker for high score received chiffon hosiery, and Mrs. Ned Wilson, for consolation, received a piece of Italian cut-work linen.

A sea food course with luscious accessories and coffee was served at the card tables overlaid with handsome linen and appointed with silver.

Present were Miss Fuggitt, Mrs. Roy Holcombe, Mrs. Street McGuffie, Mrs. Olcott, Mrs. Floyd Stone, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Ned Wilson, Mrs. Graham Waring, Mrs. M. E. Bell, Mrs. R. H. Carpenter, Mrs. Z. P. Stone, Mrs. Burgoyne, Mrs. Wiegle.

Of prominence also among the events honoring Miss Fuggit last week was Mrs. E. G. Waring's beautiful bridge affair at her hospitable home on Roselawn. An extravagant array of flowers, handsome bridge gifts and a perfectly appointed luncheon were the highlights.

Little Theater Play Is Success

Especially enjoyable was the season's first Little Theater offering, "Love Is All," on Thursday at Northeast Center auditorium.

A representative audience filled to capacity the auditorium and thronged the corridors during the intermission. Coffee cup conversation was in order during this pleasant interlude with the play the chief topic. Mrs. B. Beasley, chairman of the committee, serving as hostesses during the intermission, was in a measure responsible for the success of the season's first production, from a social standpoint. She was assisted by Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. F. Allison, Mrs. Russell Simpson, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., all of whom wore smart evening gowns.

Mrs. Jonas Selig, Mrs. R. N. Slator, Dr. E. F. Hayward and Mr. Allen Norris were in charge of the box office.

"Love Is All" was a sparkling comedy with clever conversational lines and abounding in amusing situations. Under the able direction of Louis Guerriero, the play assumed a professional atmosphere that lifted it out of the amateur class. Miss Sue Hefley, in her characterization of the gullible fadist, Mrs. Clarissa Weatherbee, injected an element of professionalism, so greatly desired in Little Theater productions. Miss Hefley's magnetic personality was ideally suited to the role in which she was cast. She was particularly amusing in acknowledging the adoration of kneeling members of the love cult, while explaining this cult to her tolerant and humble husband, Durwood Griffin, and while struggling with her son, Paul Oxley. Paul, by the way, had a most difficult role to play. He stood alone against the other members of the cast who had fallen for the Hindu's, James Guerriero's graceful, hand-waving salaaming and oriental figures of speech. Ruth Hood, as the sincere and beautiful daughter of the Weatherbees, cunningly outwitted her mother, her brother and his best girl, Pat Pugh. Pat's glorious auburn hair was in delightful harmony with the vivid green sport attire and the shimmering evening gown worn in the last act.

Miss Mildred Johnson and Joseph Craig lifted mediocre roles into most important parts. Sincerity of purpose, the ability to sense dramatic situations and to inject their own personalities into the lines spoken, placed them among the foremost members of the Little Theater.

Edward Kane To Appear Thursday

Mr. Kane, born of Irish-American parents, in the small but picturesque city of Wickliffe, Ky., has always had an instinct for singing. This, together with the finest training America can offer, has produced the unusual artist before the public today. Indeed, his record is an enviable one. His first year in Emory university, he was soloist for the glee club. With this organization he toured Europe as well as the greater part of the United States. Almost immediately after graduating, he won the National Atwater Kent Radio audition, which gave him a cash prize of $5,000 and a two-year scholarship. The scholarship entitled him to attend the Curtis Institute of Music, located in Philadelphia. There he studied with the world famous baritone Emilio de Gogorza. Upon completing the scholarship offered at the Curtis institute, Mr. Kane won the young artists' prize sponsored by the National Federation of Music clubs for the finest young artist in America. For the past three seasons, Mr. Kane has been employed as soloist for the historic church of St. Nicholas, said to be the oldest church in America with continuous ministry. Mr. Kane has appeared extensively in opera, oratorio and concert. The last, sponsored largely by Federated Music clubs, have carried him to all parts of the country.

Christmas Only Six Weeks Away

Women who do their Christmas shopping early will applaud the reminder of approaching Yuletide, but the laggards who wait until the eleventh hour to shop will consider the reminder rather premature. However, whether you do your shopping early or late, the fact still remains that Christmas is just six weeks ahead. Already the shops are taking on a festive atmosphere, especially in the gift departments, where beautiful things can now be purchased or laid aside.

Germany starts its Christmas shopping early, in fact in the middle of November, when the "Dom" Christmas fair, famous throughout Europe, opens in Hamburg. A whole temporary city of stalls and booths with two main avenues and seven side streets springs up on the Holy Ghost Field, a great green in the heart of Hamburg, and during the month of the fair thousands flock there for the event.

Cafes and restaurants spring up like magic over the Holy Ghost Field, for food is an essential of the "Dom" fair. And most essential of all the food is the "bunter teller," or bright plate, a dish filled with nuts, pepper and ginger bread, dates, figs, apples, marzipan and other candies. It symbolizes at Christmas that life has other good things than mere daily bread, and that the coming year will bring many of them.

For children, there is every kind of amusement from merry-go-rounds and roller coasters to flea circuses and a midget city with tiny church, fire department and city hall. Street vendors wander up and down the thoroughfares selling trinkets, and the merchants in booths tempt everyone to buy things with witty remarks.

In other parts of Germany, about the time America is celebrating Thanksgiving, families start their observances of Christmas. On the Sunday nearest November 30, the first in Advent, they hang up a wreath of evergreen decorated with four candles and many ribbons. That evening the first candle is lighted, on the second Sunday another, on the third another and the Sunday before Christmas all are burned to signify that Christmas week has come at last.

The Thursdays before Christmas are important, too, for they were once the nights of the old German gods. At that time came the first snow—"Mutter Holle" shaking her feather bed out over the land—and Wotan rode his white horse over the pastures of German peasants. Cattle began to talk and men were able to foretell the future.

Mrs. Littlepage And Dr. McNeilly Wed

A quiet wedding of widespread interest throughout north Louisiana was celebrated at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manning McGuire, North Seventh street, West Monroe, when their daughter, Mrs. Lavinia Littlepage, was united in marriage to Dr. F. F. McNeilly of Colfax. Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read the simple impressive ceremony. The wedding unites two of the oldest families in this section of the state.

The bride was dressed in a smart tailleur and carried a beautiful bouquet of Talisman roses. Only immediate members of the two families were present at the wedding. The living room of the McGuire home, scene of the nuptials, was artistically decorated with bamboo, autumn leaves and roses. Following the ceremony, Mrs. McGuire served light refreshments. Dr. and Mrs. McNeilly left immediately on a short honeymoon. They will make their future home in Colfax.

Dr. McNeilly is a member of one of the pioneer families of Grant parish, where he was born and reared. He received his early education in that parish and is a graduate of Louisiana State university. After receiving his medical degree he established a practice in his home parish before engaging in work for the United States government, on which he has recently been employed.

Mrs. Littlepage is also a descendant of pioneer stock, and is widely known throughout this section of the state.

Mrs. R. N. Slator Attends Confab

Mrs. R. N. Slator, member of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city, is in Dallas, where she attended the south central regional conference of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The conference had as its theme, "Pursuit of Liberty." Among the attractive features was the occupational luncheon and the "old south" dinner on Friday, "Centennial" dinner on Saturday, the "autumn" breakfast and "Rose" luncheon on Sunday.

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, associated editor of Pictorial Review and president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was the guest speaker at the banquet on Saturday night. Her subject was "Wings Over Waves." Other prominent members present were Miss Charl Ormond Williams, president of the national federation; Miss Earlene White, first vice president, national federation; Miss Louise Franklin Bache, executive secretary, national federation, and Dr. Minnie L. Maffett, national health chairman.

Ira C. Castles, Jr., Weds In Annapolis

Castles, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Castles of Monroe, to Miss Mary Deffinbaugh, daughter of Mrs. S. M. Deffinbaugh and the late Mr. Deffinbaugh, in Annapolis, Md., Saturday, October 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Castles, following their honeymoon, will be at home in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Castles, a great favorite in this city, where he attended high school, is a graduate of the Louisiana State university in Baton Rouge, class of 1934. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Phanor Perot, home from Washington last week, were just one leap ahead of his majesty Old Man Winter and were privileged to enjoy the hillsides of blazing maples where the handiwork of the Master Painter had been depicted.

Sunday is the one day in the week when a busy woman has time for gathering up the loose ends of the past six days for relaxing in a deep armchair with the book she has been intending to read, for chatting aimlessly with family and later in the day for that long automobile ride. The ride home through the stilly autumn night when the chance baying of the watchdog at the hunter's moon is answered by an eerie "honk-honk" of wild geese strung across the flaming sky—sibilant music that lingers through the weeks ahead.

We are now enjoying a delicious interlude free of politics after the smoke of battle cleared away. Each day has had its big moment with the elegant soiree at Lakeside Country club yesterday morning during the coffee hour taking the spotlight for perfection of detail. How could it be otherwise with Mamie Davis, Mary Pearl Jarrell and Sara Shafto putting their heads together to determine what the table decore should be? It was, of course, the essence of artistry with the rich yield of the harvest the main theme. Picturesque clusters of purple hung temptingly from the long gilded basket heaped high with Japanese persimmons, pomegranates, rosy cheeked apples, golden oranges, white grapes. Clusters of chrysanthemums in all the autumn shades lifted shaggy heads from streamers of gold and russet colored satin ribbons fluttering down the full length of the damask draped table. Words are inadequate when artistry rises to such supreme heights. All the superlatives at our command could be used in this particular case. Sue Graves, for whom this distinctive affair was given, was wearing one of her dark colored trousseau gowns. Sue always affects simplicity in dress which, according to the best known modistes, is the essence of chic.

Soft music, please. Close the drapes, dim the lights, hush your voice. We're going to speak of something very tender and lovely—romance. Yes, it has to do with the marriage of Elizabeth Cosper and Eldredge Carroll last night. It was one of the loveliest Monroe has ever seen. The bride looked like a dream and the wedding party was a vision. The young ring-bearer, Charles Reid, carried the silk cushion which is a veteran of other happy marriages already, so you see Elizabeth has a good omen before her.

Another romance which might have ended disastrously for the bridegroom at least was the wedding yesterday in Jackson, Miss., of Henry Hinkle and Wanda Tremaine. So excited was the bridegroom-elect ere departure for Jackson he tucked all his clothes away in the wrong car. However, all is well that ends well. His clothes were returned and he went blissfully on his way. We saw Thelma Young and her husband, Crawford, off for Henry and Wanda's wedding. Thelma should have been posing as a mannequin, as she was altogether lovely in a violet colored knit suit with violet colored felt hat and a nosegay of purple flowers tucked on the collar of her fur coat.

The same rose point veil and gown that adorned her mother on her wedding day—the same orange blossoms that nestled in her hair and the pearls that belonged to her grandmother were worn by Wanda yesterday when she became Mrs. Hinkle.

The world, generally, will never know what took place at the J. Q. Graves home Thursday night when Dr. Graves was host at supper for Eldredge Carroll, bridegroom-elect, however, we do know that gorgeous turkeys were carved, and a buffet stood groaning with delicacies, chaudfroids, salads and other edibles fit for the gods. Impromptu entertainment interspersed the program supplied by professional entertainers brought in for the amusement of the guests.

All engagements you must rescind if you haven't read "Gone With The Wind." You will certainly be chagrined, conversationally, unless you read the book everyone is discussing. Jennie Mitchell, sitting in the ancestral home of her forebears, turned the last leaf of Margaret Mitchell's story of Civil war days and declared every word to be true. Mrs. Mitchell knows whereof she speaks, as she remembers distinctly the stories told to her by her grandparents who owned one of the largest plantations in Port Gibson, seat of Yankee invasion during war days. One of her grandmother's most treasured possessions was the spinet piano seized with other "spoils of war." In the O'Kelly home today, the oldest by the way in this section of the country, are priceless pieces of mahogany from the plantation home of her grandparents. Articles, sufficiently valuable and aged to make antique hunters quite delirious, are everywhere in evidence in this old home that has stood under the giant oaks and magnolias for the past 150 years. It was purchased by Mrs. Mitchell's uncle after the war and remodeled. Since then it has been in possession of Mrs. Mitchell's family and the style of architecture has never been changed. The spacious rooms and lofty ceilings, wide halls and rambling galleries are all silent reminders of the glorious old south.

Miss Betty Fuggitt Is Honored Guest

Miss Betty Fuggitt of Atlanta, Ga., a charming visitor in the home of Mrs. Ralph Holcombe, was the recipient of considerable social attention last week with Mrs. Holcombe's coffee hour, paving the way for other gracious affairs.

Of prominence was Mrs. Jerome Stacy Bassett's bridge affair in her home on Auburn avenue with Miss Fuggitt the central figure in the flower banked reception suite where the afternoon of bridge was enjoyed.

A handsome pottery urn was presented to Mrs. C. H. Dunaway for high score and a gardenia corsage to Mrs. R. Holcombe for consolation. Mrs. Bassett's gift for remembrance to her guest of honor was a piece of satin lingerie.

A delicious turkey course followed by demi tasse and sweet confections was served at beautifully appointed linen-covered tables by Mrs. Bassett, assisted by her daughter, Miss Martha Bassett.

Present to meet Miss Fuggitt were Mrs. J. Summerlin, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. Bodan, Mrs. J. A. Combs, Mrs. F. Jones, Mrs. Graham Waring, Mrs. Isadore Liebreich, Mrs. John Hardin, Mrs. Mary Wiesel, Miss Mary Alice Weigle, Mrs. R. Holcombe.

Mrs. C. B. Shackleford's bridge honoring Miss Fuggitt last week, was delightfully informal with a profusion of golden hued blossoms, beautiful bridge gifts and luscious refreshments the outstanding features.

Miss Fuggitt's gift from her hostess was lovely chiffon hosiery. Mrs. Sid Walker for high score received chiffon hosiery, and Mrs. Ned Wilson, for consolation, received a piece of Italian cut-work linen.

A sea food course with luscious accessories and coffee was served at the card tables overlaid with handsome linen and appointed with silver.

Present were Miss Fuggitt, Mrs. Roy Holcombe, Mrs. Street McGuffie, Mrs. Olcott, Mrs. Floyd Stone, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Ned Wilson, Mrs. Graham Waring, Mrs. M. E. Bell, Mrs. R. H. Carpenter, Mrs. Z. P. Stone, Mrs. Burgoyne, Mrs. Wiegle.

Of prominence also among the events honoring Miss Fuggit last week was Mrs. E. G. Waring's beautiful bridge affair at her hospitable home on Roselawn. An extravagant array of flowers, handsome bridge gifts and a perfectly appointed luncheon were the highlights.

Little Theater Play Is Success

Little Theater plays featuring charming interludes during which coffee is served, are among the pleasantest events in the current social scheme of things.

Especially enjoyable was the season's first Little Theater offering, "Love Is All," on Thursday at Northeast Center auditorium.

A representative audience filled to capacity the auditorium and thronged the corridors during the intermission. Coffee cup conversation was in order during this pleasant interlude with the play the chief topic. Mrs. B. Beasley, chairman of the committee, serving as hostesses during the intermission, was in a measure responsible for the success of the season's first production, from a social standpoint. She was assisted by Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. F. Allison, Mrs. Russell Simpson, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., all of whom wore smart evening gowns.

Mrs. Jonas Selig, Mrs. R. N. Slator, Dr. E. F. Hayward and Mr. Allen Norris were in charge of the box office.

"Love Is All" was a sparkling comedy with clever conversational lines and abounding in amusing situations. Under the able direction of Louis Guerriero, the play assumed a professional atmosphere that lifted it out of the amateur class. Miss Sue Hefley, in her characterization of the gullible fadist, Mrs. Clarissa Weatherbee, injected an element of professionalism, so greatly desired in Little Theater productions. Miss Hefley's magnetic personality was ideally suited to the role in which she was cast. She was particularly amusing in acknowledging the adoration of kneeling members of the love cult, while explaining this cult to her tolerant and humble husband, Durwood Griffin, and while struggling with her son, Paul Oxley. Paul, by the way, had a most difficult role to play. He stood alone against the other members of the cast who had fallen for the Hindu's, James Guerriero's graceful, hand-waving salaaming and oriental figures of speech. Ruth Hood, as the sincere and beautiful daughter of the Weatherbees, cunningly outwitted her mother, her brother and his best girl, Pat Pugh. Pat's glorious auburn hair was in delightful harmony with the vivid green sport attire and the shimmering evening gown worn in the last act.

Scherck Bogan gave an excellent portrayal of the blase detective O'Reilly, and came in for a share of the generous applause.

Louis Guerriero proved his remarkable versatility in his ability to fill an important role in the play he directed. As a member of Swami B'Hami's cult, he gave an excellent piece of work.

Miss Mildred Johnson and Joseph Craig lifted mediocre roles into most important parts. Sincerity of purpose, the ability to sense dramatic situations and to inject their own personalities into the lines spoken, placed them among the foremost members of the Little Theater.

Edward Kane To Appear Thursday

The appearance in this city of a noted tenor, Edward Kane, in recital at Northeast Center auditorium on November 12 is regarded as a distinct triumph for members of the Musical coterie, sponsors for this artistic event.

Mr. Kane, born of Irish-American parents, in the small but picturesque city of Wickliffe, Ky., has always had an instinct for singing. This, together with the finest training America can offer, has produced the unusual artist before the public today. Indeed, his record is an enviable one. His first year in Emory university, he was soloist for the glee club. With this organization he toured Europe as well as the greater part of the United States. Almost immediately after graduating, he won the National Atwater Kent Radio audition, which gave him a cash prize of $5,000 and a two-year scholarship. The scholarship entitled him to attend the Curtis Institute of Music, located in Philadelphia. There he studied with the world famous baritone Emilio de Gogorza. Upon completing the scholarship offered at the Curtis institute, Mr. Kane won the young artists' prize sponsored by the National Federation of Music clubs for the finest young artist in America. For the past three seasons, Mr. Kane has been employed as soloist for the historic church of St. Nicholas, said to be the oldest church in America with continuous ministry. Mr. Kane has appeared extensively in opera, oratorio and concert. The last, sponsored largely by Federated Music clubs, have carried him to all parts of the country.

Christmas Only Six Weeks Away

Women who do their Christmas shopping early will applaud the reminder of approaching Yuletide, but the laggards who wait until the eleventh hour to shop will consider the reminder rather premature. However, whether you do your shopping early or late, the fact still remains that Christmas is just six weeks ahead. Already the shops are taking on a festive atmosphere, especially in the gift departments, where beautiful things can now be purchased or laid aside.

Germany starts its Christmas shopping early, in fact in the middle of November, when the "Dom" Christmas fair, famous throughout Europe, opens in Hamburg. A whole temporary city of stalls and booths with two main avenues and seven side streets springs up on the Holy Ghost Field, a great green in the heart of Hamburg, and during the month of the fair thousands flock there for the event.

Cafes and restaurants spring up like magic over the Holy Ghost Field, for food is an essential of the "Dom" fair. And most essential of all the food is the "bunter teller," or bright plate, a dish filled with nuts, pepper and ginger bread, dates, figs, apples, marzipan and other candies. It symbolizes at Christmas that life has other good things than mere daily bread, and that the coming year will bring many of them.

For children, there is every kind of amusement from merry-go-rounds and roller coasters to flea circuses and a midget city with tiny church, fire department and city hall. Street vendors wander up and down the thoroughfares selling trinkets, and the merchants in booths tempt everyone to buy things with witty remarks.

In other parts of Germany, about the time America is celebrating Thanksgiving, families start their observances of Christmas. On the Sunday nearest November 30, the first in Advent, they hang up a wreath of evergreen decorated with four candles and many ribbons. That evening the first candle is lighted, on the second Sunday another, on the third another and the Sunday before Christmas all are burned to signify that Christmas week has come at last.

The Thursdays before Christmas are important, too, for they were once the nights of the old German gods. At that time came the first snow—"Mutter Holle" shaking her feather bed out over the land—and Wotan rode his white horse over the pastures of German peasants. Cattle began to talk and men were able to foretell the future.

Mrs. Littlepage And Dr. McNeilly Wed

A quiet wedding of widespread interest throughout north Louisiana was celebrated at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manning McGuire, North Seventh street, West Monroe, when their daughter, Mrs. Lavinia Littlepage, was united in marriage to Dr. F. F. McNeilly of Colfax. Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read the simple impressive ceremony. The wedding unites two of the oldest families in this section of the state.

The bride was dressed in a smart tailleur and carried a beautiful bouquet of Talisman roses. Only immediate members of the two families were present at the wedding. The living room of the McGuire home, scene of the nuptials, was artistically decorated with bamboo, autumn leaves and roses. Following the ceremony, Mrs. McGuire served light refreshments. Dr. and Mrs. McNeilly left immediately on a short honeymoon. They will make their future home in Colfax.

Dr. McNeilly is a member of one of the pioneer families of Grant parish, where he was born and reared. He received his early education in that parish and is a graduate of Louisiana State university. After receiving his medical degree he established a practice in his home parish before engaging in work for the United States government, on which he has recently been employed.

Mrs. Littlepage is also a descendant of pioneer stock, and is widely known throughout this section of the state.

Miss O'Donnell Will Marry Fred Seaman

Miss Wanda Tremaine And Henry Hinkle Wed At Jackson; Prominent Families United

The interest of society is centered today in the formal announcement made by Dr. and Mrs. Robert William O'Donnell of the engagement and marriage, early in January, of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise O'Donnell, to Mr. Frederick Lewis Seaman, son of Mrs. F. L. Seaman of New Orleans.

Miss O'Donnell, a young woman of considerable charm and culture, was born and reared in this city, where she occupies a special niche in the social world and in Little Theatre circles. She is also an active worker in the Junior Charity league. Miss O'Donnell is a graduate of the City High school and attended Soule college in New Orleans.

Mr. Seaman is associated with the Fire Companies Adjustment bureau in this city. He attended Webb school in Bellbuckle, Tenn.

Lovely simplicity and distinctive charm characterized the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Wanda Tremaine, daughter of Mrs. William John Tremaine and the late Mr. Tremaine, and Mr. Henry Hill Hinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hinkle, formerly of Monroe but now of San Antonio, Tex., on November 7 at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Walter Jones of Gillespie Place, Jackson, Miss., with Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church of Monroe, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

Artistic decorations reached a climax in the picturesque altar reared in one corner of the spacious drawing room. Luxuriant palms and ferns banked the base of the pyramid candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers. Masses of waxen blossoms and two white satin prayer pillows completed the altar arrangement.

The only attendant was Mr. Robert Cann of Longview, Tex., who served as best man. The bridal couple entered together.

The lovely bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory lace over ivory satin, made with a quaint high stock neckline and shirred elbow-length sleeves. The waistline was draped and the skirt, tight fitting to the knee, flared into a train. She also wore her mother's bridal veil of ivory illusion. The short nose veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls among which lilies of the valley were embroidered. The veil extended over the train of the gown.

For sentiment the bride wore a strand of pearls which had belonged to her grandmother, and a heart-shaped pearl pin which had been worn by five brides in her family. She carried a lace handkerchief, also an heirloom, which each of the brides had carried. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses centered with orchids.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle left on a wedding trip to San Antonio. For traveling the bride chose a black wool costume with a fitted, belted coat featuring black pony trim, with which she wore a green lace blouse and a matching hat of felt. Her accessories were black. A corsage of orchids completed her distinctive costume.

Mrs. Hinkle, who made her home in this city during her early girlhood, returned to Monroe with other members of the family two years ago and again resumed her activities as a member of the younger set. She is a great favorite and friends are glad indeed that her marriage will bring her back to Monroe. She is a graduate of Millsaps college, Jackson, Miss., and a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Mr. Hinkle is a graduate of Louisiana State university, where he became a member of S. A. E. fraternity. He is now engaged in business in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle will reside at the Hinkle plantation home, at Buckhorn Bend.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hinkle, San Antonio, Tex., parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Thompson, Miss Sara Frances Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Young, all of Monroe; Mrs. L. M. McCormick, Shreveport; Mr. Robert Cann, Longview, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simon, Alexandria, La.

Echo From The Past

Quaint as the woolen frocks grandmother wore over layers of flannel petticoats, this smart little woolen dress has a swinging skirt with ten gores, a snug bodice, silver hooked to a high, round neck and those new push-up sleeves. Of soft rabbit hair woolen, it comes in a warm shade of raspberry and is shown with a diminutive gray fur cape. Right now, hooks and eyes, in gold and silver, serve a decorative as well as practical purpose. The silver ones on this princess frock are concealed when the model stands straight, but, when she moves her arms, the bodice comes apart a bit to show the entire row of them.

Carol Williamson Honored With Party

The sixth birthday anniversary of Carol Jean Williamson found her young friends sharing the pleasures of the day with her in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williamson, of West Monroe.

Each guest present was privileged to cut the beautifully embossed, candle-lit cake centering the party table in the dining room. Other confections were served with ice cream to Carol Jean Williamson, Dorothy Ann Mitchell, Francis Mitchell, Wanda Ray Mitchell, Bobby Mitchell, Peggy Mitchell, Sue Hunt, Cherry Thomas, Harry Gene Howard, Hamilton Cage, Billy Francis Blazier, Sharon Anderson, Mary Coats, Beverly Glynn Martin Beverly Ann Thatcher, Jimmie Padgette, Bettie Sue Scott, Martha McDonald, Joyce Ann Wilson, Harry Chappell, Beryl Lynn DeLoach, Louise Wink, John Ann Lewis and Joan Bandy.

Miss Wanda Tremaine And Henry Hinkle Wed At Jackson; Prominent Families United

The interest of society is centered today in the formal announcement made by Dr. and Mrs. Robert William O'Donnell of the engagement and marriage, early in January, of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise O'Donnell, to Mr. Frederick Lewis Seaman, son of Mrs. F. L. Seaman of New Orleans.

Miss O'Donnell, a young woman of considerable charm and culture, was born and reared in this city, where she occupies a special niche in the social world and in Little Theatre circles. She is also an active worker in the Junior Charity league. Miss O'Donnell is a graduate of the City High school and attended Soule college in New Orleans.

Mr. Seaman is associated with the Fire Companies Adjustment bureau in this city. He attended Webb school in Bellbuckle, Tenn.

Lovely simplicity and distinctive charm characterized the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Wanda Tremaine, daughter of Mrs. William John Tremaine and the late Mr. Tremaine, and Mr. Henry Hill Hinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hinkle, formerly of Monroe but now of San Antonio, Tex., on November 7 at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Walter Jones of Gillespie Place, Jackson, Miss., with Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church of Monroe, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

Artistic decorations reached a climax in the picturesque altar reared in one corner of the spacious drawing room. Luxuriant palms and ferns banked the base of the pyramid candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers. Masses of waxen blossoms and two white satin prayer pillows completed the altar arrangement.

Mrs. Elliott Thompson of Monroe, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a floor length blue velvet gown with corsage of Talisman roses, presided at the piano. A nuptial concert was rendered, featuring "I Love You Truly" and the bridal chorus from Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin."

The only attendant was Mr. Robert Cann of Longview, Tex., who served as best man. The bridal couple entered together.

The lovely bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory lace over ivory satin, made with a quaint high stock neckline and shirred elbow-length sleeves. The waistline was draped and the skirt, tight fitting to the knee, flared into a train. She also wore her mother's bridal veil of ivory illusion. The short nose veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls among which lilies of the valley were embroidered. The veil extended over the train of the gown.

For sentiment the bride wore a strand of pearls which had belonged to her grandmother, and a heart-shaped pearl pin which had been worn by five brides in her family. She carried a lace handkerchief, also an heirloom, which each of the brides had carried. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses centered with orchids.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle left on a wedding trip to San Antonio. For traveling the bride chose a black wool costume with a fitted, belted coat featuring black pony trim, with which she wore a green lace blouse and a matching hat of felt. Her accessories were black. A corsage of orchids completed her distinctive costume.

Mrs. Hinkle, who made her home in this city during her early girlhood, returned to Monroe with other members of the family two years ago and again resumed her activities as a member of the younger set. She is a great favorite and friends are glad indeed that her marriage will bring her back to Monroe. She is a graduate of Millsaps college, Jackson, Miss., and a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Mr. Hinkle is a graduate of Louisiana State university, where he became a member of S. A. E. fraternity. He is now engaged in business in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle will reside at the Hinkle plantation home, at Buckhorn Bend.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hinkle, San Antonio, Tex., parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Thompson, Miss Sara Frances Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Young, all of Monroe; Mrs. L. M. McCormick, Shreveport; Mr. Robert Cann, Longview, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simon, Alexandria, La.

Echo From The Past

Quaint as the woolen frocks grandmother wore over layers of flannel petticoats, this smart little woolen dress has a swinging skirt with ten gores, a snug bodice, silver hooked to a high, round neck and those new push-up sleeves. Of soft rabbit hair woolen, it comes in a warm shade of raspberry and is shown with a diminutive gray fur cape. Right now, hooks and eyes, in gold and silver, serve a decorative as well as practical purpose. The silver ones on this princess frock are concealed when the model stands straight, but, when she moves her arms, the bodice comes apart a bit to show the entire row of them.

Carol Williamson Honored With Party

The sixth birthday anniversary of Carol Jean Williamson found her young friends sharing the pleasures of the day with her in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williamson, of West Monroe.

The living room where the pleasures were enjoyed was gayly decorated with flowers. Joyce Ann Wilson, for her successful efforts in the contests, was handsomely rewarded.

Each guest present was privileged to cut the beautifully embossed, candle-lit cake centering the party table in the dining room. Other confections were served with ice cream to Carol Jean Williamson, Dorothy Ann Mitchell, Francis Mitchell, Wanda Ray Mitchell, Bobby Mitchell, Peggy Mitchell, Sue Hunt, Cherry Thomas, Harry Gene Howard, Hamilton Cage, Billy Francis Blazier, Sharon Anderson, Mary Coats, Beverly Glynn Martin Beverly Ann Thatcher, Jimmie Padgette, Bettie Sue Scott, Martha McDonald, Joyce Ann Wilson, Harry Chappell, Beryl Lynn DeLoach, Louise Wink, John Ann Lewis and Joan Bandy.

Parent-Teacher Associations Active During Past Week

November Message Received By Groups

Work Is Termed 'Greatest Folk Movement In Centuries'; Many Units Convene

"Love thy neighbor as thyself" is the November message of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, just broadcast to the members throughout the country.

Parent-teacher work is termed "the greatest folk movement in centuries." According to the national president of this mighty congress, "We shall fail to keep faith with the responsibility of our stewardship, unless we unite with open minds to meet the realities and possibilities of our day.

"In the past it was the danger of the common enemy that united people to work for a great cause. Today, the common enemy is ignorance."

Neville P.-T. A. Committee Meets

CHAPTER I

The men on the street of the little town of Shelby winked at each other when they saw Major Meed hitching his horse and phaeton in the public square.

"The old man's going to get lit!" one prophesied.

"Then come on in here," he urged.

They were standing before a drug store. Retaining one of her elbows, he piloted her through the door, past the marble counter with its clustered imbibers and led her to the farthest table in the rear.

Kate said, a little breathless, "You act as if I might bolt and run. That's part of your fatal charm, Morgan—treating women like captured trophies." She thought, "I banter him as if I had to. Why can't I just remember we're engaged and relax?"

She told him a limeade, and he instructed the waiter to "make it two." She thought, "He's going to ask to come out tonight. I'll ask him for dinner, I'll hurry dome and make a cake." It was Friday and they almost always dated Friday night. It was an old custom, begun when she was a day pupil at the boarding school in town.

Kate's gaze, honest and eager and very much in love, rested on his face. She noticed for the thousandth time the way his crips jet black hair curled above his forehead. The way his arrogant nostrils dilated when he inhaled his cigaret. The quick gestures of his well-kept, nervous hands. The movement of his surprisingly blue eyes that seemed to take in everything.

She watched him crush out his cigaret, saw that he was going to speak. Waited.

"Kate," he said, "how about my coming out Monday night? About 8?"

"Monday?" repeated Kate blankly. She had the dismaying feeling that a whole week-end had toppled about her ears, raising bumps. "Why—why yes, Morgan," she answered. "I'm not doing anything at all Monday night."

She thought, "Maybe he's going out of town on business." But his next words corrected that.

"The Elwells have a visitor," he said, still not looking at her. "Eve's been announced. Kate wore Morgan' fraternity pin in lieu of a ring, and she'd given up all her other beaus for him. This, to a southern girl reared in southern traditions, was the public mark of surrender.

With an effort, Kate smiled at Morgan. "Well," she said, "when the college girls come home for vacation it livens up the old town considerably. This girl goes to Sweet Briar with Eve, doesn't she?"

Morgan nodded. "Name's Barbara Lodge. From St. Paul. Quite a looker. She and Eve got in just about an hour ago. Eve was showing her the town before they went home to unpack."

"I guess they were in stitches over our rustic Main street," Kate remarked, with quick and thrusting intuition. "Eve always acts as if Shelby convulses her when she's showing it to a visitor."

"Well," said Morgan defensively, "Eve's been around, you know. The new postoffice couldn't possibly look as big to her as it does to the rest of us."

Kate finished her drink and looked at her watch. She had no need for hurry but she suddenly longed to be dashing off to some important appointment, leaving Morgan impressed and curious. However, she could think of nothing interesting to call her away. No civic enterprise needed her. No young men were pining for a sight of her. She had, a year ago at least, let them know that she was interested only in Morgan Prentiss. She had burned her bridges. Morgan, strange to say, seemed not quite to have burned his.

"Well," she said, rising, hating the prosaic excuse, "I must go back and finish my shopping."

"How's Caroline?" he asked, walking to the door beside her. His polite, impersonal tone made her think suddenly, "He doesn't care a darn how Caroline is. He's just breaking off our conversation."

She answered primly, "Caroline's fine, thank you. Goodby and thanks for the little get-together. I hope I haven't wasted too much of your time."

"Stuff and nonsense!" he retorted quickly. "As if I could use my time any better than being with you!"

His eyes caressed her in the old way, and her heart lifted again. She thought, "He's just the same, of course. I mustn't be possessive. He's got to be agreeable to Eve on account of their fathers."

"Don't forget Monday night," he reminded her.

"Oh, no, I won't!" she replied eagerly. Too eagerly? She wondered later as she started the car for home.

Over in the public square she saw a familiar old bay horse hitched to a familiar phaeton. "Gran'dad's in town," she murmured in faint surprise. But the significance of the conveyance did not reach her. She was too deeply engrossed with thoughts of Morgan Prentiss.

Parent-Teacher Associations Active During Past Week

November Message Received By Groups

Work Is Termed 'Greatest Folk Movement In Centuries'; Many Units Convene

"Love thy neighbor as thyself" is the November message of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, just broadcast to the members throughout the country.

Parent-teacher work is termed "the greatest folk movement in centuries." According to the national president of this mighty congress, "We shall fail to keep faith with the responsibility of our stewardship, unless we unite with open minds to meet the realities and possibilities of our day.

"In the past it was the danger of the common enemy that united people to work for a great cause. Today, the common enemy is ignorance."

Neville P.-T. A. Committee Meets

That the primary objective of the Parent-Teacher association is the welfare of the child rather than the attainment of a standard or superior association was stressed at the meeting of the executive committee of the Neville High school P.-T. A., which met at the school Monday afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, president of the organization, outlined the duties of the chairmen of the standing committees and plans were discussed relative to the business and program to be pursued this year.

Among the projects contemplated by the association for the month of November are the serving of a luncheon during the teachers' convention, to be held November 19, 20 and 21, and assisting C. S. Gaushell in securing uniforms for the members of the high school band.

All members of the executive committee were present at this time, including Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, president; Mrs. David I. Garrett, first vice-president; Mrs. D. C. Shattuck, second vice-president; Mrs. Louis Masur, secretary; Mrs. William Mintz, treasurer; Mrs. E. G. Waring, chairman of the hospitality committee; Mrs. C. Dickard, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Nell Grigsby, chairman of the publicity committee and parliamentarian; Mrs. P. A. Poag, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone and Mr. C. S. Gaushell.

The next meeting of the association will be held Monday afternoon, November 9, at 3:30 p.m., at the school.

P.-T. A. Council Sponsors Course

At its regular meeting Thursday at the Ouachita parish courthouse, the Twin City Parent-Teacher council decided to sponsor a Louisiana State university extension division course, "Understanding and Training the Child." It will be taught by Dr. Carolyn Tiebout.

Dr. Tiebout will come to Monroe November 21 and speak at 10 a.m. before a joint meeting of all P.-T. A. units and women's clubs of this city and West Monroe.

Reports on the recent tag day for underprivileged children here and on fifth district P.-T. A. meeting in Friday were given.

Mrs. E. P. Cudd, president of the council, urged that all of the local P.-T. A. units lend their aid in making the Louisiana Teachers' convention here November 19-21 a success.

The extension course the council voted to sponsor will consist of nine lectures and will be open to parents and others who are interested in the behavior, growth and training of children.

CHAPTER I

The men on the street of the little town of Shelby winked at each other when they saw Major Meed hitching his horse and phaeton in the public square.

"The old man's going to get lit!" one prophesied.

"Then come on in here," he urged. They were standing before a drug store. Retaining one of her elbows, he piloted her through the door, past the marble counter with its clustered imbibers and led her to the farthest table in the rear.

Kate said, a little breathless, "You

Kate's gaze, honest and eager and very much in love, rested on him.

"Yes, the Major's depending on old Dobbin to get him home tonight!"

Ordinarily Major Meed drove an ancient coupe, sitting erectly behind the steering wheel, his snow-white mustache and well-combed goatee proclaiming him, with almost bromidic picturesqueness, a gentleman of the old school. His blue eyes would twinkle and his leathery, tanned cheeks would crease in pleasant wrinkles as he called greetings to friends along the street.

"'Day, Judge!" he'd quaver in his sweetly husky voice. "Mighty good fishin' weather we're havin'!" . . . "Howdy there, Jim Scott! How's your sick bird dog?" . . . He drove slowly and listened attentively to the answers.

To ladies he was always especially courteous, their ages mattering not at all. Though he appreciated the fresh loveliness of the younger set, he was just as gallant in greeting Miss Cassie Drew, whose beauty had withered 40 years ago in the little notion shop where she spent her days. Every woman, young or old, somehow felt herself to be prettier, more charming and interesting after Major Meed had bowed to her and inquired solicitously about her health.

But when, as today, he drove the five miles to town seated in the old phaeton behind his small bay horse, he greeted no one. He was sad and downcast, thinking of his failures. He was about to get drunk.

Katherine Meed, the Major's 21-year-old granddaughter, was also in town today. Unaware of her grandfather's whereabouts she had driven in in the family sedan and had stopped at a grocery store on Center street to do some marketing.

Coming out of the store, Katherine stood on the sidewalk, looking up at the threatening sky, holding out an experimental hand to feel for raindrops. Her brown suit was two years old but she wore it superbly, her lithe, well-built body giving it flair and distinction. A green felt hat, smart in its ageless way, was pulled over her hair. From beneath it her bronze-brown curls escaped, giving an effect of carelessness and childish disorder. Her bronze eyes matched her hair. "Exactly," someone once said, "as if cut from the same piece of silk." The girl's eyebrows were arched but unplucked. When her wide lips parted in their quick, warm smile you saw that her teeth were brilliantly white, but not entirely even. There was about her something magnetic and natural and boyish. Something eager and intense. People called her Kate.

"Just a passing shower," she said with a smile to the little grocery clerk who was carrying out her bags to her car. "Did my sister remember to write down cream of tartar, Henry?"

"Yes, Miss Kate," he answered. "But Miss Caroline forgot to say whether she wanted light brown or dark brown sugar, so I put in a pound of each."

"Smart boy," Kate said. "I'm going to the drug store now. Close the car window when you're through, please."

She dashed up the street in the now briskly falling rain, her head ducked to miss the stinging drops.

She felt someone seize her arms and shake her sharply. She had run pell-mell into a handsome, black-haired young man of about 25. While he pinned her elbows to her sides he laughed down at her. "In a hurry?" he asked.

"Morgan!" Kate exclaimed, and blushed with excitement and happiness. She had been thinking of him steadily for almost an hour, wondering if she would encounter him somewhere in town. He was, in a way, her fiance. In the parlance of the small southern town, he had "rushed" her for several years, and one night at a dance last June he had proposed to her and she had accepted.

"Why, no, I'm not exactly in a hurry," she told him. "I could be persuaded to waste a little time, if that's what you mean."

been announced. Kate wore Morgan's fraternity pin in lieu of a ring, and she'd given up all her other beaus for him. This, to a southern girl reared in southern traditions, was the public mark of surrender.

Morgan Prentiss smiled. "What do you want to drink, honey?"

She told him a limeade, and he instructed the waiter to "make it two." She thought, "He's going to ask to come out tonight. I'll ask him for dinner. I'll hurry dome and make a cake." Now! SCIENCE PROVES THAT BREAD, ITSELF Is not fattening

TUNE IN! "THE BAKERS' BROADCAST" starring ROBERT L. RIPLEY Every Sunday at 6:30 P. M.—N. B. C.

If you've been under the impression that Bread is a fattening food consider what science has recently discovered.

Leading doctors and nutritionists, in a series of laboratory tests, have found that Bread, itself, is not fattening. In one test, a large group of women were given the same amounts of the same foods, and one-half of all the food they ate was White Bread. The women of normal weight neither gained nor lost. The overweight women lost weight!

People can reduce with more safety if they eat Bread, because Bread helps to burn up body fat, protects the body from acidosis, and supplies energy for being active.

Let science be your guide when it comes to eating Bread. And science has proved that Bread is the best and cheapest food we have for pep and energy!

Mrs. Anna Ransdell Cox, assisting in the dining room, was regal in red velvet with shoulder corsage and pumps of silver. Miss Emilie Keene, assisting Mrs. Cox, wore black lace with old rose velvet bows at the front of the waist, centered by circles of rhinestone. Friends long intimate with the Ransdell family and following with interest the judge's career throughout the years called during the afternoon to express congratulations and wishes for many more years of marital happiness.

Now! SCIENCE PROVES THAT BREAD, ITSELF Is not fattening

TUNE IN! "THE BAKERS' BROADCAST" starring ROBERT L. RIPLEY Every Sunday at 6:30 P. M.—N. B. C.

If you've been under the impression that Bread is a fattening food, consider what science has recently discovered.

Leading doctors and nutritionists, in a series of laboratory tests, have found that Bread, itself, is not fattening. In one test, a large group of women were given the same amounts of the same foods, and one-half of all the food they ate was White Bread. The women of normal weight neither gained nor lost. The overweight women lost weight!

People can reduce with more safety if they eat Bread, because Bread helps to burn up body fat, protects the body from acidosis, and supplies energy for being active.

Let science be your guide when it comes to eating Bread. And science has proved that Bread is the best and cheapest food we have for pep and energy!

Great Cast In 'Road To Glory' At Paramount Today

Scene from Max Reinhardt's production "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Monday and Tuesday at the Paramount.

Simon Simone in "Girl's Dormitory," the Capitol feature for Thursday.

War Drama Theme Of New Picture

March, Baxter, Barrymore Top Cast In Spectacular Film Triumph

THE great love drama of the great war, "The Road to Glory," Twentieth Century-Fox production, opened at the Paramount theater yesterday and revealed itself as one of the outstanding cinema achievements of the year.

Painted against a background of the seething kaliedoscope of battle, no man's land, and war-torn France, the film depicts love in all its phases.

Love of heart-starved fighting men; love of women who can only wait; love of a soldier father and hero son; love of a cause they all must serve; love of what our world calls glory.

Vibrantly enacted by an impressive cast including Fredric March, Warner Baxter, Lionel Barrymore, June Lang and Gregory Ratoff, the film tells a robust, dramatic story, and maintains an intense suspense from beginning to end.

Baxter is seen as the hardbitten commander of a war-torn sector, whose only relief from the din of war is found in the arms of Monique, a petite French nurse.

Baxter's chief aide, Fredric March, rescues Monique from an air raid, and debonairly commences to make love to her, unaware of the fact that Baxter loves the girl.

Lionel Barrymore, Baxter's father, a heroic veteran of war, comes to the front in a group of replacements. Baxter is astonished to find his father at the front, for the old man is well over the age limit.

Despite Barrymore's pleading, Baxter orders him evacuated for he well knows that if one man falters or errs in his duty, the entire company may be wiped out.

Barrymore is not so easily discouraged, however, and bribes Gregory Ratoff, a sergeant, to destroy the order when it comes through. When the company moves towards the front, Barrymore is in the ranks.

From this stirring foundation, the picture moves swiftly through a succession of episodes, each of which finds the dramatic intensity mounting ever higher. The conclusion, shiny with heroism and tears, is a fitting climax to an outstanding film.

You don't "see" "The Road to Glory"—you live it. All the strangeness of this drama, the might of its emotion, the fire of its stars, gets you, deep down inside.

Praise must be bestowed upon the battle scenes. No expense was evidently spared in bringing them to the screen for they are the most elaborate, realistic and thrilling ever filmed.

March contributes an exceptional performance, both in the dramatic moments and the light-hearted scenes in which he romances with Monique. Baxter, as the war-weary captain, is a revelation, while Barrymore's portrayal is one of the most convincing characterizations ever immortalized on the screen.

June Lang, a virtual newcomer, has her first big chance as Monique, and, if her performance is any criterion, she will soon be among Hollywood's leading feminine stars. Gregory Ratoff's delineation of the sergeant who goes on laughing to the last, is one of the voluble Russian's outstanding cinema contributions.

Darryl F. Zanuck selected Howard Hawks to direct "The Road to Glory," and his deft touches further enhance the greatness of the film. Nunnally Johnson was associate producer.

RADIO INTERFERENCE CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

BASTROP, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—A drive to eliminate local interference in radio reception was inaugurated here this week by the Kiwanis club. The Louisiana Power and Light company and the town of Bastrop will cooperate in locating the source of interference and removing the cause.

Arthur McMeans, W. B. Limerick, Jr., and H. E. Alexander were appointed at a Kiwanis meeting to confer with the power and light company officials, electricians and radio experts in regard to the matter.

Bastrop radio owners have complained of interference locally and many report that most of it occurred in the day hours. Certain type motors, leaking transformers, and electrical appliances not properly grounded are responsible in many cases, it was stated.

A number of local electricians have endorsed the movement and volunteered to aid in the investigation. It is believed that the source of interference may be found in the business district. In all cases the trouble may be removed with little cost.

Fredric March as he appears in the different ages of "Anthony Adverse," the Capitol feature for Monday and Tuesday.

Nova Pilbeam stars in the G-B production, "Nine Days a Qheen," at the Paramount Thursday.

William Gargon and Marguerite Churchill in "Alibi for Murder," at the Capitol Friday.

Karloff Is Star Of New Thrill Film

'The Man Who Lived Again,' With Big Cast, Plays At Capitol

BORIS Karloff delves into the mysteries of the human mind and solves the riddle of eternal youth in "The Man Who Lived Again," the GB picture playing today at the Capitol theater with Anna Lee, John Loder, Frank Cellier and Lynn Harding featured in support.

Robert Stevenson, the young man who acquitted himself brilliantly with his first directorial assignment, "Nine Days a Queen," directed "The Man Who Lived Again," thereby demonstrating his versatility as a director, for this Karloff story is as modern as tomorrow and utterly startling in its theme.

Karloff plays a famous doctor before whom the entire scientific world bowed until he started talking about transferring the mind, which he called the thought-content of the brain, from one body to another. He was driven out of Genoa for his crazy ideas, and in London they laughed and hooted so loudly that they drove him mad . . . and drove him to doing terrible things to human beings to prove to them that he was sane . . . that he had accomplished miracles beyond the ambitions of man.

A beautiful young girl doctor is Karloff's assistant in his scientific experiments. She sees him exchange the minds in the bodies of two chimpanzees, and when, in his madness, he desires her and tells her that he can transfer his brilliant mind from his bent old body to the young and vigorous body of the youth she loves she knows that he really can do this terrible thing.

And he actually does do it, first killing the father of the girl's sweetheart, leaving a trail of evidence that will inevitably convict Karloff of the killing, but by the time he is arrested for the murder, it will be the boy's mind in his body.

The way out of this terrible situation brings the story of "The Man Who Lived Again" to a suspenseful climax. L. du Garde Peach, Sidney Gilliat and John Balderston wrote the screen play especially for the peculiar talents of Boris Karloff. Anna Lee's smart costumes were by Molyneux, the famous Parisian designer.

"The Man Who Lived Again" promises all the thrills and suspense that characterize a Karloff picture. The star required no weird make-up for the role. The grotesque exists only in the mind and the achievements of this brilliant scientist whose madness finally drives him to kill for love.

GILL BROTHERS HOLDING REUNION

RUSTON, La., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Three of four Gill brothers, all of whom graduated from the mechanical engineering department of Louisiana Tech from 18 to 26 years ago, are visiting relatives in Ruston together for the first time in several years.

The reunion would be complete but for the absence of David P. Gill, who is chief accountant for the American-Oriental bank in Tientsin, China, where he supervises 65 Chinese accountants. He graduated from Tech in 1916, and finds the "exacting features of his mechanical engineering course at Tech" to be valuable in the "buying and selling of money in China," according to Dean Frank Bogard of the school of engineering here.

The three brothers visiting in their home town are as follows:

Jim Gill, who graduated from Tech in 1910, and is an architectural engineer in Buffalo, N. Y.; Lane Gill, a Tech alumnus of 1911, now employed by the Oxweld Railway Acetylene company of Chicago; and Dennis P. Gill, Tech graduate of 1918, at present assistant manager of the merchandising division of the Western Electric company at Kearney, N. J.

They are visiting principally at the home of their sister, Miss Frankie Gill of Ruston. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gill, are deceased. Their father was formerly mayor of Ruston.

MANY SCHOOLS USE FHA PLAN

Buildings Repaired And Improved With Modernization Credit

WASHINGTON, D. C.—As the fall terms get under way numerous small schools and colleges throughout the United States which do not have sufficient endowments to keep their buildings in repair are finding advantages in the modernization credit plan of the federal housing administration.

Through the first six months of 1936, from the beginning of the program, 454 schools have obtained nearly half a million dollars to make improvements to their buildings or to purchase and install necessary equipment.

The federal housing administration lends no money, but insures private financial institutions against loss on their modernization loans. Schools and other institutions may obtain up to a maximum of $50,000 for the repair, addition, alteration or improvements to each property.

HAND RAILS AT STAIRS MAY PREVENT INJURY

All stairs should have handrails. Too often with stairs that descend between walls the hand rail is omitted. If such is the case in your house, you had better install one before someone falls and breaks a leg. Such improvements can be made with funds obtained under the modernization credit plan of the federal housing administration.

ROME BUILDING

Pay increases for 2,800 textile-mill workers is not the only good news in Rome, Ga., this week, according to the Atlanta Journal. The Rome fire department, which also handles the building permits, reports "a steady increase in building activities for 1936, with indications the year will break all records." The nine-month total for 1936, according to Chief Clerk Roy Underwood, amounts to $318,651. This is the first time since 1930 that building permits in Rome have exceeded $300,000.

SAGINAW, TOO

September was the best home-building month of the year thus far in Saginaw, Mich., according to a report published in the Saginaw News. During September permits were granted for 25 new residences involving an estimated total of $73,500. The News reports that September's total accounts for 25 per cent of the entire 1936 total. The previous high month was July, when 21 homes were built.

Can Be Built For $2,100

House "D", shown here as in the Federal Housing Administration Technical Bulletin No. 4, has the same accommodations as House "C", but with a different arrangement. It is particularly suitable where the rear of the lot lends itself to garden development. The living room faces the rear and the service entrance is on the side, so that there will be no interference with the privacy of this developed area. Both bedrooms, too, look out on the garden as well as to the sides. In the cellarless plan, the work to be done in the kitchen is only the preparation of the meals and the subsequent cleaning up; the laundry work is relegated to the utility room. The plan with the cellar gains a dining space, but concentrates all the work in the kitchen area.

The second floor offers two good-sized and well-shaped bedrooms with excellent wall spaces and ample closets. The hall is reduced to a minimum so there is no waste space.

The elevation is of the simple farm-house type with no attempt at ornamentation. Its straightforward honesty gives it a dignity and charm that please the eye.

Hot Water Tank Can Be Heated At Night With Ample Storage Tank

If you are considering an automatic domestic hot-water heater for a new home or for modernization of your present home, and have given thought to an electric hot-water heater, discuss with your local power company the possibility of what is known as an "off peakload rate." This rate is often arranged by power companies at a very low figure to induce consumers to use current in the late night and early morning hours, when normally the demand for current is light and thus their generating equipment is kept operating more uniformly.

If the local power company will give such a rate, the purchaser of an electric hot-water heater to be used under these conditions should be sure that the storage tank is of ample capacity to serve the family through the afternoon and evening and that the tank and the hotwater pipes are thoroughly insulated wherever possible.

Thus while the heating element of the hot-water heater is on during the late night and early morning, controlled by a timing device, a full tank of water is heated for use during the day.

This system for heating hot water is proving popular because of its cleanliness and its economy.

Automobile Must Have Proper Protection From Winter Cold

Now that winter approaches with its icy blasts chilling the blood in the veins and freezing the water in the radiator, it would be well to consider where the car purchased last spring can be housed.

It was all right to let it stand at the curb during the summer, but when cold weather comes the average business man who makes no allowances for unusual circumstances in his early morning rush for his office may find to his dismay that his car is buried deep in a snow drift and that he has to leave it for later excavation while he takes the bus.

A garage, either attached to the house or entirely separate, would obviate such a possibility and add considerably to the comfort and longevity of the car. Such a garage can be built for a remarkably low cost, and cold weather offers no obstacles to its erection. Such work can frequently be done in winter at a lower cost than if contracted for in the spring or summer, as the seasonal decline in building activities brings lower prices in materials and labor and makes contractors more content with smaller profits.

Proportions Of Room Aided By Decoration

If the proportions of a room are bad they can frequently be helped by proper decorations. For instance if the ceiling seems too high, the addition of horizontal lines will seem to bring it down. A chair rail or picture moulding will help considerably.

NEED MORE HOMES

The Des Moines Register reports that despite a 71 per cent increase in home building this year the housing shortage continues. Its report is based on a survey conducted in 74 cities by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company. In 58 of the cities, the Register reports, rents are increasing, with the advances ranging from 1½ to 30 per cent. Of four Iowa cities in the survey, Waterloo and Davenport report that residential building in 1936 is twice the volume for the comparable period in 1935.

BAROMETER

Records of the city water department at Madison, Wis., provide an accurate measure of the current building movement in Madison, according to the Wisconsin State Journal. Up to October 1, 286 permits were issued for new services, while for the same period in 1935 only 167 permits were issued.

HINGED SCREEN-LIKE DOORS SAVE SPACE

Frequently in order to swing the door in a small bathroom the fixtures have to be crowded into uncomfortable proximity. In such cases a door divided into two leaves and hinged like a screen so that it folds on itself will relieve the congestion.

Questions And Answers

Q. We have a little store at a beach resort and it is difficult to lock the store up, as the whole front is opened. Can you sugest something to help us out? We would prefer something that can be seen through.

A. Shutters with wire-glass sections that could be locked with a padlock would be one possibility. Another way, if it is not necessary to exclude the air, is to install a heavy rolling grille.

Q. We want to put down new linoleum in our kitchen and would like to know how to fasten it down at the doorway so it won't stick up and trip you.

A. Use a brass strip. There are strips available for just that purpose.

Q. We have had trouble with the glass coming out of our back door. Two or three times when the door has closed hard a pane has fallen out. Can you tell me some kind of putty that will be strong enough to hold the glass?

A. The glass should be held in place by wood beads and not by putty. These can be obtained at any lumber mill. Put a thin layer of putty on the glass to seal the joint when placing it in the frame.

Q. The roof of my house is covered with composition shingles and they are beginning to curl up. Someone told me if I paint them they will last a long time.

A. Any type of shingle gives out in time, and it sounds, from your description, as though yours have reached the stage where replacement is necessary. We doubt if painting them would be worth while.

Q. I have a hot-water heating system in my house, and unless the furnace is going full tilt I get no heat in my third floor radiators. Can you suggest what the trouble might be?

A. Your system is doubtless one in which pressure valves are used instead of an expansion tank. Such valves are usually set at the factory to take care of two-story houses. Where they are installed in three-story houses they should be adjusted to suit. Otherwise when the pressure is low there is no water in third-floor radiators at all.

Q. I want to build a house and my friends tell me not to start in winter, as plaster will freeze and the frame swell from the dampness. Is this true?

A. A good contractor with skilled workmen can take precautions that will reduce these possibilities to a minimum. Good labor at regular wages is more plentiful in winter and contractors are anxious to keep their organizations busy, so you are just as apt to get a good house at a reasonable price in winter as in summer.

Q. Our kitchen is terribly drafty; the wind seems to come right through the walls. The inside is made of beaded boards, and the outside is clapboards. Is there some inexpensive way of stopping this draft?

A. There are many kinds of wall boards, some plain and some in imitation tiles, that you can line the inside wall with, that will shut out the draft. Be sure you use a board that is reasonably water-resistant and that is either already enameled or will take a paint finish. A high gloss enamel should be used as a finishing coat.

Q. We built a garage this summer but did not put in any driveway. I am afraid it will be muddy this winter. Is it too late to put in a concrete drive?

A. No; concrete can be laid right through the winter. Keep the ingredients warm before mixing and protect it after it is placed, and try to select days when the temperature is above freezing to place it.

Q. What is the best way to finish a porch floor?

A. I presume it is a wooden floor you are asking about, and if it is, I should say paint is the most practical finish. Use a good deck paint and put it on in two or three fairly thin coats, and be sure each coat dries thoroughly before you add the next. You may wax the finished floor after painting if you wish, and this will help preserve the surface, but it is rather slippery and must be renewed occasionally.

PAINT'S RECORD

The United States department of labor reports that the employment index in the paint, varnish and lacquer manufacturing industry is 112.9 per cent for July, 1936, which is an increase of 4 per cent over the same months a year ago. The payroll index is 100.4 per cent, or an increase of 12.9 per cent over July, 1935.

Dining rooms that need redecorating may be done in this fashion, when an exceptional room is desired. Funds for modernizing and redecorating may be obtained from a private financial institution which holds a contract of insurance with the Federal Housing Administration.

Change Of Floor Level Must Be Justified; Effect Insufficient

Going up or down a few steps on entering a room has a distinct appeal to many people, and there is no doubt of its attractiveness. There should be a real reason for it however, to justify the change in level. For instance, when there are several rooms with low ceilings and a large room is added the low ceiling might be out of scale with the other dimensions of the room. It is then not only justifiable but good practice to drop the floor to give the added height necessary to bring the room to proper proportions. Too frequently, however, in their eagerness to get the desired effect builders will arbitrarily depress the floor of one room whether it throws the room out of scale or not.

Another place where steps are appropriate is in a house built on a hillside. Here it makes a nicer effect to have the house follow the slope of the hill. Such a house is far more attractive both inside and out than one on a single level that must necessarily rise far above the grade on the low side of the hill.

In changing levels it must be remembered that one step is always dangerous. At least two steps should be used. People will frequently stumble over one step or fall going down, as the difference in level is not always sufficiently marked to attract attention.

QUIET STUDY ROOM IMPROVES GRADES

Parents who are disturbed by the low school reports of their children might look with advantage into the "home-work environment." If a child attempts to study in the same room with his elders, he is too apt to be interested by their conversation or occupation for successful results.

If the radio is turned on, it is impossible for him to concentrate sufficiently on his work, and the ringing of the telephone or door bells add to the distraction. A child needs a special place, preferably outside his sleeping room, for study. Quiet is essential. A convenient place for books, writing or drawing is needed and in a room where there are as few distractions as possible.

Neutral wall tints, few pieces of furniture, freedom from outside noises and, above all, adequate light, both natural and artificial, all contribute to peace of mind that is necessary for satisfactory study and potential high marks.

In some homes it is possible to arrange for a desirable study in the attic. The basement where oil or gas is used for fuel also afford an excellent place for a desk and all the accessories for undisturbed work. Sometimes a porch may be altered to suit this need. Funds for this work may be obtained under the modernization credit plan of the federal housing administration.

There are frequently outside causes and extenuating circumstances that are responsible for low marks, and perhaps some parents, not realizing the handicaps under which their children study at home, should share the blame.

Bank Anxious For Insured Mortgages

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—J. D. Emmons, vice-president of the American Trust company here, has announced that his institution would make all home-mortgage loans possible when insured by the federal housing administration. He said that the mortgage clinic conducted there recently had stimulated business and that his bank is more than satisfied with the results.

METAL STRIPS

Metal weatherstrips placed on windows and doors will do a lot toward cutting down the fuel bill and making the room more livable.

FHA INSURES

The federal housing administration lends no money. It insures loans made by private institutions operating under provisions of the national housing act.

Small Pumps Help Sluggish Water Heaters

For sluggish hot-water heating systems that are inadequate on very cold days, or that have some stubborn radiators which just won't heat, or that take a half day to warm the house, there is now a remedy—and a very simple one, considering the numerous ailments that it will overcome.

This simple remedy consists of a small, quiet, motor-driven pump. These small pumps are obtainable from several manufacturers and are easily installed in the main lines from or to the boiler. They are so arranged that they can be controlled by a thermostat or by a hand switch. An added feature is the fact that the pump is of a type that does not retard the flow of water when not in operation.

The fact that the pump creates forced circulation of the heated water insures proper and more rapid distribution to all radiators. A further advantage in new installations is that often pipe and radiator sizes may be reduced, thereby effecting economies that will often pay for the circulating pump.

CANADIAN COMPANY WANTS FHA MANUAL

TORONTO, Canada—The North American Life Assurance company is compiling information regarding new methods of appraisals and valuations of real property. It has requested a copy of the federal housing administration's underwriters' manual, following the recommendations of its system by Architectural Forum.

CLARE, MICH., SITUATION

The city council and a group of civic organizations are deeply concerned with the housing shortage at Clare, Mich., near Saginaw, according to a report in the Saginaw (Mich.) News. The increase in the population during the past three years, the News reports, has taxed the city's housing accommodations, and builders have not been able to erect sufficient dwelling units to meet the current demand.

SMOOTH FLOORS

Hardwood flooring boards can be bought with tongue connections on the ends as well as on the sides. This insures a smooth floor and eliminates the possibility of boards rising through warpage.

This simple remedy consists of a small, quiet, motor-driven pump. These small pumps are obtainable from several manufacturers and are easily installed in the main lines from or to the boiler. They are so arranged that they can be controlled by a thermostat or by a hand switch. An added feature is the fact that the pump is of a type that does not retard the flow of water when not in operation.

The fact that the pump creates forced circulation of the heated water insures proper and more rapid distribution to all radiators. A further advantage in new installations is that often pipe and radiator sizes may be reduced, thereby effecting economies that will often pay for the circulating pump.

It has requested a copy of the federal housing administration's underwriters' manual, following the recommendations of its system by Architectural Forum.

CLARE, MICH., SITUATION

The city council and a group of civic organizations are deeply concerned with the housing shortage at Clare, Mich., near Saginaw, according to a report in the Saginaw (Mich.) News. The increase in the population during the past three years, the News reports, has taxed the city's housing accommodations, and builders have not been able to erect sufficient dwelling units to meet the current demand.

SMOOTH FLOORS

Hardwood flooring boards can be bought with tongue connections on the ends as well as on the sides. This insures a smooth floor and eliminates the possibility of boards rising through warpage.

ST. JOSEPH WILL GET WATER PLANT

Filtration System To Be Installed With PWA Funds

Bids will be opened in the office of Mayor G. Baker, in St. Joseph, November 17, at 7:30 p.m., for the construction of a filtration plant. A number of Monroe contractors are submitting bids for the project which will be financed through a PWA loan of $6.700. A. O. Evans, division manager of the Louisiana Power and Light company of Monroe, will be the consulting engineer in general charge of the construction work.

The plant as proposed will have a total capacity of 200,000 gallons of water daily and will be of the latest model of gravity filtration with pressure water softening process.

The water supply at St. Joseph, derived from an artesian well, possesses a large percentage of iron which will be removed by the softening process.

Construction will be initiated as soon as bids are opened and contract awarded, Mr. Evans said.

Another public project of interest in this area is that of the waterworks system for Bernice for which a federal grant of $49.000 has been approved. The contract will be awarded in a few days time, it was stated Saturday.

Gly-Cas Gave Her Complete Recovery; All Else Failed

Mrs. Atkins Endured Terrific Headaches For Years, Had Indigestion Until She Was Afraid To Eat; Gly-Cas' Action Amazes.

If there are any men or women of Monroe and vicinity who still have any doubt whatever of the merit of this new Gly-Cas they should talk with Mrs. G. C. Atkins, 404 South Third street, Monroe, a highly respected housewife of this community.

MRS. G. C. ATKINS

Read what she said recently lauding the action of this new vegetable medical discovery in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, this city:

"Gly-Cas wasted no time in eliminating the poisons from my system and putting me on the road to complete recovery," said Mrs. Atkins. "For a long time I had suffered terrifically with severe headaches, neuralgia and attacks of indigestion. I was really afraid to eat knowing the discomfort and misery it would be sure to cause me afterwards. For my meals always were followed by these awful attacks. I became very high strung, nervous and found it difficult to get any rest at night. As time went on I grew worse, seemed to lose what little energy I had and felt so miserable I lost all interest in everything it seemed. As seemingly everything failed in my case I became discouraged and it was not until I was persuaded to try this new Gly-Cas that I found how wonderful a really good medicine could be."

"The cost of Gly-Cas was so little and I had so much to gain through its use I felt as if I had everything to gain and nothing to lose," continued Mrs. Atkins. "From the very first this new Gly-Cas showed me wonderful results. Those dreadful headaches have been relieved now, stomach again functioning properly and even those awful neuralgia pains have been taken from my body. Little did I realize any medicine could give such amazing results and I think every sufferer should learn of this new remedy for it is the first medicine I have ever found that did not disappoint me with its results."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard street, Monroe, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns. (Adv.)

Eighteen Permits To Drill Issued During Week By State Department

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The minerals division of the Louisiana department of conservation announced today the completion of eight new oil gushers and issuance of eighteen new permits for drilling operations in Louisiana during the past week.

The department said that 846 oil and gas wells have been completed in Louisiana thus far in 1936. However, some of these completions proved to be dry holes, officials explained. Of the completions 539 were in north Louisiana and 307 in south Louisiana. The greatest number of oil well completions in a single field is that of the Rodessa in Caddo parish. More than 314 completions have been recorded in the rich pool since it was opened.

Some of the deepest drilling operations in the world are being executed at Rodessa, officials said. R. W. Norton, who opened the Rodessa as an oil field, is making preparations to test the lower levels of the field.

The original discoverer of oil at Rodessa is making the test approximately a mile south of the Rodessa townsite. This well is scheduled for a 10,000-foot test, but may be bored deeper if conditions justify. On the Louisiana side of the field earlier in the week, 28 drilling rigs were being operated.

With the exception of a completion in the Iberia field in Iberia parish by William Helis, all other completions reported to the conservation department during the week ended Friday were in the Rodessa field. Mr. Helis' new well produced an initial daily production of 388.80 barrels daily through a one-fourth inch choke.

The Rodessa completions follow: W. C. Feazel, 288 barrels; Lion Oil Refining company, 504 barrels; Magnolia Petroleum company, 480 barrels; Phillips Petroleum company, 408 and 1584 barrels, respectively; United Gas Public Service company, 1056 and 648 barrels, respectively.

The following companies were issued one permit for drilling, unless otherwise specified:

Continental Oil company in Acadia parish, two permits; Lide, Brown & Greer in Bienville parish; James G. Collin in Caddo parish; Custer Oil company, Inc., in Caddo; Stanolind Oil & Gas company in Caddo; Fohs Oil company in Calcasieu parish; Union Sulphur company in Calcasieu; Burton Sutton Oil company in Cameron parish; Coastal Minerals Development, Inc., in DeSoto parish, and Jal Drilling company, Inc., in DeSoto parish.

Grant Oil corporation in Grant parish; Standard Oil company of Louisiana and Gulf Refining company (jointly) in Iberville parish; Pan-American Production company in La-Fourche parish; United Carbon company in Ouachita parish; Shell Petroleum corporation in St. Martin parish, and Phil Top Oil and Gas company in St. Mary parish.

BURIED ALIVE

RISKING HIS LIFE FOR HIS FELLOWS, THE VALIANT TARZAN RACED TO SNUFF OUT THE SPUTTERING DYNAMITE FUSE.

SEEING HE WAS TOO LATE, HE DODGED TOWARD A NICHE AS A THUNDEROUS BLAST SHOOK THE EARTH.

TIMBERS CRUMPLED ROCKS SPLINTERED, AND A MASS OF DIRT RAINED OVER THE DARING APE-MAN.

THROUGH DUST AND FUMES HIS COMRADES GROPED FORWARD TO AID HIM, BUT THEIR HERO HAD VANISHED!

"HE'S DEAD," THEY GASPED, "AND WE'RE ENTOMBED--BURIED ALIVE--THE TUNNEL IS SEALED!"

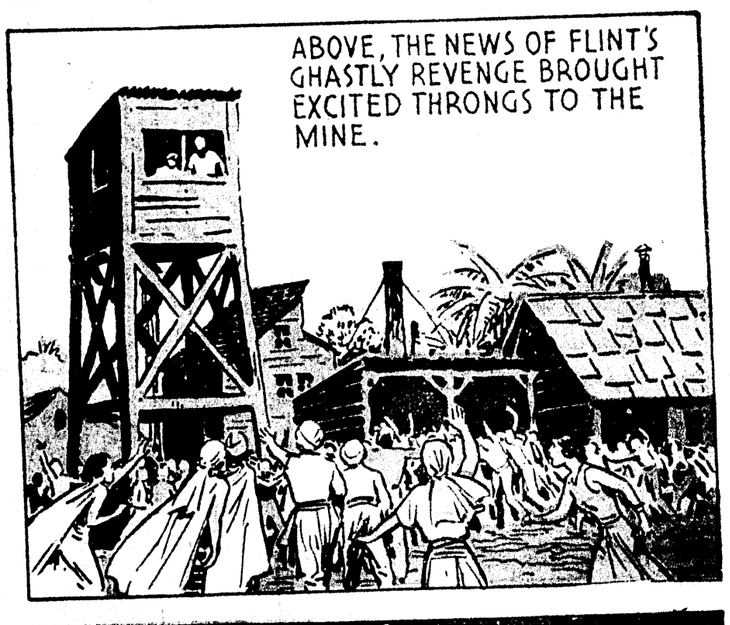

THEN THE FRINGE OF THE DEBRIS TREMBLED, AND TARZAN BROKE THROUGH, BRUISED AND BATTERED.

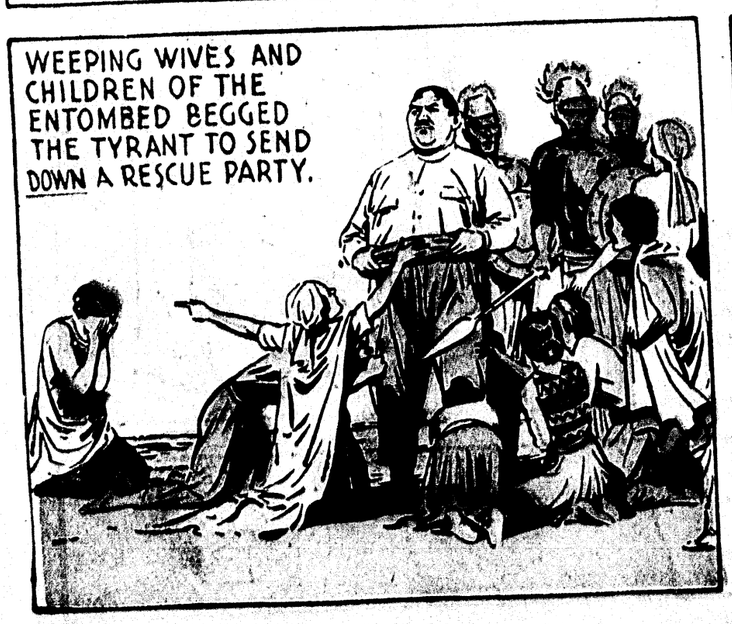

LUCKILY SOME OF THE TIMBERS HAD BECOME WEDGED ABOUT HIM AND SHIELDED HIM FROM THE FORCE OF THE AVALANCHE.

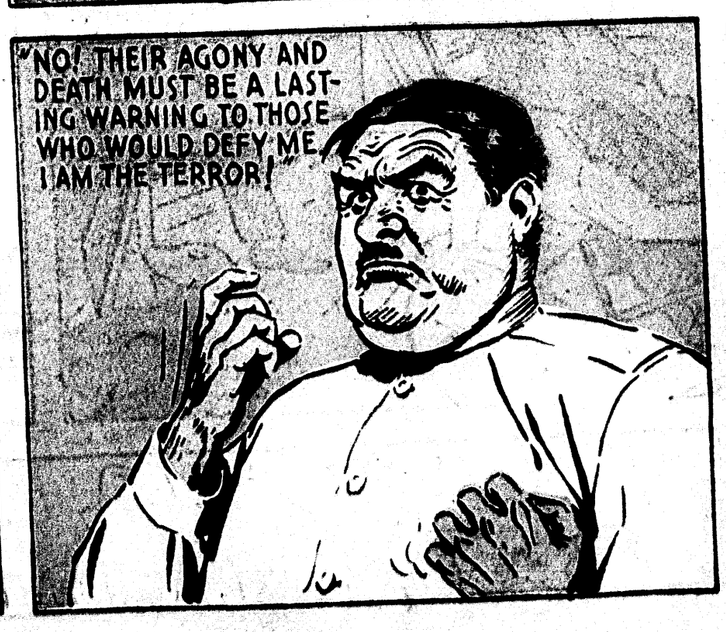

BUT EVEN THE RESURRECTION OF TARZAN GAVE THE PRISONERS LITTLE HOPE. MIGHTY THOUGH HE WAS, WHAT COULD HE DO NOW?

ABOVE, THE NEWS OF FLINT'S GHASTLY REVENGE BROUGHT EXCITED THRONGS TO THE MINE.

WEEPING WIVES AND CHILDREN OF THE ENTOMBED BEGGED THE TYRANT TO SEND DOWN A RESCUE PARTY.

MEANWHILE, ONE OF THE ENTOMBED MADE A TERRIFYING DISCOVERY. "THEY'VE SHUT OFF THE PUMP. THE WATER'S RISING!"

NEXT WEEK: A DANGEROUS WAY!

MAN WHO SAVED MOTHERS FROM DEATH

THROUGH the wards of the great lying-in hospital in Vienna priests walked often, carrying the sacrament to some dying patient, the ominous bell tinkling the toll of death before them. Women abed dreaded the appearance of these tragic messengers. But even more irksome were they to the director of the maternity wards, Dr. Ludwig Ignaz Philipp Semmelweis.

It was the middle of the last century, and Semmelweis was perturbed by the great number of deaths among women who bore children in his wards, and then were stricken by the mysterious puerperal, or childbed, fever. He was determined to seek out the cause and banish it for the security of future mothers. Some of his own colleagues opposed him.

One day a fellow physician died. His finger had been cut by the knife of a medical student. The symptoms were those of puerperal fever. Then Semmelweis discovered that the students, who attended the expectant mothers, still had the blood and germs of diseased cadavers, which they had dissected, on their hands.

He had them clean their hands with a strong antiseptic before they attended the lying-in women, and the death rate declined rapidly.

But Semmelweis was destined to die of the disease he had conquered. In 1865, an injured finger became infected, and puerperal fever took his life. In 1935, Austria issued a stamp which pays tribute to this great scientist.
